NOTICE OF HEARING
BOARD OF ZONING APPEALS
CITY OF THIEF RIVER FALLS

Notice is hereby given, pursuant to Chapter 11 of the Thief River Falls City Code, that Tim and Kristi Numedahl, 1209 Tall Street East, Thief River Falls, MN 56701, have applied for a Variance to the Zoning Regulations governing Interior Side Yard Setbacks for accessory buildings (garage). The property is legally described as Lot 2 in Block Two of Bratrud's Rearrangement.

Granting of the Variance Request would allow the petitioners to expand their existing attached garage on the above described property. The proposed garage addition would have an Interior Side Yard Setback (to the roof overhang) of three feet six inches (3'-6"), at the worst property line, which would be a three foot six inches (3'-6") Variance to the seven foot (7') minimum Interior Side Yard Setback as required by Sec. 11.32, Subd. 5, for the R-2 General Residential District.

Notice is further given that the Board of Zoning Appeals will conduct a Hearing on the Variance Request at 7:00 P.M. (CDST) on Monday, May 24, 1993, in the City Council Chambers of the City Auditorium. All persons wishing to comment on the Variance Request will have the option to be heard at this time. PUBLIC INFORMATIONAL MEETING
PROPOSED RIVERWALK BRIDGE
PLANNING COMMISSION
CITY OF THIEF RIVER FALLS

Notice is hereby given that the City of Thief River Falls has made application for Transportation Enhancement Funds, which are available as part of the Intermodal Surface Transportation Efficiency Act (ISTEA), to assist in funding the construction of a Riverwalk Bridge. The proposed pedestrian-bicycle bridge across the Red Lake River would be located in the northeast part of L.B. Hartz Park and would connect the Park with Columbia Avenue on the east side of the River.

The proposed Riverwalk Bridge, which for safety reasons will be designed for use by pedestrians and bicyclists only, is one of the major uncompleted components of the Riverwalk System. Construction of the Bridge would tie L.B. Hartz Park, which includes the City's Tourist Recreational Vehicle Campground, and Pennington County's Oakland Park on the west side of the Red Lake River into other segments of the Riverwalk System. Riverwalk System users can now reach these parks only by either crossing the River on the dam walkway or from the north end of the First Street Bridge, west to Minnesota Highway 32 and then southerly along the Highway and Riverside Avenue to the northeast entrance of the L.B. Hartz Park. The City would prefer to eliminate public use of the dam walkway for Riverwalk System users and these routes would be deleted from the Riverwalk System Map if the Bridge became a reality.

The preliminary estimated project cost of the Riverwalk Bridge, including construction of the Bridge, landscaping and rip-rapping, engineering and contingencies, is $248,000. The Transportation Enhancement Fund Application has requested federal funding in the amount of $192,200. Local matching funds in the amount of $55,800 would be used to finance the remaining estimated project costs. The local share of the funding, obtained through private donations, is in place and has been set aside for the project.

Copies of this Notice will be mailed to all property owners located within 350 feet of the proposed Riverwalk Bridge. The mailed notice will include additional information on the Bridge and the proposed location.

Notice is further given that the Planning Commission will hold a Public Informational Meeting on the proposed Riverwalk Bridge and the Application for Transportation Enhancement Funds at approximately 7:30 P.M. (CDST), on Monday, May 24, 1993, following Hearings to be conducted by the Planning Commission and Board of Zoning Appeals on other Applications, in the City Council Chambers, City Auditorium. All persons wishing to comment on the proposed project will have the option to be heard at this time. Persons who wish to submit written comments prior to the Informational Meeting, or who have questions, should address them to the Office of the Community Development Director, City Auditorium, P.O. # MDA warns of fraudulent tree sales

The Minnesota Department of Agriculture warns consumers of illegal operators selling trees and shrubs door to door in Minnesota.

According to MDA commissioner Elton Redalen, door to door operators sell trees and shrubs at cut rate prices and many of the trees die once they are replanted.

Many of the trees have been dug from the woods in central Minnesota, said MDA Nursery Inspector Steven Shimek, often without the permission of the landowner.

Unlike nursery grown trees which are inspected by the MDA, regularly cared for and develop a dense root system, wild trees have a spreading root system most of which is left in the ground when they are removed.

With very few roots, the survival rate of these collected plants is very poor. Because of this, any tree "collected from the wild" is required to be labeled as such.

Wild trees and shrubs that have not been inspected are also more likely to harbor harmful insect and disease pests that could spread to other plants, Shimek said.

Each spring, Shimek said, he receives distress calls from homeowners as far away as Omaha and Chicago who have lost money purchasing poor quality trees. Despite the warranty and assurances they were given when they bought those trees, they find the phone has been disconnected and the address does not exist.

Consumers are advised to purchase plant materials only from sources that have been inspected and certified by the MDA. These sources include local nurseries, garden centers or government sources like local soil and water conservation districts.

Diabetes Association announces camp dates

The American Diabetes Association, North Dakota Affiliate, holds two one-week camp sessions for insulin-dependent diabetes.

The camp, Camp Sioux, scheduled its first session for Sunday, August 1 to Saturday, August 7 and its second session from Sunday, August 8 to Saturday, August 14.

Camp Sioux is one of only three camps in the nation offered free of charge to children, ages eight to 14 who have type I (insulin-dependent) diabetes.

The goal of Camp Sioux is to provide a camping opportunity for diabetic children who are often denied the experience of attending other camps due to their need of medical supervision.

Physicians, nurses and dietitions deliver the medical supervision children with type I diabetes require.

For more information on Camp Sioux, contact the American Diabetes Association, North Dakota Affiliate, Inc., P.O. Box 234, Grand Forks, ND 58206-0234 or call toll-free 1-800-666-6709.

Landowners must control noxious weeds

Norman Boucher, Pennington county agricultural inspector, is issuing a general notice in the Thief River Falls Times of May 12, 1993, that all persons must control or eradicate all noxious weeds on land they own, occupy or are required to maintain.

He points out that control or eradication may be accomplished by any lawful method but that the method may need to be repeated in order to prevent spread of weed seeds or other propagating parts to other lands.

Individual notices will be issued when failure to comply is noted. Appeals to the notice must take place within two days of receipt of the notice. If individuals fail to comply with the individual notice, the inspector may hire the work done or seek a misdemeanor charge against the persons who failed to comply.

If the work is hired done by the inspector, the costs will be placed as a tax against the land and collected in the same manner as other real estate taxes.

Similar regulations apply to control of grasshoppers, Boucher said. He has lists of plants considered noxious and lists of townships designated as grasshopper control zones. Boucher's telephone number is 796-5879.

The McCarters, a vocal trio from Tennessee, will be among the free entertainment at the bandshell during the Pennington county fair. They will present their program of vocal harmony, clogging and humor on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, July 23, 24 and 25.

The McCarters at Pennington fair bandshell

Free entertainment at the bandshell has been increasing in popularity at the Pennington county fair and promises to be excellent again this year, according to Floyd Erickson, fair board member who has been handling entertainment booking for the fair.

First bandshell entertainment group to be announced is a trio of Tennessee sisters called simply "The McCarters." Jennifer, Lisa and Teresa grew up in Sevierville, TN—the home town of Dolly Parton—and have appeared on the nationally syndicated "Dolly" show.

The McCarters have also made a European tour with Randy Travis and worked with Merle Haggard, George Jones, Kenny Rogers and others. They record for Warner Brothers Records and have two albums—"The Gift" and "Better Be Home Soon— and half a dozen singles including "Timeless and True Love (which climbed to number five on the country music charts), "The Gift," "Up & Gone," "Quit While I'm Behind," "Better Be Home Soon" and "Shot Full of Love."

The McCarters started their public music appearances by clogging at the ages of seven and five and were "discovered" while clogging on the courthouse steps during a celebration in Pigeon Forge, TN. They incorporate clogging in their show along with humor and vocal harmony.

The McCarters are touring heavily in the United States, Canada and Europe this summer. They will be bandshell performers along with their four-piece band on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, July 23, 24 and 25.

"We will be announcing other bandshell entertainment in the near future," Erickson said. "And we want country music fans to keep in mind that Tanya Tucker will be our headline entertainer Saturday evening, July 24, with shows at 7 and 9 p.m. Tickets will be going on sale soon.

Farmers urged to follow herbicide application guides

Farmers are urged to follow proper herbicide application procedures as they complete early-season field work.

"The potential for spray drift problems increases when farmers don't follow standard application guidelines," said Vern Hofman, North Dakota State University agricultural engineer. "With ground applications, physical drift is the result of application timing and method, not the chemicals used.

"Even low-use-rate products can be sprayed with little risk when coupled with responsible management techniques," Hofman said.

"Following these techniques is an essential step to minimizing spray drift, especially when spraying next to sugar beets and other sensitive crops."

Spraying during favorable weather conditions is an important part of spray drift management. Spring winds common to this region are a primary cause of spray drift, Hofman said. "Wind and gentle breezes can move small spray droplets off target," he said. "Farmers should avoid spraying in winds greater than 10 mph and in gusty conditions. "Hofman also suggests using boffer zones when making applications next to sensitive craps.

The use of shielded sprayers also reduces the potential for wind to disrupt spray patterns. Research conducted by Hofman last season shows that shielded units reduce spray drift by 50 per cent or more in 10 mph winds as compared to unshielded sprayers.

Wind isn't the only climactic factor affecting drift. Hofman advises farmers to check for temperature inversions before spraying. Typified by little or no wind, inversions are comprised of a layer of cool, stagnant air close to the ground with a layer of warmer air above it. Small droplets become suspended in the stagnant air during application and are moved off target by gentle breezes.

"Perfectly calm conditions after a cloud-free night may seem ideal spraying weather, but they may actually signify an inversion," Hofman said. "Calm winds, dew or a light fog or mist can also be indicators of inversions."

"Farmers should also be aware that high temperatures and low humidity increase the potential for drift, and spraying should be avoided under these conditions.

The elimination of small droplets can also reduce the potential of physical drift. Droplets less than 100 microns in diameter may become suspended in air and leave the target area in winds as slow as one to two miles per hour.

To increase droplet size, Hofman recommends using low-pressure and extended-range nozzles to decrease spray pressure and increase volume.

"There are tools and technology available that allows farmers to effectively manage drift," Hofman said. "Remember, statistics prove that physical drift is the result of the timing and method of application, not the chemical itself."

Counties receive SCORE grants

Minnesota's 87 counties received state grants totaling more than $7 million this month to use for waste reduction, waste education, recycling and other programs that limit the amount of garbage going to landfills.

Pennington, Roseau, Red Lake and Marshall counties each received $27,500 in grants.

The Office of Waste Management (OWM) grants represent the final SCORE payment for the fiscal year 1993. Since its creation in 1989, SCORE (developed by the Select Committee on Recycling and the Environment) has distributed more than $48 million to counties.

SCORE funds are appropriated biennially by the state legislature from sales tax on garbage collection and disposal. Counties are required to match 25 per cent of the SCORE grant monies. Typically counties exceed that funding match.

They have used the grants to collect recyclable materials, promote recycling of problem materials, and properly manage household hazardous waste such as paint, household cleaners and lawn chemicals.

Team 2 in the Lincoln high school entry in the state-wide Stock Market Game finished in 51st place among some 730 teams. Team members (left to right) were Rod Joppru, Brett Kleinvachter, Christie Halsa and Eric Morris. This group increased its original $100,000 mythical investment capital to $105,307 in the 10-week program period.

Lincoln students in stock market game

Five Lincoln high school teams from Lynn Dyer's Introduction to Business class at Lincoln high school had a 10-week short course in market investing this winter and spring by participating in "The Stock Market Game" sponsored by the Business Economics Education Foundation.

More than 730 high school teams from across Minnesota took part in the game this year, with the highest of five Thief River Falls teams finishing in 51st place at the end of the 10-week period. The lowest placing local team was in 571st place, still more than 130 from the bottom of the list.

Competition provides for five-member teams which include a captain, transaction recorder, chart keeper, verifier and researcher. Each team is given mythical starting investment capital of $100,000 which it can use to "purchase" stock from the open market.

The purchases and sales are sent in by mail and the postmarks matched to determine transaction dates. Each team is charged a "broker fee" of two per cent for each transaction and receives an updated portfolio each week.

Twenty minutes of each class period during the 10 weeks are devoted to the stock market game. Ten copies of a daily newspaper are received each day for stock market information and students also research companies through publications such as "Money," "Forbes" and "USA Today" as well as investment reports and other sources of information.

Each group can choose any investments it wants to make each week.

"A 10-week period is a very short time in the stock market and doesn't give students the long-range perspective," Dyer admitted, "but it does help them to understand trends and procedures and makes them aware of how the market operates.

"If there are common situations which surface early on in the program they usually involve buying too few shares in any one company and making too many transactions which result in paying too many brokerage fees."

Lincoln's top placing team at the end of the 10-week period included Rod Joppru as captain, Christie Halsa as transaction recorder, Brent Kleinvachter as chart keeper and Eric Morris as verifier. This team increased its initial $100,000 to $106,307, a net gain of 6.3 per cent in two and one-half months.

Second place Lincoln team of Wendy Stokke, Shane Dondelinger, Wayne Iverson, Ryan Kraemer and Kym McKercher parlayed its 100 grand into $103,882—good for 69th place among the 702 teams listed at the end of the 10-week period.

Only the top 133 teams in the state failed to show a loss during the Stock Market Game period and three of those remained at exactly $100,000. Mahnomen high school was the highest ranking team in the state, increasing its stock value to $142,294 in the 10-week period. Only the first 25 teams managed to boost their investment capital by $10,000 or more.

Conversely, the bottom team in the state saw its investment capital plummet from $100,000 to $13,520 while the next to the last place team was able to retain $40,646. Lincoln's lowest placing team still had $84,965 in value remaining.

Frequently the Lincoln teams changed positions from week to week as they made comparatively good or bad investment decisions. Other teams in addition to those listed were Tyler Anderson, Jeff Cota, Jason Homme, Jamie Martell and Chad Torstveit on Team 1, Marc Seaverson, Keith Baune, Jared Lee and Cindy Levin on Team 4 and Travis Torblaa, Theresa Giauque, Mike Hoglin, Joby Looker and Teresa Tischer on Team 5.

AAUW selects three as "Women of Honor"

Thief River Falls branch of the American Association of University Women honored three local women Monday, May 17, on the 10th anniversary of the AAUW Women of Honor. Selected as Women of Honor for 1993 were Dorothy Larson, Alicia Haviland and Ruth Nepper.

Dorothy Larson

Dorothy Larson was born and raised in Thief River Falls. She and her late husband, Walt, open their first business in 1944. This was the Junior Shop. In 1955 they purchased a ladies clothing store and named it the Larson's Style Center. After operating it successfully for 20 years, they sold it and retired.

After Dorothy's husband passed away, she volunteered to manage and work in the gift shop at Northwest Medical center. She continued to do this until she retired in 1992. She still does some volunteer work at the hospital and the Heritage center.

Dorothy's family consists of her son, Rev. Dale M. Larson and his wife Gloria of Milwuakee, their two children, Paula and Tim, and two great-grandchildren: Rachel Ann and Christoffer.

Her main interest has always been music. She has accompanied glee clubs, orchestras, church choirs and operettas. She has taken courses in church music at St. Olaf college under Paul Manz, who later gave an organ concert at Trinity Lutheran church as a result of Dorothy's being in the class. Dorothy has been the Trinity church organist for over 40 years.

Dorothy was recently a guest of honor at Trinity Lutheran church for her gift of music and dedication.

Alicia Haviland

Alicia Haviland has traveled around the world many times, lived all over the United States and on other continents, yet finds the gift of "parenting" the most amazing experience of her life. Each day with her seven children brings another memory to cherish.

This energetic "Super Mom" maintains a very hectic schedule keeping up with her husband, Jim, provost at Northland community college, and their children: Wade 11, Adam 10, Chelsea 9, Brittany 7, Reid 6, Blake 4 and Chase 3.

She is president of the board of the Thief River Falls Nursery school, volunteer coordinator at Northrop elementary school, co-secretary of the Arctic Lites Gymnastics board, a member of Parents, Teachers and Students in Partnership, Sunday school teacher, Kids Praise leader, and CareNotes coordinator at the United Methodist church. She's also a frequent volunteer to furnish food and treats for events there or at school. Her upbeat, cheerful and positive manner always brightens any day.

Alicia has a double master's degree in nursing and chemistry.

TRF park board disciplines city park director

During a special meeting of the Thief River Falls Park Board, disciplinary action was taken against the department director and the director also notified the board of his intent to apply for full disability.

Park and Recreation Director Mike Mongoven has been away from his job for about two weeks. No one has been able to say whether he was on vacation, sick leave, medical leave of absence or what, but the issues surrounding his absence were discussed Monday night.

Following an explanation by board member Rick Nelson, the board approved a recommendation to enter a letter of reprimand in Mongoven's personnel file. Nelson explained the reprimand was the result of an investigation into alleged verbal harassment that happened on February 16. A three-person committee was appointed to look into the matter but it appears the recommendation made on Monday night came from Nelson alone.

That wasn't the end of the matter. The issue of what Mongoven's status was with the city was also discussed. It was learned at the meeting that Mongoven had been away from his job for about two weeks and it wasn't clear whether he was on vacation, sick leave or what.

A letter from Mongoven esplained that after consulting with doctors and a representative of PERA, he has decided to seek permanent disability. It was learned that Mongoven will have to have hip replacement surgery.

Questions were raised about whether a person should be considered permanently disabled if they can perform such functions as mowing the lawn and golfing. Jerry Wigness, city clerk, explained that total disability does not mean that the person has to be in a wheelchair. Darrel Bakke, park board member, explained that permanent disability pertains to whether or how a person can perform normal job activities.

The letter raised many other issues such as the status of those individuals appointed to fill in while Mongoven is absent, what happens if Mongoven's surgery is successful and he wants to return to his job, and the amount of benefits due to Mongoven. The park board appointed a special committee consisting of the Mayor of Thief River Falls, City Clerk, Chairman of the Park Board, and City Attorney to work with Mongoven on answering these many questions.

Peter S. Oftedahl, 93

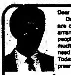
Thief River Falls — Peter S. Oftedahl, 93, died May 18 at the Valley Home in Thief River Falls.

Arrangements are pending with the Belmont Funeral Home in Thief River Falls.

A complete obituary will be printed in a later edition of the Times.



Dear Readers,

Death is one of life's most difficult crises, and families are often under deep emotional stress when funeral arrangements are made. This is one reason so many people are becoming comfortable with preplanning. It is much easier to discuss funeral arrangements before the need arises - quietly, professionally, and without emotion. Today, more than ever before, people are turning to prearrangement.

Respectfully,

Belmont Funeral Home

Larry Belmont

She has worked as a clinical coordinator for critical care settings in Miami, FL, taught at New York University, was a "showcase book presenter" at Random House, Doubleday, McGraw Hill in New York City and has been a cruise nurse on the Norwegian Cruise Line.

She teaches aerobic exercise as a hobby. She enjoys watching confidence, calm and control enter someone's spirit as the person becomes aware of the most important possession, which is good health. She has always enjoyed metaphysical science, distance running, aerobics, travel, literature, biking and dancing.

Alicia is her husband's and children's best cheerleader and is involved in all they do. It's difficult for her to drive the speed limit as she attempts to make all the deadlines and keep a cool, calm demeanor while waiting in her vehicle to dash on to the next activity. She's known as the one who "cries with pride" at her family's accomplishments. She's a proud wife and mother.

TIMES FOR TODDLERS

ACTIVITIES

Gone Fishin'

Many people are discussing and thinking about the fishing season. Because of this, it is a good time to make a magnetic fishing game for young children.

You will need a new pencil, string, refrigerator magnets, paper and paper clips. To make the "rod," you will need the new pencil and the string. Tie the string on the eraser part of the pencil and the other end to the refrigerator magnet.

To make the "fish," simply cut the shape of a fish out of the paper and put a paper clip in the area of the mouth.

Now the child can catch fish all day by simply dangling the magnet near the paper clipped fish. To make this an interesting learning game, you can make the fish different colors and the child can identify the color when he catches a fish or mark a numeral or a letter on each fish and ask the child to identify it.

Happy Fishing!

SCAVENGER HUNT

For next week's Activities feature, you will need an outdoor sand area.

BOOK OF THE WEEK

The Thief River Falls public library invites you to browse through their new selection of children's books including the following:

Carlson, Nancy. A Visit to Grandma's. Lots of surprises are in store when Tina and her parents visit Grandma at her new condominium in Florida for the first time.

Hurd, Thacher. Tomatoe Soup. Entering the magical miniature world of a mouse family, this is a teasing tale with a touch of spring fever about Baby Mouse and George the Cat.

VIDEO VARIETY

The Wind in the Willows. Brimming with high-spirited adventure, this treasured classic about Thadeus J. Toad and his mad mania for motorcars is brought to life by superb Disney animation.

PARENTING TIPS

Setting Limits

As a parent (or child care provider) you need to decide what is important and what is trivial before you set limits for your children. Parents who set too many rules can overwhelm their children with too many demands. The limits or rules you set should reflect your deeply held convictions or values. Once limits are set, commit yourself to consistently maintaining them. Before you set a limit ask yourself these questions: "Is this rule really important? Am I willing to deal with the conflicts that will naturally occur and assert my authority if my child disregards the limit?" For example, is it really necessary to insist that a child eat all his peas or wear certain clothes? Wouldn't it be more important to take issue when a child destroys a friend's toy, swears at a parent or steals money out of your purse? You are more likely to be effective if you focus on those rules you believe are most important.

SOMETHING TO TALK ABOUT

State your rules to your child so that he or she knows exactly what you expect and what the consequences will be if he or she disregards your rule.

Minnesota Technology, Inc., through its Upper Midwest Manufacturing Technology Center, will sponsor a regional forum and plant tour Wednesday, May 26, in Thief River Falls. The forum will be held at the Best Western Inn and the tour at Digi-Key, Inc.

Representatives of small and medium-sized companies interested in learning how to use bar coding in manufacturing are invited to attend.

Speaker at the forum program from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Best Western will be Scott Olson, president of EduTEC, Inc., who will give an orientation on the principles of bar coding, discuss the most popular manufacturing applications and outline the benefits of implementation.

Following the forum program, Kim Heinle, industrial engineer with Digi-Key, Inc., will talk about the company's experience in implementing bar coding into its operations. Participants in the forum will then tour the Digi-Key plant to see how the company is using bar coding to streamline many elements of its business.

Registration for the forum is $25 and may be accomplished by calling the Minnesota Technology office in Moorhead at 236-8584.

According to the sponsoring organization, bar coding systems can help companies receive accurate, real-time inventory status and production data, identify potential problem areas and maintain accurate time and attendance records. It can also help companies obtain timely information on manufacturing cycles and achieve faster and more accurate invoicing and shipping.

Regional forums and plant tours are held monthly throughout the state by each Minnesota Technology office and are intended to expose companies to modern technologies that will assist them in meeting their quality, productivity and profitability goals.

An integral part of the forums are plant tours which show manufacturers the benefits and problems associated with applying these processes in actual production settings.

Minnesota Technology, Inc., is a nonprofit corporation established to assist Minnesota companies in becoming more competitive.

Established in 1972, Digi-Key is one of the fastest-growing electronic component distributors in the United States. The company mails more than five million catalogs to proven and prospective customers each year, with business distributed proportionately across the United States.

At any given time, Digi-Key is 95 per cent in stock on the 45,000 products featured in its catalog. In order to maintain this high level of inventory and to facilitate high-quality customer service, the company implemented a more automated order fulfillment process in 1991. The system uses nearly a mile of conveyor, controlled by a programmable logic controller and supervised by Digi-Key's host computer.

Bar coding is a vital part of the company's automated order fulfillment system. All inventory is bar coded for identification and placement in the facility. In addition, each order is given a unique bar code to be used for tracking and routing along the conveyor system. This highly automated approach to order fulfillment allows orders to be processed—from order-entry to shipping—in as little as 30 minutes.

Speaking Of . . .

Sharon LaCoursiere

. . . Is it really Ultra Super Concentrated?
I Don't Believe It!

Have you noticed how everything is getting smaller at the grocery store, but costs the same or more?

I'm sure you've noticed the new smaller boxes of laundry detergent and other soaps and cleaners, the ones that are supposedly Super Ultra Concentrated so you are supposed to use less to do the job.

The question is, do you really use less of the stuff, or do you find yourself pouring in the same amount as you used before it was Super Ultra Concentrated, like me?

I don't notice any ill effects from using twice as much detergent or soap as the box tells me to. My washing machine or dishwasher hasn't sudsed out the sides or top yet or done any unusual "burping" from my double dumping. Makes me wonder just how Super Ultra Concentrated that stuff is.

I'm beginning to be slightly suspicious of these claims of "Super" and "Ultra" and "Concentrated." Could these companies be trying to fool us by giving us less of their same old product for the same amount or more money? Surely they wouldn't stoop so low as to do such a thing to us!

Wasn't it just a few years ago that everything was bigger and better? Didn't they try to get us to buy the Large Economy Size boxes of everything? Yes, I'm sure of it, just a few years ago Bigger was Better and we bought everything in gigantic boxes because we were told it was a better deal, more for the money and all of that.

Do you remember what you saw way down in the bottom when you looked into that Large Economy Size box? Didn't it seem like you brought home half the contents for twice the money? The companies called it "settling," didn't they?

Boxes are not the only things that have shrunk in size, however. Other things are smaller, too. They just got that way all of a sudden, without any advertising hoop-la about Super Ultra Concentrated, either.

You see, the companies shrunk things in a sneaky way. They left the wrappers the same size as before, but shrunk the contents.

Candy bars are tiny now. A person who is really hungry for a candy bar must have to eat three or four to get a good taste of it. But maybe you didn't notice how tiny the candy bars are now, because the wrappers are the same size as they used to be. Buy one and check it out—you will find a tiny, little candy bar in a great deal of wrapping.

Ice cream bars, something I rarely buy, have definitely gotten smaller, too. I bought some recently and found that they barely cover the stick. However, there is plenty of paper wrapping around that bitty little bar.

Another little thing I noticed, the amount of tea in a tea bag is smaller. Yes, it really is! I used to be able to make an entire pot of tea with one tea bag. Now my one-bag pot of tea is weak and watery and I am contemplating having to use two or maybe three bags to get my usual robust cuppa.

For those of you who like their cups filled with coffee, that, too, is coming in smaller and smaller packages. Check the weight on that pound can of coffee you are buying and you will find it is not a pound, at all. Looks the same, but isn't! No wonder a pound of coffee doesn't last as long as it used to.

Toilet tissue has also shrunk sneakily. Did you think it was your imagination that the rolls weren't lasting as long or that someone in the family was somehow using twice as much tissue? It isn't either of those—in case you hadn't noticed, there are less little squares per roll than there used to be. They cost the same price or more, however.

Yes, now that I've been checking things out, I'm beginning to feel a bit bamboozled by all of these concentrated claims. If the companies are upping the prices on products, that is one thing, but I think the way they are doing it, in a sneaky way, is downright nasty.

SWCD to use roll-over funds to pay for local projects

Establishment of erosion control structures throughout the county and a small rip-rap project on the Thief river will be accomplished with the more than $7,000 in state cost-share roll-over funds received by the Pennington Soil and Water Conservation District.

"These projects are important to help protect water quality in our community," said Gary Lane, SWCD manager.

The money is being provided through the Minnesota Board of Water and Soil Resources (BWSR), a state agency that assists local units of government with resource protection.

The funding is part of the state cost-share program, which provides money to SWCDs to cost-share with landowners the expenses of erosion control and water quality protection projects. Eligible projects include streambank stabilization, animal waste control systems, terraces, grass waterways and sediment control basins. About 33 SWCDs received a total of $287,000 through this round of allocations.

Anyone interested in applying for future cost-share dollars should contact the Pennington SWCD at 681-3348.

Brian Walter and Wendy Konickson lead PHS graduates

Brian Walter

Wendy Konickson

Brian Walter, son of Raymond and Reinette Walter and Wendy Konickson daughter of Donald and Karen Konickson, have been named valedictorian and salutatorian, respectively, in the 1993 graduating class at Pershing high school in Plummer.

Commencement exercises will be held Friday, May 28, at 7:30 p.m. in the high school gymnasium.

Both Brian and Wendy have been actively involved in student groups and events at their school in addition to maintaining the top scholastic averages.

Brian has been involved with football, wrestling, student council, National Honor Society, Students Against Driving Drunk, Knowledge Bowl, drama club and the community education board.

He has been selected as a Governor's Scholar, was an American Legion Post 623 delegate to Boys State and is a HOBY Ambassador. He and Jared Goldesberry of Thief River Falls started an academic incentive program known as Project Strive.

"Looking back on my high school career, I think I will remember my extracurricular and community activities—as well as the people I met—more than anything. I feel that to get the most out of your high school years you have to go a little out of your way. Just doing what is expected, and following the crowd, makes a boring person and a boring existence."

Brian will attend the University of Minnesota—Crookston this fall to major in agricultural economics/business. He would like to get a job working for an international ag-related corporation or the federal government and says he would also like to explore a political career, working from local up to state government.

President of her senior class, Wendy has also been involved in a number of high school activities throughout her school years, including band, choir, secretary of the National Honor Society, Students Against Driving Drunk, annual staff, Honor Guard and Letterman's Club.

"I am going to attend Northland Community College in Thief River Falls in the fall," she said, "to pursue my general studies. After I have received by AA degree from Northland I will transfer to a four-year college for further education in the career I will choose."

Load limits lifted on highways

Spring weight restrictions on state highways in the Minnesota North zone were lifted Monday, may 17, according to Marv Bates, maintenance engineer for the Minnesota Department of Transportation. Roads will revert to the normal 10-ton weight limit except where otherwise restricted.

The Minnesota North zone includes all state trunk highways north of highways 10, 210 and 39 through Moorhead, Brainerd and Duluth. Weight restrictions had already been listed in the rest of the state with some local exceptions.

Bates said that some routes elsewhere in the state may remain posted or otherwise restricted because of construction projects or road and bridge deficiencies. He added that the signs posted on the road determine the weight restrictions so truckers should be aware of any weight restriction signing.

Anyone with questions about legal weights and weight restrictions on a particular road should contact the Mn/DOT permit office in Crookston at 281-3503 or the Bemidji office at 755-2942.

Impressions . . .

Beth Johnson

Last week on Thursday I was feeling a bit down. The only thing that I could equate this feeling of sadness with was that soon the visit from my parents would be over. They live in the Chicago area. We see each other a couple of times a year. They were here for their spring jaunt into the north. We had a pleasant time visiting with one another.

They had arrived at our house on Saturday just before Mother's Day. All day Saturday I cleaned so as to make my home look relatively presentable for their visit. They probably wouldn't care if there was a bit of dust around—they were coming to see us, not how clean our house could be. But, clean I did that Saturday.

Before they arrived at our house, they stopped at the college our older son is attending and visited with him for an evening. They also did a grandparently thing and took him out to a meal off campus!! I was a bit envious that someone other than I was visiting with my son—but I was also so pleased that he had grandparents who cared enough to travel out of their way to spend some time with him.

Mother's Day was basically uneventful. We went to church. We wore our corsages. We shared a meal that the men in our lives prepared (with a bit of help!!)

Monday was just another day. We visited, we shopped, we ate, and we drank a few too many cups of coffee. We also planted some flowers next to the house. Just a pleasant day was spent by all of us.

Tuesday they spent the day traveling around Northwestern Minnesota. They said that they had never traveled north of Thief River. So, as the rest of us went off to work or school, my parents headed on an adventure which would hopefully end in the observation of a moose. So far, our relatives from afar have seen only the warning signs for moose, but no moose. They think we are perhaps not being truthful when we tell them that moose do live in our area! Tuesday was no exception, no moose was seen by the moose searchers in our family.

Wednesday was yet another pleasant, yet uneventful day spent together.

So, then comes Thursday, the day I felt a bit sad and lonely thinking that soon my parents would be leaving for their home and I knew it would be a while before I would see them again. No expected departure date had yet been set, but my feelings were that in a day or 2 at the most they would be heading south to Chicago.

What a difference a few moments in time can make!! Thursday, after a visit to my place of employment, and a visit to a store or two around town, they went home. Little did they know that they still had one place yet to visit in our town—the hospital.

Getting out of the car is usually an uneventful occurrence. But, on Thursday, getting out of the car, my mother slipped and fell and broke her foot. So, after a bit of pondering, my parents, unbeknownst to me, decided to go to the hospital. At our hospital admissions desk they were instructed to go and see one of the doctors in the clinic. And so there they made the acquaintance of some of our fine staff at the Falls Clinic. X-rays were taken and a cast was placed on my mother's foot. I was called from work and then we went home.

That was just the beginning of the good times we were to experience the next few days. A cast made my mother pretty much immobile until she figured out the coordination necessary to get around. It was totally impossible to get her into our house!! We don't own a video camera, but we certainly wished we did as we were trying to get her into the house. If the neighbors were watching, they probably wondered what in the world we were doing! We actually gave up for a while and let her sit in the backyard in the shade as we procured a wheelchair to help us in the task. Into the house she went in time for supper and then bed. Their visit to us was suddenly in no doubt of being extended.

With a bit of help from one of us and her cane, my mother learned the basics of walking with a cast. She gathered the sympathy of all of us—even our dog—who became her faithful follower wherever she went. All of us jumped at her beck and call. We were a devoted family. My feelings of sadness were replaced with concern. It's no fun watching someone else suffer. I would have rather seen my parents leaving for Chicago in a timely fashion than to have either of them suffer an injury such as my mother suffered.

But, with an extra day or two of rest, Monday morning they set out for Chicago. With my father at the wheel of the car and my mother with her foot elevated they began their journey home—two people loving each other enough to help each other in the daily tasks of life as well as in the unexpected. Thanks for the visit!!

Poring over the stock market report to prepare for making stock trades were these students in the Stock Market Game conducted through Lynn Dyer's Introduction to Business course at Lincoln high school. Left to right are Therese Glauque, Joby Looker, Terese Tischer and Mike Hoglin. The students were on one of several Lincoln teams which made mythical investments over a 10-week period in competition with some 730 teams across the state.

Investment Society has been started by Dyer and Linda Goulet, his co-advisor for the Lincoln Business Club. It had nine members in its first year.

Membership required a $30 initial investment and an additional $10 or more per month. The advisors chipped in enough to make a $500 minimum investment in a no load mutual fund. Each member has one vote and each investor can sell out his or her interest in the fund at the end of May if he or she so desires—a likely situation for graduating seniors. Underclassmen may elect to let their investment remain in the fund.

Lincoln's Business Club is open to students in all four grades at Lincoln. Officers for the current school year are Jennifer Paggen, president; Brad Kragness, vice president; Angelique Goulet, secretary; Jenny Saustad, treasurer; and Kari Krankkala, public relations.

The club meets on the first Wednesday of each month at 7:45 a.m. It conducts fund-raisers and uses the proceeds for scholarships and to sponsor two students to Minnesota Business Venture, a one-week seminar at St. Olaf College in Northfield.

"Many of our students will be involved in various areas of business just a little way into the future," Dyer said. "The Stock Market Game, investment society and business club can all help them be more prepared when that time comes."

Kym McKercher, one of Lynn Dyer's Introduction to Business students at Lincoln high school in Thief River Falls, studies the stock market listings as part of her participation in the Stock Market Game. Dyer gave his students 20 minutes at the beginning of each class period for 10 weeks to study the stock market and participate in the Stock Market Game.

Don Schirrick

Schirrick to run for House seat

Don Schirrick, life-long Red Lake county resident and operator of a 1,360-acre diversified farm west of Red Lake Falls, has announced his intention to actively seek the DFL endorsement for the District 1B House seat to be vacated by Rep. Wally Sparby of Thief River Falls.

Schirrick graduated from the schools in his area and attended the University of North Dakota. Production on his farm centers around small grains, sunflowers and purebred Angus cattle, and he also operates a poultry equipment mail order business, specializing in incubator sales.

Thirty-two years ago he married Karen Murray of East Grand Forks and she is employed as a Red Lake county public health nurse. They have four children: David of Winnemucca, NV; Jenny (Mrs. Bob Proulx) of Red Lake Falls; Daniel of Hallock; and Thomas, a student at Moorhead State University.

Schirrick dates his political activity to 1964 when he was a member of the second Farmers Union fly-in to Washington, DC, to lobby for passage of the 1965 farm bill. He has chaired the Red Lake county DFL party since 1982 and been a member of the Minnesota DFL state central committee during that time. He served on Rep. Collin Peterson's election steering committee and worked with other area leaders in having the Congressman establish a Congressional field office in Red Lake Falls.

An elected delegate to all Seventh District and state DFL conventions since 1982, and active on committees at those conventions, he was an elected delegate to the Democratic national convention in New York City last year.

"The most important product that we produce in this country is our children," he said. "Education has to be one of our very highest priorities, but new ways of funding it have to be sought. The present method is obsolete, very unfair and lop-sided. Once properly educated, young people from our area consistently prove that they can excel anywhere in the country."

Observing that agriculture produces the greatest dollar amount of area income, he said it is imperative to work for measures that will enhance it. "Agriculture should be able to flourish, rather than have to continually struggle," he said.

He also cited the importance of tourism, social and morality issues where he said the legislature must demonstrate real leadership and example.

Brooks . . . . . . . .

Voronica Boucher and Dorothy Myhre visited with Mrs. Ruth Wilkens of Plummer on Tuesday afternoon.

Not enough students signed up for dance through the Magnet Arts program so a dance program was implemented through physical education programs at Franklin Middle school and Lincoln high school. Helen Anderson said plans are being made to add dance to the elementary physical education program. Overall, she said, the students did an excellent job — they showed so much enthusiasm and were so cooperative. Anderson said the program was added to physical education only through the support of Michelle Duffy, Jeff Mumm and Glen Peters. The dance program included several dance steps and basics, including: creative movement, line dances, waltz, polka, Linda, slap leather, two-step, Cotton-eyed Joe, and electric slide. Above, students and elementary guests and Mrs. Mickelson from Knox, take part in a German Line dance.

Aviation program at TRFTC joins in 3M internship

Five students or graduates of the aviation technology program at the Thief River Falls Technical College were interviewed Friday for a new internship position created by the aviation department of the 3M corporation headquartered in St. Paul.

C. C. (Chuck) Webster, manager of aircraft maintenance and ground operations for 3M Aviation, conducted the interviews. The five candidates were selected from among applicants for the position and one will be selected for the program to start June 7 and continue for 12 weeks in the 3M Aviation facilities at Holman Field in St. Paul.

Webster said the position will be paid and will permit the person selected to learn about a number of areas in corporate aviation as opposed to the commercial aviation field. He said 3M operates a fleet of Gulf Stream Model G-IV twin engine jet turbine aircraft which is based in St. Paul and that all but the heavy maintenance is performed on the aircraft there.

The intern will work directly with about 10 of the 30 people in the department, switching from area to area to have exposure to many facets of the operation. A secondary selection will also be made by Webster, because the intern will be encouraged to accept regular employment if it becomes available elsewhere during the internship. The secondary selection would then be permitted to complete the internship.

Webster said the program is being reinstituted after a several year lapse because the initial program had some flaws in it, primarily due to acceptance of people who were lacking in training. To qualify for this revised program, applicants must have earned their A&P license and met established requirements for attendance and grade point average.

"We like to believe we are a leader in corporate aviation," Webster said, "and this program is a means by which we can give something back to our area." He said schools in other states had been considered for the program but the local technical college came to his attention through a student (Tim Reimer) who had called at the 3M Aviation facilities to check on employment.

"We talked about the internship program and I suggested he have the administration of his school contact me," Webster said. "He did and we were able to work out the details over the past couple of months."

If the program works out well, Webster said, it is likely to be carried out in future years and perhaps expanded to include two interns for two separate 12-week internships.

Al Mickelson, director of the aviation program at the technical college, said he is pleased that 3M is making the program available through the local school. He said he believes it will provide valuable experience for any student or graduate selected to participate."

Peterson pushes for more cuts

Congressman Collin Peterson, a member of the Conservative Democratic Forum (a group of moderate and conservative Democrats), worked with an 80-member coalition to convince the budget committee to accept increased spending cuts.

The committee voted unanimously Monday to seek an additional $63 billion in spending cuts over a five-year period. The proposed cuts represent $8 billion more than President Bill Clinton had agreed to earlier Monday.

Rep. Peterson said the cuts came in response to weeks of charges that the original economic package put too much focus on tax increases as a way to pay for programs and reduce the deficit.

"The Clinton administration has come forward with a bold and credible economic plan," Peterson said. "Now it's up to Congress to work with the administration to develop a program that benefits everyone in the long run. It will involve some tough decisions, ones that we can no longer afford to delay."

Crookston shortstop Noel Mireade missed Thief River Falls runner Carter Rogalla with a sweeping tag during a stolen base attempt in the sixth inning of Monday's high school baseball game at Irv Wilson Field. Second baseman Devin Glass looked on.

Thief River Falls wins 9-8 high school baseball game...

Prowlers out-score Pirates

Twice in the final two innings Crookston coach Jim Simon ordered two bases-loading intentional walks, and twice Thief River Falls batters spoiled the strategy with run-producing hits Monday as the Prowlers outlasted the Pirates 9-8 in a high school baseball match-up at Irv Wilson Field.

It wasn't particularly good baseball – attested by the 19 walks and six errors during the cold, wind-swept affair. But at least the 11-4 Prowlers got a win out of it. The 9-5 Pirates left empty-handed. "We didn't play very well, but it was a win, and we'll take it," said Thief River Falls coach Tracey Wensloff.

Three Thief River Falls pitchers issued 10 walks, and the Prowlers' defense was charged with four errors. Seven of the eight Crookston runs were scored by people who had reached base on walks, and three of the four Thief River Folls errors led directly to Crookston runs. Two Crookston pitchers gave up nine walks, but four of those were intentional.

"Our pitchers were having a tough time," acknowledged Wensloff. "They were putting too many people on base. But we didn't make the plays early defensively, and that puts pressure on the pitchers. They think they have to make perfect pitches, and as a result they end up walking people."

Thief River Falls erased an early 2-1 deficit with a five-run fourth inning that included four walks, two errors and one base hit – a two-run, two-out single to left by Rick Ostby.

Crookston came right back to tie it at 6-6 in the top of the fifth on three walks, two errors, an RBI single by Bobby Shimpa and a run-producing double by Ben Parkin.

The Prowlers went back on top 8-6 in the sixth when Carter Rogalla was hit by a pitch, stole second and went to third on a wild pitch. Nathon Knutson and Ostby drew intentional walks to set up a one-out, bases-loaded situation for the bottom of the order. A strike-out brought Steve Burslie to the plate with two out, and with a 3-2 count, the sophomore catcher dropped a bloop two-run single in front of the center fielder.

Crookston bounced back, though, when a pair of seventh inning walks were followed by a two-out, two-run single to right by Mike Shimpa to tie it again at 8-8.

The late-game dramatics carried into the bottom of the seventh when Jason Svir bounced a lead-off single past third base. He stole second and reached third on a sacrifice bunt by Wade Evenson, prompting Simon to walk Rogallo and Morc Hougen intentionally for a possible inning-ending double play or a force out at any base. But Knutson drilled a first-pitch delivery off the glove of third baseman Wade Demarais for a game-winning infield single.

Svir, Rogalla and Knutson had two hits apiece for the Prowlers, while Demarais and Parkin did it for the Pirates.

The win went to Haugen, who pitched the final two innings after Jeremy Olson went 4 1/3 innings as the starter and Jason Olson worked one-third of an inning in relief. Jeremy Peterson pitched the first four innings for the Pirates. Bobby Shimpa took the loss.

Prowler Hall of Fame is planned

Thief River Falls Board of Education, at its May 10 meeting, gave approval for the establishment of a Prowler Hall of Fame.

Nominations are now being sought from the public to select candidates who will be the first inductees – probobly during Homecoming '93 activities, according to School District 564 Activities Director Lee Alger.

Nominations will be screened and Hall of Fame selections will be made by an activity advisory committee that is already in place at Lincoln High School. The group includes coaches, board members, administrators and community representatives.

Nomination forms can be picked up in Alger's office ot Lincoln.

"Thief River Falls has a long and rich history of pride in athletic competition and a long list of alumni who have made significant accomplishments to society," reads a Hall of Fame introductory letter distributed by Alger. "It is fitting that the school and community remember, recognize and honor the outstanding achievements and contributions with a Hall of Fame."

According to criteria set in place by the activity advisory committee, nominees must, during and following his/her career, have exemplified the pride and spirit that is traditional in Prowler activities and in its alumni.

Nominees can come from four categories:

A. Alumni - must be out of school at least seven years and have made a significant accomplishment to society or in their chosen career.

B. Player - a former Prowler great who has been out of school for at least seven years.

C. Coach - must have coached in School District 564. Level is not important.

D. At Large - any member of the community who has made significant contributions to school District 564 in the field of athletics, fine arts or other areas that are important to the school district.

Committee members hope to make the induction ceremonies an annual affair.

High school softball doubleheader...

Otters sweep TRF

Fergus Falls swept Thief River Falls 13-6 and 14-4 Saturday in a North Sub-Section 8AA high school softball doubleheader played at Detroit Lakes.

The losses sends the Prowlers into the final week of the 1993 regular season schedule with a 5-8 record.

Thief River Falls' play was marked by inconsistency, according to head coach John Anderson. "At times we played perfectly, but at other times, we stunk up the place," he said.

Five sixth place finishes were the top showings for the Thief River Falls girls at the True Team Section 8A track meet in Park Rapids Thursday.

"We did all right," said Thief River Falls coach Glenn Chiodo. "In some cases we hod our best times of the year; some other areas were a nightmare (like a dropped baton in a relay). But that's high school athletics."

Boys collect two firsts at True Team sectional

A pair of first place finishes highlighted Thief River Falls' efforts in the boys' portion of the 1993 True Team Section 8A high school track meet at Park Rapids Thursday. However, the True Team scoring concept – points awarded to every place finish – showed the Prowlers' overall lack of depth.

With 16 of 17 events completed (results of the pole vault were not available), Thief River Falls was eighth in an 11-team field.

"We scored points were we anticipated, and we finished about where we thought we would be," said Thief River Falls coach Tim Olson. "We were satisfied."

Shane Skeim provided the Prowlers with o first place finish in the shot put, while Jeremy Engelstad, Dan Bjerknes, Lee Lund, and Jon Hendrickson combined for a first place showing in the sprint medley relay.

"That (sprint medley) was a good race," noted Olson. "Lee is turning into a good quarter-miler and Hendrickson has become a really strong half-miler. That's turned into a nice relay for us."

Point figures through 16 events showed Alexandria with 481, Little Falls 473, Park Ropids Area 454, Fergus Palls 442 1/2, Crookston 383, East Grand Forks 380, Detroit Lakes 320, Thief River Falls 226, Staples Area 224, Wodena-Deer Creek 219, Perham 152 1/2.

Registration deadline near for TRFAHA summer camp

Registration deadline is Saturday, May 22, for the first Thief River Falls Amateur Hockey Association Summer Hockey Camp.

Low registrotion figures have already forced TRFAHA officials to make o chonge in the proposed camp schedule, and may force cancellation of the entire project if the numbers do not improve this week, according to camp director Ron Novak.

Becouse of low advanced registrations, TRFAHA has cancelled the fourth week of the camp, June 27-July 3. Players already registered for thot week will be notified by phone and may register for one of the first three weeks: June 6-12, June 13-19, June 20-26.

If the camp is to be in operation, many more participants must register for the first, oecond or third weeks, stressed Novak. A decision on the fate of the camp, based upon registration figures, will be made by TRFAHA following the May 22 registration deadline.

The camp offers instructions at the Old Area for Tiny Mites, Squirts and Pee-Wees, along with 3-on-3 leagues for both and Bantam and high school age players.

For camp registration information contact Novak at 681-3959.

DNR News

What Licenses Pay For

One of the most frequently asked questions at DNR offices around the state is, "Where do my fishing license fees go?" In a nutshell, what anglers get for their license fees is the assurance that a fisheries team is keeping an eye on lakes or streams to ensure that the fisheries are being managed to produce good angling.

Specifically, much of the $17 million DNR fisheries budget pays for a staff of 300 fisheries managers, researchers, technicians, laborers and secretaries, spread out over 28 area offices, six regional offices, six coldwater hatcheries and the St. Paul headquarters. Ninety-five percent of the positions are field level. This staff oversees the management of 5,400 game fish lakes and 15,000 miles of streams and rivers.

Much of Minnesota's fisheries program is reimbursed by the Federal Aid Sport Fish Restoration Program, which is funded through a federal excise tax on fishing equipment, boats, and motor fuel. Those funds are administered by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

Each year, the DNR uses money from fishing licenses to carry out approximately 600 lake surveys and 200 stream surveys. Fisheries professionals conduct test nettings to find out how the fish populations are faring, conduct reel surveys to see what anglers are catching, and study how different fish species interact. To this information, they add the lake's fisheries history and devise a plan to either improve or maintain the quality of fishing. So far, the DNR has developed fisheries management plans for approximately 3,000 lakes and streams and continues to produce several hundred additional plans each year.

Recommendations for habitat protection and management are integral parts of most management plans. Sometimes plans call for habitat work such as on southeastern Minnesota trout streams damaged by agricultural run-off or cattle. Sometimes they recommend experimental regulations, such as the new no-kill requirement for walleye, sauger, smallmouth bass, and largemouth bass on the Mississippi River from St. Paul to Hastings. Sometimes plans propose stocking, such as on walleye lakes that no longer have the habitat to produce fish naturally.

Besides this extensive lake and stream management, license dollars fund research projects, fishing piers, kids' fishing ponds, stream easements, aeration systems, aquatic education, and maps and brochures. They pay for buildings, boats, trucks, motors, nets computers, printing, training, and other day-to-day equipment and costs of fisheries management. License fees also pay for the enforcement of regulations that keep fishing fair for all anglers.

A new $1.5 million, 10,000-square-foot cooler facility at Bridgeman Dairy's Thief River Falls distribution center is under construction and will connect the office and general storage building at left with the three-year-old, 3,300-square-foot freezer unit at right.

Brad Eriksen (right), distribution manager for Bridgeman Dairy in Thief River Falls, discusses work on the new 10,000-square-foot cooler at the Thief River Falls distribution center with Scott Gagner, a foreman for Ram Construction, the general contractor.

Bridgeman adds big new cooler at T.R.F. center

Construction of a new 10,000-square-foot, $1.5 million cooler facility is now underway at the Bridgeman Distribution Center on highway 32 south of Thief River Falls.

The project began in mid April with the clearing of an old wood frame warehouse building from the site. The new 100x107-food insulated steel building will be ready for use about September 1, according to Brad Eriksen, distribution manager.

"The new cooler will allow us to better serve our customers because it will provide better storage space and make us much more efficient in the way we load our trucks," Eriksen said, "and it will prepare us for future expansions of our service areas."

The new building will connect an existing office and storage building to a three-year-old, 3,300-square-foot freezer facility. When completed, trucks will be able to load products from both the freezer and cooler storage facilities from the same loading docks.

Eriksen said the new cooler will allow Bridgeman "to take even better care of its products while also improving the work environment for our employees."

Ram Construction of Thief River Falls is the general contractor. Other area contractors participating include Lee Plumbing & Heating, Hjelle Roofing, Paint & Glass Interiors, Owen Electric, Johanneck Plumbing & Heating, Davidson Well Company and Davidson Construction & Ready Mix.

The bottled milk produced at the Bridgeman plant in downtown Thief River Falls will be stored in the new cooler.

"We're really running out of space at the downtown plant," Eriksen said, noting that the new cooler "will allow us to install some automated equipment there, too.

"Currently we are having to use some alternate space at places in town to store product," he added. "That's an inconvenience, but we're getting through it. The new cooler is going to mean a nice change for us in the way we do some things and everybody is getting ready for it."

The Thief River Falls service area includes much of northern Minnesota and a part of eastern North Dakota. Bridgeman manufactures and distributes a full line of dairy products in North Dakota, northwestern Minnesota, northeastern South Dakota and eastern Montana. The company has 269 employees, 96 of whom work in Thief River Falls.

Transportation business built on service to casinos

May 23 marks the anniversary of the Shooting Star Casino at Mahnomen and booming business for three local transportation companies.

The Thief River Falls-based companies are Casino Coach, Carpenter Charter, Inc., and Royal Limousine Service.

The services these local transportation companies provide are not exclusive to casinos.

Royal Limousine will "Go any place customers want to go," said owner Gary Bucklin. These places have included concerts in Grand Forks, Twins games and runs to Winnipeg. Royal Limousine also works for local corporations such as Digi-Key and Arctco, Inc. Groups from proms and weddings also frequently charter limos.

Carpenter Charter regularly charters trips to the Twin Cities and several other locations.

Groups can charter Casino Coach for trips to the Shooting Star Casino. It makes regular runs to the River Road Casino southeast of Thief River Falls and overnight trips to Warroad.

Greg Klinkhammer founded Casino Coach on June 1 last year in response to the opening of the Shooting Star Casino. Casino Coach of Thief River Falls operates with two vans. Klinkhammer said he saw a niche for vans when the Casino opened.

Bucklin has been in the limousine business five years but added a couple more limousines with the Shooting Star Casino opening. Bucklin began the limo service as a wedding cake promotion (Bucklin also owns Gary's Bakery).

Now Royal Limousine Service owns five limos and hires eight to nine part-time drivers. What is the biggest challenge of owning five limos? "Keeping them all clean and washed. Keeping them in nice shape," Bucklin said. The limos are washed between every run.

Carpenter Charter, owned by Randy Carpenter, operates one 47 passenger bus, one 39 passenger bus and one van. Carpenter Charter employs three part-time workers besides Carpenter.

"The casinos improved business as far as dollars generated in a short distance," Carpenter said. Most of Carpenter's business, he said, comes from smaller towns around Thief River Falls.

For its first anniversary celebration, the Shooting Star Casino is hosting a limousine caravan consisting of 102 cars on Wednesday, May 26.

Royal Limousine limos will take third, fourth, fifth and sixth place in the caravan behind the casinos' own limos. The caravan will leave from Detroit Lakes en route to Mahnomen for a casino open house.

Bucklin is also in charge of baking a 102-foot cake for the open house.

The mammoth white cake includes of 135 pounds of sugar, 100 pounds of cake flour, 30 pounds of shortening, 10 gallons of skim milk and 80 dozen eggs.

Bucklin and his crew will begin assembling the cake (two-foot segments at a time) at 2 a.m. and finish at 9 a.m. with icing consisting of 200 pounds of sugar.

55 Alive program urges seat belt use

"Many people just don't realize how much the proper use of safety belts can reduce the risk of serious injury or death," states Tony Madunich, retired Minnesota driver's license examiner and an instructor in the 55 Alive mature driving program.

He said seat belts are estimated to have saved Americans nearly $10 billion last year alone by preventing deaths and injuries.

"A large majority of fatal crashes occur during routine trips to or from work or the store," he said. "Drivers who think they don't need seat belts for short trips are wrong. Seat belts should be worn on every trip."

He said Minnesota law requires all auto insurance carriers to offer a discount on premiums to qualified graduates age 55 and older of approved courses such as 55 Alive. Madunich suggested contacting the Heritage Community Center for the next 55 Alive class schedule.

The Second Section

"Wild" Bob Bergen displays one of the cowboy hats now on sale through the Chamber of Commerce. The hats are being sold for $8 a piece. Straw hats are also being sold, but for $4 a piece. The money raised from the hat sale will be used to support the Pennington County Fair, July 21-25, and the Thief River Falls Stampede, September 3 - 5. Bergen, chamber executive vice president, said bulletins explaining the cowboy hat promotion will be sent to local merchants. Buttons on the hats are promoting Tenye Tucker's performance during the fair in Thief River Falls.

Unemployment rate in area shows decline

Minnesota's unemployment rate dropped to 5.8 per cent in March from 6.5 per cent in February, according to the Minnesota Department of Jobs and Training. The U.S. rate for March was 7.3 per cent, down from 7.7 per cent in February. A year ago the unemployment rate in Minnesota was 6.2 per cent while the U.S. rate was 7.7 per cent.

The rate of unemployment in Pennington county was 9.5 per cent. Among Region 1 counties in Minnesota — Kittson, Marshall, Norman, Pennington, Polk, Red Lake and Roseau — Roseau county reported having the lowest rate of unemployment at 4.9 per cent. Red Lake County reported having the highest rate of unemployment at 18.9 per cent.

The number of people in the labor force in Pennington county dropped from 7,247 in February to 7,045 in March. Still, the number of people in the labor force is higher than the number of people in the labor force one year ago. In March of 1992, there were 6,996 people in the labor force. Also, the number of individuals unemployed dropped from 946 in February to 669 in March.

Overall, the rate of unemployment dropped from 13.1 in February to 9.5 in March. For the same period last year, unemployment was at 13.6 per cent.

The unemployment rate in Region 1 (for all counties) was 9 per cent. Unemployment in other surrounding counties was as follows: 10.8 per cent in Kittson, 15.9 per cent in Marshall, 9.1 in Norman, 9.5 per cent in Pennington county, 7.6 per cent in Polk, 18.9 per cent in Red Lake, and 4.9 per cent in Roseau.

Seasonally adjusted, Minnesota's unemployment rate in March was 5.1 per cent, down from 5.8 per cent in February and 5.5 per cent a year ago. The U.S. seasonally adjusted rate was 7.0 per cent in March, the same as in February, and down from 7.3 per cent a year ago.

"Minnesota's unemployment rate continues to bounce around but remains better than a year ago, and is consistently better than the U.S. rate," said Commissioner R. Jane Brown.

The Minneapolis-St. Paul metropolitan area unemployment rate decreased to 4.7 per cent in March from 5.2 per cent in February. The region around Brainerd and Little Falls had the highest unemployment rate, averaging 10.6 per cent. The lowest average was for the seven-county Twin Cities region at 4.5 per cent. Among the counties, the lowest unemployment rate was 3.4 per cent in Rock county and the highest one was 24.1 per cent in Clearwater county.

The monthly survey of employers showed an increase of 7,300 non-agricultural wage and salary jobs from a month ago, a smaller increase than the March average over the past 10 years. The largest gains occurred in construction, health services, and educational services. When adjustment is made for seasonal factors, a slight decrease, 0.1 per cent, occurred in non-agricultural wage and salary jobs, with durable goods manufacturing and retail trade experiencing the greatest declines.

Compared to a year ago, the number of Minnesota non agricultural wage and salary jobs is up by 54,500, a 2.6 per cent increase. Nationally, the comparable increase was 0.9 per cent.

Minnesota continues to outperform the nation in every industry group, except transportation and public utilities, with services and trade industries showing the greatest increases for a year ago. Much of the growth in services is found in business, health, and amusement and recreational services. Eating and drinking establishments led the trade and industry group with the largest job growth. The greatest decrease from a year ago was in the transportation and public utilities industry due to a decline in jobs and air transportation.

Whole Wheat BIBLE STUDY

Turn to the Lord

After you read through this Bible study, go back and look up the Scriptures and highlight them in your Bible.

Scripture says that when a man turns to the Lord, the veil is taken away (2 Cor. 3:16). What does "turn to" mean here? The word turn is mentioned in Matthew 13:15 and again in Acts 28:27. "Turn again" is mentioned in Mark 4:12. We see in John 12:40, that the words "be converted" are used instead of "turn to." In Acts 3:19, the expression, "Repent, therefore, and return" is used, but to what are we returning? Acts 6:7 says a great many of the ministers or priests were becoming obedient to the faith. We see, then, that to "turn to" means to turn to the obedience of the faith.

Yes, faith in Jesus Christ requires obedience (Rom. 16:26; 1 Peter 1:2; John 3:36). New Testament believers had a reputation for obedience, but what was the faith to which they were obedient (Rom. 16:19)?

Jesus Christ says, "If anyone serves Me, let him follow Me" (John 12:26). Jesus is telling us that we are expected to live as He lived. How do we do that? We are to keep His sayings (John 12:48; 8:51). Jesus Christ's sayings are the works He did on this earth as an example, that we should walk in them (John 14:12; Eph. 2:10). We cannot possibly be converted to Jesus Christ if we do not keep His sayings! God says that if we practice living like Christ by keeping His sayings, we are truly born again (1 John 2:29). This is how we overcome evil and resist Satan daily (Rev. 2:26).

The veil is taken away from your eyes when you cry out to the Lord for the truth and begin living to please Him in all your ways (2 Cor. 4:3; 3:16; Acts 10:34-35). You can begin to understand many mysteries and spiritual truths that you could not comprehend before. Yet, if you don't practice living like Him, you will never be like Him and you will never clearly understand His Ways.

Don't be deceived. Practice makes perfect. You do the practicing and God will do the perfecting. Practicing righteousness daily for God is repentance. It is the Way of righteousness (Matt. 21:32; 2 Peter 2:21).

If you have not turned to the Lord and have not started the process of building godly character, why not turn to the Lord today? Begin living the godly Way. Please Him in all you do, and He'll make a new person out of you.

Tax Court Gives A New Twist To Pollution Clean-up Problem

In Saturday's edition of the Northern Watch we reprinted an editorial by Elmer L. Andersen, publisher of the "Anoka County Union" regarding pollution control laws and difficulties. Now Andersen has pointed out a new twist in the pollution clean-up situation which could have additional far-reaching financial effect. Anderson explains the situation as follows:

Possibly the biggest news story in the state last week did not originate at the legislature nor appear in the major dailies, but in the "Princeton Union Eagle."

It told of a reduction in the assessed valuation of the Westling Manufacturing Company property from $974,000 to $100 with a corresponding reduction in the property tax payable to Mille Lacs county from something over $70,000 to $9. This was a decision of the Minnesota Tax court based on a Minnesota Pollution Control Agency determining, in 1987, that groundwater pollution existed in the aquifer under the buildings, the cause of which has not yet been determined.

Westling's lawyers argued that because of the pollution finding the property could not be sold, money could not be borrowed against it; that, in effect, its value had been destroyed and the assessed valuation should be reduced accordingly. Mille Lacs county officials indicate they will appeal to the Supreme Court. As of now it means that the tax rates will have to go up on remaining property if revenue levels are to be maintained.

There are many properties in the state which have been found to have underground water pollution without identifying responsibility or institution correction. Lawyers will be quick to act on the Westling precedent and the effect on local tax revenues and rates could be substantial.

John Westling, president of Westling Manufacturing, says he has been frustrated by the inability to get agreement on a plan to clean up and relieve the property of the blight. The firm has spent $350,000 in studies and legal fees—but the pollution still exists. Part of the problem is a government policy of seeking responsible parties for pollution that happened many years ago, even though the dumping that took place then was legal under then existing laws.

To get somewhere on clean up, it may be necessary to consider prior pollution a public problem and quit spending so much money on endless studies and litigation seeking to pin the cost on some private party. It may be that monitoring performance currently under present law is the limit to the private responsibility. In reality, law or equity, that can be imposed. The goal should be prompt clean up where pollution is found.

Meanwhile, local government could suffer severe dislocations to property tax revenue or face the necessity of substantial tax rate increases. The Westling case is a very important legal development that has had little or no attention outside of the "Princeton Union Eagle."

That concludes Andersen's editorial. The tax court ruling makes a substantial point. That private property which does not have resale or collateral value has little value to the owner at all and therefore is unworthy of assessment for taxation purposes. It makes one wonder if the same reasoning might not be applicable to privately held wetlands which farmers or others may not alter and therefore hold little if any direct value to them. Where will the first test case be on that question?

Postal Service Gets High Winter Performance Rating From Patrons

North Dakota and western Minnesota postal customers gave the U.S. Postal Service a resounding "thumbs up" approval rating in the second quarter of 1993, according to Joleen Baxa, Dakota District customer services manager.

A survey conducted by Opinion Research Corporation indicated that 91 per cent of the households in North Dakota and western Minnesota rated their service "excellent," "very good" or "good"—up two percentage points over the previous year's poll results.

"This is slightly better than the national average of 89 per cent, the highest satisfaction rating since measurement began nearly two years ago," Baxa said. "Expanded retail window hours across the state, parcel delivery on the two Sundays before Christmas and a renewed dedication to customer satisfaction by postal employees made our performance during the holiday mailing season the best ever."

Opinion Research Corporation surveyed hundreds of postal customers throughout the state and asked their opinions on such topics as complaint handling, lobby lines, timely deliveries and employee attitudes.

Baxa didn't give a break-down on the percentage of "excellent," "very good" or "good" ratings, but that isn't the point of the survey. "It helps us keep in touch with the needs of our customers," Baxa said. "By taking their input to heart, we strengthen our commitment to providing and improving our products and services."

Judging operation of the postal service must be a lot like judging officiating of a basketball game: The better the job being done the less you notice it. We have the tendency to be critical of postal service when it lacks perfection, while the truth may be that we have become so accustomed to good service that any deviation from that norm is all the more noticeable. It's good to see the effort being put forth to go the extra step in providing service. It shows a concern for customers, and that's an important part of any business operation.

The Strandquist Senior Citizens are at it again and will have their first meeting this year on Thursday the 6th of May at the Center. It is a lot of fun to get together and exchange ideas and work towards making things to sell or give to anyone who might need them. There is always a sense of friendship in their meetings and I love to attend. See you there!

The big story from Strandquist is the jungle program that will be presented by the elementary students on Monday the 3rd of May at 7:30 p.m. at the school gymnasium. The program will begin by featuring each grade with their own set of songs on a jungle theme.

The first graders will sing "Sneaky Snake" and "The Animal Fair" among their selections; second graders will present the song-story, "Evil Elephant" and the third graders will sing favorites as "The Banana Boat Song" and "The Lion Sleeps Tonight."

Following the concert selections the students will present a musical by Mary Donnelly and George L.O. Strid, which is entitled "It's a Jungle Out There." The story concerns a very unhappy lion, Leo the King (played by Tyler Foss) who complains that there is always too much work to do and he never has any fun. His faithful servants, Spots the Leopard and Striped the Zebra (personified by Michael Bragel and Anna Lavenhagen) are sent on an important quest to find the Key to Happiness. They first meet up with the fun loving animals, the Cheetahs (portrayed by Cassie Steathaug, Nathan Sjoblom, John Folland, Daniel Berggren, Amanda Clinton and Christina Kalinowski). Then they meet-up with the game-playing monkeys played by Vanessa Larson, Amanda Hanson, Zachary Pettris and Jeremy Przybylski, who are "Going Bananas" and are no help at all. They even try to talk to the laughing hyena's (Andrew Halvorson, Aaron Stusynski, Brett Spilde and Ryan Rector) but they think everything is funny. Of course it's the friendly elephants who really know the key to happiness. The talking elephants are Abby Larson, Heidi Johnson, Daniel Stusynski, Nick Schindele, Brian Kleinwachter and Brianna Wojlechowski.

The musical styles range from rap to calypso to sentimental ballad but the students have been working very hard under the direction of Tri-County Elementary Music Specialist, Mrs. Kathy Englund. The 45 minute program is free to the public and is sure to entertain guests of all ages.

Perhaps some folks don't think it important for these children to see their names in print, but today Elphia Adlis told me that recently she had found an article she had cut from the newspaper stating that her children Betty and Larry had received 100 in spelling and arithmetic that week. Betty Johnson, who now lives in Warroad took it home to keep. Elphia and Linda Lou Adlis, Pearl Thompson and Donald Lefrooth visited Elsie Lefrooth on Saturday.

Floyd and Lillian Rux from Erskine visited Mary and Donna Renstrom on Monday after attending Gus Nelson's funeral. Thursday afternoon Waldy Larson and Margaret Erickson of Karlstad visited LaVoi Thun.

Frank and Judy Kleinvachter drove to Argyle to visit Bud and Marie Staffen on Sunday. Later in the afternoon they went to St. Hilaire to visit Kay Turnwall. In the evening Ellen Stromberg, Frank Grechowski, June Kasprowicz and Harold Petersen visited Frank and Judy.

Friday afternoon LaVoi Thun accompanied Arnold and Vernice Larson to Minneapolis where LaVoi visited at Carlyle Larson's. Larry Lorbreki and Bradley Larson's and Arnold's visited their son, Jim and family. They returned on Monday.

Marlen Pedersen visited Frank Kleinvachter's Monday evening and Julius Kleinvachter visited Tuesday evening.

It has been freezing each night for the last three days so it doesn't look like we can begin to plant the garden. Pearl says Peter is out fertilizing his garden patch, and is going to start planting, so maybe we can plant out the dahlias if we dig them down far enough so they won't freeze on Memorial Day.

The wind was blowing a stiff breeze from the north and the building was entirely consumed in about an hour. Nearly all the furniture was saved and by hard work the barn and outbuildings were saved. Mr. Williams estimates the loss at $1,800. He had $1,000 insurance on the building in the Phoenix of Hartford and $500 in the Milwaukee Mechanics. The personal effects saved were moved into the American House and Mr. Williams has already rented that place and opened up business again."

Perhaps you've read or heard of the ceiling collapsing in the Twin Valley school. Sophie Anderson heard from her son, Jon, who teaches there that it was his room. What a shock it must have been to come to school to find such a shambles awaiting one!

Businessmen give mock interviews to freshmen

Thirty-five volunteers from the Thief River Falls business community provided a total of 55 hours of their time last week to cooperate with School District 564 in mock interview days with 165 students, primarily members of the freshman class.

"Participation by the business community was beyond my expectations," noted Cal Lindberg, social studies instructor at Lincoln and coordinator of the event. "In fact, the feedback from both students and interviewers was so positive that we have already decided to do it again next year."

The mock interviews were conducted in conjunction with the ninth grade social studies classes at Lincoln and under the auspices of the "Partners in Education" program. The program is an effort to involve school and community in a cooperative effort toward more meaningful educational experiences for students.

"Part of the social studies unit involves teaching employability skills which will have a long-term benefit for students....and for their future employers," Lindberg said. "In order to provide students with realistic interviewing experience, we sought out business people who would be able to volunteer a few hours to conduct the interviews."

In preparation for the event, students prepared application forms and were introduced to interviewing techniques. They studied employability skills such as dependability, attitude, appearance, ability to get along with people, honesty and communication.

Interviews were held in Lincoln high school guidance offices and involved 20-minute segments for each student and one-hour series for each business volunteer. The 20

TRF Teacher of Year finds advice to teach by in poem

Diane Peterson, fifth grade teacher at Washington elementary school in Thief River Falls has been named 1993 Teacher of the Year in Thief River Falls. Peterson's name will now be among the applications submitted for 1993 Minnesota Teacher of the Year.

Colleagues, friends and parents of students use such words as persistent, patient, caring and a team player to describe her. All seem to agree that she instills in her students confidence, and self-esteem. She teaches them how to cooperate and most importantly — learn to the greatest level of their own individual abilities and excellence.

"I have observed her transition in teaching from lower elementary to upper elementary. Throughout the course of her teaching she is always involved in enriching her own knowledge and sharing it with her students. I have watched her persistently and patiently teach to all her students to learn to the greatest level of their own individual abilities and excellence. In that process she has continually enhanced their self-esteem and personal determination to succeed," said Tippi Benson, school social worker in School District 564.

Diane's mother influenced her choice of careers, but Diane lives by a philosophy of teaching she keeps next to her desk. It is a poem by Kristone that reminds her many times and in many situations that teachers are not just responsible for student's learning, but that they also have an impact on their futures.

If a child lives with encouragement,
he learns to be confident.
If a child lives with praise,
he learns to appreciate.
If a child lives with fairness,
he learns justice.
If a child lives with security,
he learns to have faith.

Challenger is name for new school

Challenger Elementary School will be the name of the new building now under construction to house the entire School District 564 elementary program following action by the board of education Monday evening.

Students and staff at the local elementary schools voted on the three names Monday and the name Challenger came out on top at every one, according to elementary principal Glen Espe.

Life without TV no big deal for Rory Hoven, 11

by Marvia Lundin
Times Editor

A self-admitted "TV zombie" just over a year ago, 11-year-old Rory Hoven has just completed a year without television and isn't eager to resume his habit. He has discovered that there is life without television.

Sunday, May 16, marked a full year since Rory last watched a regular television program under a pact he signed with his mother a year ago. Although the year is up, Rory still hasn't watched a program and isn't in any hurry to do so.

How did it come about that this Washington elementary school fifth grader—the son of Howard and Joan Hoven and normal in every other way—chose to deny himself of what most youngsters his age consider one of life's necessities?

"Mom was on a cleaning rampage," he says of that Saturday in mid-May a year ago. "We (Rory and his sister Becky, a seventh grader) were sitting in front of the TV like we usually were and she told us to clean our rooms. I thought maybe I should make a bet to go without TV for a year."

When he suggested the idea, his mother's reaction was typical.

"Yeah, I bet!" he recalls her saying. "You couldn't make it for three days!"

That's when Rory's determination set in. Although he was devoted to episodes of "Get Smart," "Dream Makers," "Mr. Ed" and "a lot of other shows that were halfway over the world," he insisted he could do without them, so his mom added a little incentive. She told him if he could go without watching TV for a year she would buy him a new Super NES Nintendo which was selling for about $189 at the time.

Rory pushed for her to write the terms down, so she wrote the agreement on a slip of paper, each signed it, and they put it away in a desk drawer. But Rory didn't forget the agreement and turned to other interests to make up the time previously spent sprawled in front of the TV set.

It wasn't always easy to avoid TV with four sets in the house, including one in his own room. That set is now hooked up to a computer. He could hear some of the programs as others in the family watched, but he avoided watching anything himself, shielding his eyes from the set if he walked across the room and groping for the controls with his gaze averted if asked to turn it off for someone else.

Was his determination an inspiration to his classmates? Hardly. "They said I was crazy," Rory admits, "and that nothing was worth giving up TV for." No one was willing to join him in spurning the one-eyed monster.

There were diversions from thinking about what he might be missing by ignoring TV. He got involved with swimming and wrestling, building model cars and airplanes, spending time at the family's cabin—"Hoven's Hideout"—located somewhere "in northwestern Minnesota," Webelos Scout activities, even a little homework.

But the biggest diversion was reading, and Rory took to that like the proverbial duck to water. His teacher—1993 TRFEA Teacher of the Year Diane Peterson—gave him a list of books at or above his grade level. He was loaned books by a teacher neighbor, Sharon Stauss; traded books with his cousin; acquired some of his own; checked

Turning his back on television became a habit during the past year for 11-year-old Rory Hoven, son of Howard and Joan Hoven of rural Thief River Falls. While his parents and sister Becky watched TV, he would read a book or find some other activity of interest. He agreed not to watch television for a year in exchange for a new Super NES Nintendo at the end of that time. After the year was up, however, he opted for a compound bow instead.

Dear Readers,
When death occurs, advance funeral arrangements can help ease a grieving family through a very painful period. Knowing their loved one was able to express what he or she wanted during life, removes the pressure of decision. It also gives the family a lasting peace of mind, knowing they have carried out the personal wishes of the deceased.
Respectfully,
Belmont Funeral Home
Larry Belmont

Sixth Grade Trip!

The sixth grade class with their teacher, Dan Grusted and Florence Tvedt as bus driver, left at 3 a.m. on Tuesday for the annual sixth grade trip to the Cities. The day was packed full of exciting sights and experiences, the Science Museum, Omni Theater, where they saw "Blue Planet," a tour of the State Capitol, visiting the legislative rooms, the view from the top of the building and the statue of the man who designed the building. After checking in at the Kelly Inn, they relaxed in the pool and visited the original Baseball Hall of Fame Museum, and shopped for souvenirs, and took in the Twins-Yankee game. Even though the Twins lost 5-3, it was fun to be there. Bed must have felt good after such a long day! On Wednesday they had breakfast at McDonald's, packed for the homeward trip and then went to the Minnesota Zoo. They viewed many exhibits and rode the Sky Rail tour to see the animals. After dinner at the Dairy Queen in the Zoo, they headed home, stopping in Detroit Lakes for supper, and arriving back home about 7:30 p.m. The meals and expenses were paid for by the class fund.

Don and Lorette Hasse arrived home on Wednesday from a trip to Kennewick, WA, where they visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Schmelzer and all of her family except one. They were on hand for the 50th wedding anniversary of Don's sister, Marlen and Jack Pearson. Also attending from here were Fern and Floyd Hasse and Doris Melwitz. They were able to visit with hundreds of friends while away.

South African group to tour Hallock farm

A group of South African wheat buyers are touring the Lee Pemberton farm near Hallock on Monday, May 31. The tour is open to all interested growers.

The South African group is visiting Minnesota May 26 to 31 to learn more about the hard red spring wheat they can buy from the United States.

The seven-member group includes both flour millers and grain buyers.

According to David Torgerson, Minnesota Wheat Council executive director, South Africa is a potentially large market for wheat because of rapid population growth. "Check-off funds are used to bring these customers to Minnesota and to promote increased wheat exports to South Africa," Torgerson said.

Ed Weise, one of the Wheat Council's wheat marketing professionals, will accompany the team on their visit to Minnesota. Weise works for U.S. Wheat Associates' Cape Town, South Africa office.

"South Africa's wheat import requirements over the next 12 months are expected to be nearly 38 million bushels," Weise said.

The South Africans arrive in Minneapolis on May 26. During their stay, the Wheat Council staff has arranged for visits with representatives of the grain trade, the Minneapolis Grain Exchange and a flour milling company.

For more information call the Wheat Council office at 1-800-242-6118 or (218) 253-4311.

Impressions . . .

Beth Johnson

This is the time of year for dreaming. It is Springtime. Springtime signals the beginning of a new season totally foreign to Winter. Spring causes us to dream. Our dreams may be grand, or they may be simple, but yet they are dreams. Consider for a moment some dreams.

For the graduate of the kindergarten class, there are dreams. These dreams are by both the child and the parents. The child may be dreaming only of summer vacation and the ability to escape from the confines of the classroom for a while. Yet, as the child dreams only of the immediate result of the end of the first year in school, his parents dream of the future they hope to be able to build for him. They dream of the great things he may accomplish. They dream of a life for their child that will not be filled with anguish, but with joy. They dream of a quality of life which they hope their child's education will help to accomplish.

For the graduate of high school, there are also dreams. The high school graduate dreams with a bit of fear and excitement about the days and weeks and years to come. The graduate dreams of places to see and people be may meet. The parent of the graduate also dreams. But, his dreams are mixed with sadness, as the child is now at a point in life where parents will no longer be able to shape his life. Parents now must simply encourage and encourage and encourage their adult child in the endeavors chosen by that child.

For the farmer there are also dreams. Springtime is the time when the ground is readied and planted with seeds. After the planting, and even while the ground is being readied for planting, the farmer dreams. His dreams may be dreams of a bopeful harvest. His dreams might also be tempered with fear that something may not go 100% right in the growing of his crops. The farmer dreams and as he dreams, he waits to see what this year will bring for him.

In the spring of the year those of us who garden, dream. We begin to till our little places on this earth and we begin to better the soil of our gardens. Then we hurry to a greenhouse to choose just the right plants to make our flower beds gorgeous and our vegetable gardens succulent. We dream of picture perfect yards and gardens. We forget to remember that sometimes even the best dreams go awry when we forget to water, or the summer is too cool, or we get too much rain, or maybe even some frost!

Springtime weather is also a cause for dreaming. Remember a few days ago when the temperature was in the 80's? Remember a few days ago when we had frost? Spring causes us to dream about gorgeous weather, but it teases us with all kinds of weather. Spring gives us the luxury of surprise as it changes our plans as it changes the weather.

Dreams are an integral part of our lives. Dreams cause us to try things that maybe are just a bit foolhardy. Dreams cause us to surprise ourselves by what we accomplish as we set out to fulfill a dream. Dreams can be grand, all live encompassing, or dreams can be simple, needing only to be tended by someone to flourish.

Without dreams, life is a void. Can you imagine how dull life would be without the hopes and dreams each person has. Can you imagine how different our lives would be if people had not strived for their dreams in years gone by? Without dreams, there would be no civilization as we know it today. The inventions created by dreamers have changed all of our lives—for both the good and bad.

Be thankful for the dreams you have. Cherish those dreams. Remember the dreams of your youth, consider whether your life has been changed by your dreams, or the dreams of others.

Be thankful for Spring which once again reminds us that to dream is an integral part of all of life.

Two TRF schools provide student with job training

St. Bernard's school in Thief River Falls recently received a special certificate of appreciation from the marketing education program offered through Lincoln high school.

The cooperative program offers students the opportunity to experience on-the-job training. St. Bernard's school became a participant in the program by providing the employment of a student who was interested in receiving such training. The student performed a variety of services for the school while the school provided the guidance and the training needed to perform these services.

The cooperative program is a benefit to all involved as the exchange of services between participants provides everyone with a much needed service. St. Bernard's school is happy to be a part of this program and is excited about the opportunity to promote it as it encourages a cooperative effort to guide, train, and evaluate young people preparing to enter the job market.

. . . So Much to do—So Start Now

Memorial Day is "The Traditional Start of Summer," or TTSS. It should be a day for picnics in the back yard or at the park, a camping and/or fishing expedition, a day at the lake cottage, or some other form of enjoyment in celebration of the beginning of the summer season.

However, there are certain end-of-winter tasks and chores that should be done before TTSS, so that TTSS can be properly enjoyed without a guilty conscience. The problem here is that most of us do not have our end-of-winter tasks and chores done by TTSS, so we must spend the holiday either working on those chores or else spend the holiday feeling guilty about not doing them on our day off.

There is nearly a whole week left before Memorial Day. If you really work at it, maybe you can get your tasks and chores done before the big day so you can enjoy TTSS the way you should. Wouldn't it be wonderful to have all of those nasty, grubby, necessary tasks and chores done by this weekend so you can enjoy yourself?

"Just what tasks and chores are you blathering about?" you ask.

I have made a short, rather incomplete list of chores that need to be done before TTSS. After reading my list, I am sure you can add any number of other things that need doing by TTSS at your house.

You know how it is—it might be nice to get these things done this week—just so your conscience doesn't give you guilty twinges about having a good time when there is so much that needs doing on that day off.

CLEAN HOUSE. Yes, the dreaded task I have been Speaking Of in previous columns. Your indoors should definitely be clean before you start enjoying the outdoors. All of the dust bunnies and cobwebs should be gone so when you return home after enjoying the outdoors, cranky, tired and dirty, you have someplace nice to lay your head and say, "Thank heaven I'm home where there is indoor plumbing and a soft bed and ice in the refrigerator and there are no dust bunnies or cobwebs." You will not be able to say this if your house is dirty.

GARDENS/FLOWER BEDS. I've heard it said that gardens and flower beds should be tilled and ready to be planted on or before Memorial Day. If you are still planning where and what to plant and haven't got your plot ready to go and your little seeds and seedlings ready, you are too late. You will have to spend TTSS doing it.

STORM WINDOWS/SCREENS. Even though it might still be cold, screens should be oo the windows by Memorial Day. That's the way it is. The storm windows should be off, the windows polished to a sparkle, and the screens on (no matter if the first spring rain will spot them up again). If you still have storm windows on your dirty windows you will have to do it on TTSS.

CLEAN CAR. All traces of winter's salt, sand and mud must be off of the outside and out of the inside of the car by Memorial Day. If your car is still dirty, it will have to be done on TTSS.

CLOTHES AND CLOSETS. In hall closets, winter coats, jackets, hats, gloves, mittens, scarves and boots should be cleaned and put away for a few months. These closets should be cleaned and tidied and arrayed with lightweight summer things, like rain coats, windbreakers, umbrellas and sweaters. Bedroom closets should be cleared of winter garb and sport the light, bright colors of summer clothing. If you are still wearing sweaters and other winter wear, beware, because you will be spending TTSS stuck in your closets, won't you?

LAWN. By Memorial Day, lawns should be looking good. They should be raked and mowed and starting to look green and lush. Trees and shrubs should be trimmed of unruly branches. This is the day you will want to have your grill, lawn chairs, picnic table and other summer things out and ready for use, too. You do not want to be raking, mowing the lawn, trimming trees, dragging dirty, dusty lawn furniture out of the garage or cleaning up a grimy grill on TTSS.

CABINS AND CAMPERS. If you are lucky enough to have a lake cabin or camper, these should be spruced up and restocked, ready for use oo this TTSS weekend. There is nothing worse than spending TTSS cleaning a cabin or camper that was left a mess last fall.

BOATS. Very few boat owners have waiting until Memorial Day weekend to get theirs ready for TTSS. The boat is usually ready and waiting long before fishing season opener. If, however, you are one of the unusual people who has not got their boat ready yet, plan to spend this weekend working.

Now that you are feeling properly guilty, like me, have a happy Memorial Day holiday. It is, after all, TTSS!

D. Peterson is Teacher of the Year

If a child lives with approval,
he learns to like himself.
If a child lives with acceptance and friendship, he learns to find love in the world.

"I believe that every student has the right to learn and the right to be successful. I believe that if students know I care about them they will have respect for me and what I do. I believe this respect can be contagious because I have had the joy of observing it being conveyed as they interact with other students and staff in the school building and on the playground," said Peterson.

Peterson graduated with a bachelor of science degree from Mayville State College in Mayville, ND, and in the same year started teaching grade one at Mark Twin elementary school in Thief River Falls. But her career in teaching, or at least her desire to become a teacher was influenced long before she moved to Thief River Falls or graduated from college.

"It all started when I was in third and fourth grade. My mother was my teacher in a one-room country school. We would come to school early so mom could get her plans prepared for the day. My sister and I would get the wood for the stove, carry water, dust and sweep, and put up bulletin boards. During the school day it wasn't unusual to find the older students helping the younger students with their school work, therefore we all became teachers in one sense or another," Peterson said.

"I remember correcting papers, recording grades, cutting out letters, getting the pre-primers ready for her reading groups, and making flash cards for math class. As I entered high school our household became very unique, because my mother and sister were attending college at the same time," she said.

"My mother taught several years on a two-year degree until she graduated with her bachelor of science degree in 1963. My sister graduated with her bachelor of science degree in 1964. This left my dad and myself tending the homefront.

When I started teaching, I was only 20. With my parents support, I was able to get my bachelor of science degree in three years by going to school year around. I credit my family, especially my mother, for influencing me to become a teacher. Her dedication and caring were very important to her and I couldn't help but think, 'I hope I can be like that some day.' It was in 1968 that I could show my mother my first classroom and she could feel a sense of pride when her youngest daughter followed in her footsteps. Before my mother died unexpectedly in 1970, she was able to share with me the commitment and devotion required of a master teacher."

Peterson believes her greatest accomplishment comes from her many former students. When they return to visit with her, for whatever reason, she says, "they all have a certain look in their eyes or a certain tone in their voices. It is when I see these young adults that I experience a feeling of accomplishment and an awareness that I have influenced their lives."

The sense of accomplishment is a result of work in the classroom. At the beginning of the school year, the students and Peterson set goals, emphasize the positive, and engage in social activities that encourage interaction. Short-term and long-term goals are defined and discussed. Collectively the classroom agrees on goals. This year's class developed the following positive statements which are on banners in the front of the room:

- I am a student who tends to my task.
- I am a student who organizes my things.
- I am a student who is here to learn.

Planned activities help students and the teacher get acquainted. The activities, which include outdoor activities, also reveal needs and personalities of students. It also reduces fears and students interact freely and confidently, which aids in the learning process.

Peterson has made the development of self-confidence and self-esteem a priority. She believes a good teacher spends time nurturing students' efforts and praising accomplishments.

Peterson also believes in good communication between teaching staff and good communication with parents. She believes it reinforces and sustains the learning that takes place in the classroom.

As one testimonial stated, her commitment has allowed her to excel in a most difficult profession. But Peterson believes she is representative of the many fine teachers who daily influence the lives of their students.

Diane Peterson, 1993 Teacher of the Year in Thief River Falls, watches an experiment in progress. Nic Miller, Kelly Langness, Lise McKercher, and Trishe Weckwerth play with a laboratory albino rat that was given to the school as a part of a nutrition education project developed by the Dairy, Food and Nutrition Council of Minnesota. The experiment calls for students to observe the behavior and development of two lab rats. One rat is offered milk as part of its diet while the other is offered another beverage. The lack of nutrients visibly effects the growth and behavior of the rat not offered the milk.

Under the watchful eye of Diane Peterson, Lisa Besher and Lindsey Ehrenstrom conduct an experiment. Diane Paterson, fifth grade teacher at Washington elementary school in Thief River Falls, was recently named 1993 Teacher of the Year in Thief River Falls. She is now among the applicants being considered for Minnesota Techer of the year.

Fifth grade teacher at Washington elementary school and 1993 Teacher of the Year in Thief River Falls, Diane Peterson, offers assistance to Juston Anderson. Behind Anderson is Ryen Johnson. Peterson was selected as Teacher of the Year and will now be among the applicants considered for Minnesota Teacher of the Year.

38 youth cited after raid

Thirty-eight citations for drinking by an underage individual were written by Marshall County Sheriff's Department after conducting a raid at the Meadowbrook Ballroom.

Sheriff Dennis Brekke said eight deputies and himself went to the Meadowbrook Ballroom at about midnight May 24. Brekke said the doors were locked and between 50 and 60 identifications were checked. A breathalizer was also used by officers. Of those individuals checked, 38 citations for underage drinking were issued. Brekke explained that it hasn't been determined whether the youths had obtained alcohol at the Meadowbrook Ballroom. The establishment holds a license for consumption and display which means customers can bring alcohol with them and intoxicating beverages are not sold at the establishment. (3.2 beer is not, by statute, considered an intoxicating beverage.) The investigation into where and how the youths obtained alcohol is still being conducted.

Burglary at Kruse In

Pennington County Sheriff's department is investigating a burglary that took place at the Kruse In early Saturday morning.

The burglary was discovered when the store was opened at about 5 a.m. Saturday. Sheriff's deputies were able to place the burglary at between 2 and 3 a.m. Saturday morning because power to the gas and convenience store was cut before the person or persons broke in to the store. After thieves broke into the store, the store's safe was dragged across the floor and out of the store where it was hauled away. The safe contained some lottery tickets, a business checkbook and about $500 in cash. Damage to the building was estimated at $500.

Youth breaks arm in fight

A broken arm resulted from a fight between two 14-year-old boys outside a downtown restaurant Monday.

Police in Thief River Falls received a report from Northwest Medical Center about a 14-year-old boy being treated for a bloody nose, bruises and broken arm. The youth had been involved in a fight with another 14-year-old boy outside a restaurant on Third avenue. The other youth had a bruise on his head.

Charges are pending against following the conclusion of an investigation into the incident.

On Monday, police received reports of three flags taken from display poles in the downtown area of Thief River Falls. The flags are the property of the Sons of the American Legion. The theft loss was estimated at $30.

On Sunday police received a report of the theft of two flags from Franklin Middle School. The two three-foot by four-foot flags, one American and the other a Minnesota state flag, were valued at $40.

Eighth graders learn of travel in FMS classes

Need information on foreign travel? After visiting with your friendly travel agent, you might try talking with one of Mrs. Diane Marshall's eighth grade geography students at Franklin middle school in Thief River Falls.

Members of the classes have been planning individual trips to places all over the world as a final project for the year's studies. Each student chose a foreign country he or she might like to visit in the future and conducted research relative to traveling there.

Sources of information were Swanson Travel and Bergan Travel in Thief River Falls as well as people from the community who were known to have traveled or lived in the countries of choice. Materials available at the school or public library were also used.

"They presented their travel plans to the class," Mrs. Marshall said, "including their itinerary, budget, map, transportation, lodging, clothing necessary, pictures and souvenirs from the country and a list of cultural differences."

Mrs. Marshall said the students became familiar with the economics and politics of the country as well as its traditions and points of interest to visit.

"The students are now aware of a variety of important things to know before they start traveling," she said. "This project provided a practical application of information and sources learned in the class throughout the school year.

"By studying a country in depth and learning about how to get there and what to see and do there, the students learned that countries are much more than places on a map that seemingly have no relevance to them. They found out a lot about the people and traditions of countries and I hope they have developed an interest in learning more and in future travel."

Mrs. Marshall said she "never" gives A-plus grades, but that four of the travel projects were so outstanding that she made an exception in her usual marking pattern. The students who received A-plus grades—Tiffany Brouse, Katie Kraemer, Natalie McFarlane and Stephanie Wold—are pictured with their project displays in this issue of The Times.

Katie Kraemer selected the Philippine Islands for her travel destination in eighth grade geography class at Franklin middle school. Her project research and display earned one of four A-plus grades from teacher Diane Marshall.

Stephanie Wold collected a number of items include a walking stick and a spear for her display on Kenya in Diana Marshall's geography class at Franklin middle school. She researched the country as part of an assignment to plan a trip to an individual country anywhere in the world. Her effort earned an A-plus grade from her instructor.

Natalie McFarlane is shown with her A-plus display on Australia as the country she selected to research in Diane Marshall's eighth grade geography class at Franklin middle school. Natalie received one of four of the top grades based on the excellence of her project.

Tiffany Brouse conducted her eighth grade geography research project on South Korea as a travel destination, earning one of four A-plus grades from teacher Diane Marshall who says she "never" give A-plus grades but made an exception due to the quality of the projects.

Senior spelling bee scheduled in Crookston

Seniors from the seven northwestern counties of Minnesota will compete for the regional spelling championship at the Golden Link senior center in Crookston June 8 at 1:30 p.m. Two champions will receive trophies and advance to the state senior spelling bee in Owatonna August 11 and 12.

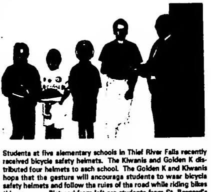
Local spelling bees were held at senior centers throughout the region during May, with two finalists from each advancing to the regional competition in Crookston.

"Spelling bees are spectator events as well as intellectual challenges for participants," says Faith Rud, director of the Northwest Area Agency on Aging.

Members of senior groups which have not participated in the events are encouraged to attend so they can observe the process and prepare for the fourth annual senior bee in 1994. Crookston Park and Recreation and Golden Link senior center are sponsoring the 1994 statewide competition with Emilio Anderson as coordinator.

Refreshments will be provided. Golden Link senior center and Northwest Area Agency on Aging are co-sponsoring the educational opportunity for seniors with funding provided under the Older Americans Act through the Minnesota Board on Aging and Crookston Park and Recreation.

Participants and observers who are interested in having a noon meal at the Golden Link prior to the spelling bee are encouraged to call 281-6270 and make a reservation at least one day in advance.



Students at five elementary schools in Thief River Falls recently received bicycle safety helmets. The Kiwanis and Golden K distributed four helmets to each school. The Golden K and Kiwanis hope that the gesture will encourage students to wear bicycle safety helmets and follow the rules of the road while riding bikes this summer. Pictured from left are students from St. Bernard's in Thief River Falls: Jackie Mooney, Carolyn Paulson, Logan Kalinoski, Kelly Cota and Hardy Hodge of the Golden K.

Ninth graders get message on making choices

John Metzger, a school board member and USWest employee at Fisher, presented a program entitled "Choices" for ninth graders at Lincoln high school in Thief River Falls recently.

In the presentation made to each freshman class over a two-day period, Metzger attempted to show students how many choices they have that will affect their future lives and broaden their perception of what to anticipate after their high school experience.

After taking the class though a typical week's time, Metzger noted that 62 hours, or about 35 per cent of a student's time, is open to individual control. He asked them to think about whether two hours a night spent on homework—leaving 48 hours to two whole days free—is too much to ask of oneself.

In one exercise a student was asked to play the role of a high school drop-out who has just received his/her first paycheck. Other students were designated as employer, Uncle Sam, landlord, grocer, Mr. Utility, etc. Money exchanges were made to demonstrate the realities of what it costs to live.

Metzger noted that many students now in school can expect to pursue several careers in a lifetime, which increases the importance of providing oneself with options to change careers.

"Seek the highest level of study and the highest level of performance according to your individual interests and abilities," he said, "not just for the sake of a higher level of achievement, but to increase the options available to you after graduation."

Rory Hoven gives up TV for a year to collect bet

them out from the school or public library. During the year his mother's record shows that he read 81 books, many of them lengthy and several listed as classics.

In addition to the books he read his copies of "Boy's Life" scout magazine, "Discover" magazine from the National Geographic Society and his father's "Outdoor Life" and other hunting magazines.

His teacher, Mrs. Peterson, said that Rory's vocabulary and general knowledge were increased by his reading but the absence of TV didn't make a perceptible difference in his grades.

And she adds that Rory did watch videos for educational projects in school along with others in his class and some home videos as well.

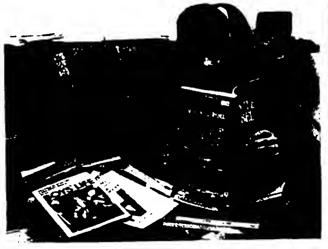
What did Rory miss most as a result of his agreement not to watch TV?

"The Olympics," he said. "Mom told me it was O.K. to watch the Olympics but I wouldn't. And the stuff about the elections—I couldn't watch the elections to figure out what they were lying about."

But the year without television did change his attitude a bit. He decided he didn't want the new Nintendo that was part of the deal as much as he would like a compound bow of his own. He wants to practice so he can go deer hunting with his dad this fall.

And there's one other thing he would like to do as well—challenge other youngsters to go without TV for at least half a year. "Life is what you make of it," he said.

He probably read that somewhere.



Reading became a primary interest for Rory Hoven after he decided to give up watching television for a year. Since May 16 of 1992 the Washington elementary fifth grader has read 81 books, including several classics, as well as magazines and other materials.

Local business people help with student interviews

minutes included time for the business person to complete a student evaluation sheet following the actual interview.

When students were excused from class for their interviews, they took with them a previously written application form. They were instructed to apply for an entry level position for a realistic summer job in Thief River Falls.

Interviewers reviewed each application as they conducted the interview. The rating sheets were completed for the benefit of the students, indicating where they were perceived to do well and in which areas they could use improvement. Students were rated on initial greeting, eye contact, posture, clear and appropriate speech, response to interview questions, overall appearance, overall preparation and closing and departure.

Conducting the interviews were the following: Emery Lee, Property Management Services; Roger Reuter, Norwest Bank; Mike Parker, Northwest Medical Center; Dolly Hallstrom, TRP Technical College; Dick Spyhalski, Northwest Medical Center; Don Jorstad, TRF Technical College; Chad Larson, Jubilee Foods; Diane Johnson, Corner Drug; Ken Murphy, Pennington county commissioner; and Mary Martell, Pizza Hut;

Also Arlo Rude, City of Thief River Falls; Dale Dillon, Paint & Glass Interiors; Bob Bergan, Chamber of Commerce; Deb Zak, U of M Extension Service; Ev Ault, KKAQ radio; Barb Kalinoski, Thief River Falls public library; Carl Clark, Brodin Sheetmetal; Earl Gibson, retired bank examiner; Randy Berberich, Lincoln; Laura Langer, Hardee's; and Jeff Hays, Pamida;

Also Jon Braband, Northwest Medical Center; Mary Thorstad, Danny's Pizza; Dick Bjorkman, Bjorkman's Clothing; John P. Mattson, Thief River Falls Times; Ray Safranski, Anderson Poissant Kays & Co.; Curt Neumann, First National Bank; and Charles Samoelson, retired Northland Community College instructor;

Also Jean Heinrichs, Thief River Falls city council member; Melba Laidley, Arctco, Inc.; Lowell Enerson, Red Lake Watershed District; Mike Barry, Pennington Square; Orin Green, Green Funeral Home; and Kim Adolphson, Maurice's.

Lindberg expressed his appreciation to all who took time to assist with the program and make the mock interviews more meaningful for the students.

Tucker seeks endorsement for 1B seat

Dave Tucker

East Grand Forks businessman Dave Tucker has announced his intention to seek Independent-Republican endorsement for State Representative in Minnesota House District 1B. A vacancy in the position has been created by the resignation of Rep. Wally Sparby.

Tucker has been active in the Independent-Republican party for many years and made two unsuccessful attempts for election to the House of Representatives in 1986 and 1988 from District 2A. Redistricting in 1991 changed district boundaries and included East Grand Forks and part of Polk county in District 1B.

Tucker is a lifelong resident of Polk county, was raised on a farm near Angus and attended school in Warren and Crookston. He is an advertising consultant in the East Grand Forks area.

Dave and his wife Myrna have been married for more than 30 years and have three grown daughters, Renae Hillestad, Robyn Rupp and Nancy Tucker.

Tucker says there is a "need to check the arrogance in St. Paul. We need term limitations for legislators and the voters should have the right to vote on term limits. He cited the "telephone cover-up of this last session and the lack of a hearing for better workers compensation reform" as examples of legislative arrogance.

"We need to get fiscal responsibility back in the legislature," he said.

TIMES FOR TODDLERS

ACTIVITIES

Sand Play

Summer and sand and children are natural friends. Children really like to spend a lot of time in the sand areas, so today it may be wise to look at ways that this time may be the most fun, safe and productive for your child.

Outdoor sand areas should be covered if possible. It is not pleasant or healthy for children to dig in the same sand that cats and neighborhood wild creatures have been using.

The toys that work very well for children in the sand are the traditional pail and shovel; cars, trucks and other transportation toys; dishes and cooking utensils.

It is wise to place the outdoor sand area where there is natural shade or have a roof over the area to prevent sunburn to the children who will spend many hours in the sand area.

Now it is time to enjoy this area. Remember that adults can also enjoy playing in the sand with a favorite child.

SCAVENGER HUNT

For next week's Activities feature, you will need your time.

BOOK OF THE WEEK

The Thief River Falls public library invites you to browse through their new selection of children's books including the following:

Darling, Benjamin. Valerie and the Silver Pear. While searching for the legendary "silver" pear, Valerie and her Grandpa face a real dilemma on what to do with all of the pears they picked. The solution has all the right ingredients as they create their own pear legend.

Eisenberg, Phyllis Rose. You're My Nikki. A little girl has lots of worries when her mom goes off to work. In this warm and loving story all children will discover that love has no baoundaries.

VIDEO VARIETY

Madeline. Madeline is a perky, popular girl who charms her classmates with fanny pranks and youthful wit. This beautifully animated classic will touch your heart as you watch Madeline's classmates turn the tables when she needs her appendix out.

PARENTING TIPS

Traffic Safety

As parents, we realize that traffic safety is important. Motor vehicles are the leading cause of death for preschool children. Children need to be educated to recognize and safely deal with traffic hazards.

Two things parents can do to help prevent accidents are:

1) Teach children about and model safe walking behavior.

2) Closely supervise children near traffic.

Several characteristics of "normal" young children makes traffic safety a challenge. For example, young children are in a hurry to explore their environment and want to be independent. But children lack the experience to judge the speed of an oncoming car. Furthermore the child's height restricts his/her view around parked cars. Children are impulsive and may dart out after a toy (often a ball) without thinking about safety rules. As parents, we need to remember that it takes years of experience, maturity and practice for children to learn how to be safe in traffic.

(Contributed by Mary Lee Broten, teacher in the Early Childhood Family Education department of School District 564.)

SOMETHING TO TALK ABOUT

Help your child understand where the boundaries are. The word "curb" for example, means nothing, until you explain it to your child. Remember that your child may need to see and touch the curb to really understand the meaning.

Rachael Goes To England!

Rachael, daughter of Bill and Henrietta Ness of Thief River Falls, left on Monday for a trip to England. On her trip Rachael is accompanied by friends and classmates from the Flight School in Scottsdale, AZ, where she is a student. She has been invited to be a houseguest at their parental homes during her stay in England. She also expects to visit the area where her great-grandfather, William Shadrack Austin lived before coming to America. Mr. Austin came to America as a young boy and settled on a farm north of Gonvick in Winsor Township. On this farm, Rachael's grandmother, Lilly Ness, and uncles, Art and Ray Austin were born and raised, enjoying true English food and the English way of living. Lilly is anxiously waiting to see Rachael when she returns, to hear how her descriptive interpretation of the beauties of England compare to her dad's reminiscent remarks about "Good Old England." - by Senny Brovold.

"Lest We Forget" topic for address on Memorial Day

Dr. Donald R. Pederson
Lt. Col., USAF Reserve (Retired)

"Lest We Forget" will be the title for the Memorial Day address to be given by Dr. Donald R. Pederson at services scheduled for 11 a.m. Monday, May 31, at Friendship Gardens in Thief River Falls. In case of rain the services will be moved to the city auditorium.

Dr. Pederson is senior pastor at Redeemer Lutheran Church in Thief River Falls, moving here from Juno Beach, FL. He served in the U.S. Air Force from 1954 to 1959 and from February of 1971 to May of 1974 was a chaplain in the Air Force with duty assignments at Richard-Gebaur AFB in Missouri, Ching Chuan Kang AFB in Taiwan, and Langley AFB in Virginia.

In his chaplaincy he was responsible for providing worship, education and pastoral care to active duty personnel and their dependents. He designed and established the first-ever comprehensive alcohol/drug education program for the U.S. Air Force in Taiwan and Thailand and provided an extensive education program in marital and family relations, parenting and conflict resolution.

He wrote several brief how-to manuals for individuals and families on topics such as separation from loved ones, stress management, grief and communication.

Presiding at the Memorial Day service will be Stan Bement, commander of Ecklund-Holmstrom Post 117 of the American Legion and John Ellison, commander of Post 2793 of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Colors will be advanced by color guards from the American Legion and VFW posts and their auxiliaries. Dr. Pederson will give the invocation and the Lincoln high school band under the direction of Bruce Felt will play "God Bless America."

Following Dr. Pederson's address, the band will play "Armed Forces Salute" and wreaths will be placed by Annabelle Cuppett, president of the American Legion Auxiliary and Kathy Aune, president of the VFW Auxiliary. Salute to the colors will be presented by Company B of the National Guard.

"Taps" will be played by Liza Hoaas, Dr. Pederson will give the benediction and the color guards will retire the colors to conclude the ceremonies.

Honored guests at the program will be Gold Star parents from the community.

"Both veterans organizations and their auxiliaries are honored to bring these services to the public in tribute to our departed comrades, and to all who have passed from this life," Commander Bement stated. Arrangements for Memorial Day services this year are the primary responsibility of the American Legion post.

Gil Gutknecht (IR) says Governor big winner this session

Gil Gutknecht
IR-Rochester

Gil Gutknecht, House Assistant Minority Leader (IR-Rochester), stopped in Thief River Falls Thursday to discuss the 1993 legislative session. Gutknecht, who is expected to announce next week that he intends to conduct an exploratory campaign for Sen. Dave Durenberger's seat, also stated his support for the Independent Republicans who intend to run for Rep. Wally Sparby's vacated seat in a special election this summer. The date for that special election had not been announced as of Thursday afternoon.

It isn't unusual for members of either political party to fan out after the legislative session to announce their successes and condemn actions of the other party. In his first visit to Thief River Falls, Gutknecht said Governor Carlson was the big winner this year while special interest groups were the big losers.

"This 'Phonegate' legislative session did produce results for Minnesotans," Gutknecht said. "I score this session as Taxpayers 2, Special Interests Zero."

"For once, the public put a halt to the arrogant tax and spend practices of the DFL-controlled legislature. The people's calls and letters are being answered today."

"I commend the governor for his insistence that the state's future budget must be brought under control," Gutknecht said. "Otherwise we will be rushing from budget crisis to budget crisis."

Gutknecht called the events culminating in the end of the legislative session Monday night as bizarre. On Friday, Gutknecht explained, the Governor and the Department of Finance looked at the figures and discovered that Minnesota could find itself in the red. Gutknecht said the Governor believed this could be mismanagement. He then realized that $100 billion had to be cut from the budget and proposed a 1 per cent cut across the boards.

Gutknecht believed by 6:30 p.m. Monday they had a deal. The Senate approved the proposal and sent it to the House. House DFL leadership then recessed to consider the proposal, came back at about 11:30 p.m. and the proposal was defeated 75-56.

It didn't make any sense, Gutknecht said. Approved, the proposal would have been a win-win proposal for the legislature because it wouldn't affect legislative priorities and if it went wrong they could have blamed the Governor.

Gutknecht said the bill in dispute would have enabled Gov. Arne Carlson to meet a budgetary crisis by using a 1 per cent cut in state spending if revenues do not meet expectations in November 1993 and November 1994 and the cash flow account falls below $400 million.

The governor said the nation's long-term economic picture is uncertain, citing a drop in the economic growth from 4.4 per cent in the first quarter to 1 percent in the current period and a projected 1 per cent growth in the third quarter.

When the House refused to give the governor the tools to control spending in an economic downturn, Governor Carlson vetoed the $4.2 billion human services and the $2 billion higher education bill, Gutknecht said. The governor and the DFL House were about $160 million apart, based on their differences in the size of the cash flow account.

Gutknecht said that hopefully when the legislature reconvenes for a special session, clear heads will prevail.

"On the state level, the 1993 Legislature accomplished an important goal — holding down spending and halting another escalating round of taxes," Gutknecht said.

"When Phonegate threatened DFL legislators, their first response was to send up a trial balloon with 'tax increases' written on it. Only the combined efforts of the governor and a veto-proof House forced them to back down."

Gutknecht said Republicans in the Legislature, both the Senate and House, waded in to the campaign finance issue and got a better bill — one that Governor Carlson could sign.

"Last fall, House Republicans proposed a meaningful campaign finance reform package and introduced it when this session began. Under the terms of the new law, the laundering of campaign money will be outlawed, and contributions by PACs and individuals will be tightly controlled."

Gutknecht, who serves as an assistant minority leader with House Republic Leader Steve Sviggum of Kenyon, said the Minnesota Legislature enacted improvements in the criminal justice system, tried to provide equitable funding for all children and reworked the MinnesotaCare legislation.

New laws contained in the crime package make schools safer, ensure juries get complete information when DNA evidence is presented in court, and help provide a solution in the metro area dealing with victims of stalkers, he said.

"Education funding is never easy, even though the legislature appropriated $5.2 billion for children in kindergarten through senior high school," he said. "The bill attempts to provide equitable funding for all children, although more work will have to be done in the future to end disparities between school districts. The reliance on property taxes for schools may have to be changed in the future." Governor Carlson has signed the K-12 bill.

Prowlers win Hibbing title

Wins over Duluth Central 9-4, Superior, WI 10-0 and Hibbing 8-7 gave Thief River Falls championship honors at the Hibbing Invitational high school baseball tournament over the weekend.

"It was an outstanding weekend for us," said Thief River Falls coach Tracey Wensloff after the title-winning effort completed a 14-4 regular season for the Prowlers. "I was very pleased with our pitching; our defense was very solid, and we hit the ball against some pretty good pitching. It was a great way to end the regular season."

Bemidji, Sauk Rapids, Cloquet, and Virginia were also part of the eight-team tournament field.

Thief River Falls will take a six-game winning streak into 1993 North Sub-Section 8AA tournament play, which was scheduled to begin today (Wednesday) with No. 3-seeded Thief River Falls hosting No. 6 Detroit Lakes at 4:30 p.m. and No. 4-seeded Bemidji entertaining No. 5 Alexandria at 1 p.m.

First round winners advance into the double-elimination position of the tournament starting Saturday when the Bemidji-Alexandria winner will be in Fergus Falls to take on the No. 1-seeded Otters at 12-noon and the Thief River Falls-Detroit Lakes winner heads to Moorhead to meet the No. 2-seeded Spuds at 6 p.m.

Play continues Tuesday, June 1 and Friday, June 4, in Moorhead.

Three walks set the stage for a four-run Thief River Falls first inning as the Prowlers began their Hibbing Invitational title run with a 9-4 Friday afternoon win over Duluth Central.

Those first inning runs scored on a two-run Nathan Knutson single, a sacrifice fly by Steve Burslie and a wild pitch.

Eric Bjorgaard pitched six innings for the win. Marc Haugen worked the seventh in relief.

Jeremy Olson got out of a bases-loaded, one-out first inning jam and went on to pitch a one-hit shut out as Thief River Falls handled Superior 10-0 in the Saturday afternoon semifinals.

Olson walked five and struck out five. He gave up three of those walks in the bottom of the first.

A 13-hit Thief River Falls attack included two hits apiece for Jason Svir, Wade Evenson, Carter Rogalla, and Joby Looker.

Hibbing ........ 7

Thief River Falls scored six times in the top of the seventh, then held off a Hibbing threat in the bottom of the inning as the Prowlers got by the host Bluejackets 8-7 in a down-to-the-wire championship game finish.

Hibbing combined a pair of walks with a pair of base hits in a four-run sixth to shatter a 2-2 tie.

But the 6-2 deficit didn't stop the Prowlers, who used five hits, three walks, a sacrifice fly and a wild pitch to score the half-dozen runs in their final at-bat.

A wild pitch scored the first run of the seventh, with a sacrifice fly by Jeremy Olson and a fielder's choice RBI by Jason Svir making it 6-5. Run-scoring singles by Carter Rogalla, Marc Haugen and Steve Burslie completed the comeback.

However, the action continued in the bottom of the seventh when Hibbing made it a one-run game and had runners at second and third when the game finally ended on a strong play by Rogalla at shortstop.

Rick Ostby pitched the first five innings for the Prowlers, with the win going to Haugen in relief.

Rogalla, Haugen and Ostby had two hits apiece.

Northland won the opener 5-4, but Fergus Falls took the second game 6-2 Saturday in a season-ending Minnesota Community College Conference baseball doubleheader played in Thief River Falls.

The Pioneers finished the year 11-16 overall, 10-10 in the MCCC Northwest Division.

"We played well in the first game," said Northland coach Terry Wiseth. "We got ahead early and put pressure on them. It would have been nice to finish on a winning note. It's a little frustrating because we know we're as good as any of the teams in the league."

The doubleheader split advanced second place Fergus Falls into the MCCC state tournament, along with Northwest Division champion Itasca. Two losses Saturday would have kept the Spartans out of the playoffs.

Northland ........ 5
Fergus Falls ........ 4

Mitch Bernstein, Roger Bienusa and Ross Blakeway had two hits apiece as Northland singles overcame a Fergus Falls grand slam home run in Game 1 – won by the Pioneers 5-4.

Rob Larson of the Spartans erased an early 4-0 Northland lead with his bases-loaded homer in the fourth – after Northland pitcher Parrish Tatum had issued three consecutive full-count walks to load the bases. But Fergus Falls picked up just two other hits off the Tatum and Bernstein, who got the win with four innings of relief work.

The Pioneers broke the 4-4 tie on a sixth inning RBI single by Nolan Desjarliat.

Fergus Falls combined 11 hits with four Northland errors as the Spartans came up with a doubleheader split, 6-2.

Todd Martin was the starting and losing pitcher. Just like in the opener, Mitch Bernstein came on in relief in the fourth.

Ryan Bothum and Bernstein both had a pair of hits, with Bothum driving in both Northland runs.

The Pioneers hurt themselves by leaving 11 runners on base.

TRFAHA summer camp is cut back

Due to poor registration, a planned month-long Thief River Falls Amateur Hockey Association Summer Hockey Camp has been tentatively reduced to a two-week run.

First week (June 6-12) and fourth week (June 26-July 3) sessions have been canceled, with TRFAHA now offering June 13-19 and June 20-26 skating.

Players who registered for the first and fourth weeks have been sent letters to see if they can change their plans and register for the new two-week camp. These players must notify Ron Novak (681-3959) by May 27 if they are willing to switch dates. TRFAHA officials will then make the final decision, based upon registration figures, to operate the two-week camp, or cancel the project altogether.

EGF meet ends track schedule

Final regular season high school track meet Monday produced almost identical finishes for the Thief River Falls boys and girls at the East Grand Forks Lions Invitational.

Thief River Falls boys finished fifth in a 10-team field with 69 points, while the Thief River Falls girls placed fifth in a field of nine with 68 points.

Marshall County South boys won team honors with 132 1/2 points, followed by Crookston with 125, East Grand Forks 87, Stephen 75, Thief River Falls 69, Mahnomen 45, Win-E-Mac 14, Climax/Norman County West 13 1/2, Fisher 12, and East Grand Forks Sacred Heart 4.

East Grand Forks led the girls team totals with 161 points, followed by Stephen with 83, Crookston 81 1/2, Marshall County South 77 1/2, Thief River Falls 68, Climax/ Norman County West 43, Win-E-Mac 43, Fisher 13, and East Grand Forks Sacred Heart 6.

The Prowlers will compete in the North Sub-Section 8AA meet Thursday at 3 p.m. in Alexandria. Top seven finishers in each of the individual events, along with the top four places in each relay race, will advance to the Section 8AA meet June 5, also in Alexandria.

"We're pleased with the way the season went," said Thief River Falls boys coach Tim Olson, who figures to have a solid group of Section 8AA qualifiers advancing through Thursday's meet.

Two Thief River Falls boys had first place finishes Monday as Shane Skeim reached 156-11 1/2 in the discus and Jon Hendrickson ran a 2:07.43 in the 800 meters.

Lone first place for the Thief River Falls girls came in the 4x800 relay, where Leah Helgenset, Angie Klinker, Sanna Torgerson, and Lisa Swanson ran a 10:47.

"We scored some points, which is always a positive," offered Thief River Falls girls coach Glenn Chiodo.

Chiodo also anticipates a strong group of sectional qualifiers from among the Thief River Falls girls. "The people who have been there all year should be there again," he said. "Some of the others will have to pick it up a notch."

AVOID THE GIFT BLUES!

Late spring often brings gift giving with graduations and weddings. Cameras, jewelry, VCR's and personal computers may wind up going to graduates or newly weds. If you automatically assume that all of these items are insured by your homeowners policy, you might be in for a rude surprise.

Many people with homeowners insurance have not purchased the necessary coverage for these types of valuables. Homeowner policies usually insure items such as jewelry, but only up to a limited amount, and for specific causes of loss.

An option that gives a broad range of coverages is a personal property "floater". It provides coverage against more perils and it insures against higher-dollar losses. Besides fire and theft, a floater would cover mysterious disappearances such as a diamond falling out of a wedding ring.

Stop at NORTHERN STATE AGENCY to inquire about a personal property "Floater" or any of your other insurance needs. The office of NORTHERN STATE AGENCY is located in the Northern State Bank building. Office hours are 8:30-4:30 Mon. - Fri., 8:30-6:00 Thurs.

Jacks end TRF softball season

Bemidji shut out Thief River Falls 10-0 Monday in first round North Sub-Section 8AA high school softball tournament play.

The loss ended the Prowlers' season at 6-12. The 11-6 Lumberjacks advance into the four-team, double-elimination portion of the tournament in Alexandria.

Originally scheduled to be played in Bemidji, the game was switched to the fairgrounds diamond in Thief River Falls because of the wet condition of the Lumberjacks' diamond. The Lumberjacks were seeded No. 3 in the six-team tournament; the Prowlers were No. 6.

No details were made available.

Star of the North registrations due for summer meet

Less than two weeks remain for Minnesota amateur athletes to meet the final registration deadline for team sports and pre-registration deadline for individual sports at the 1993 Star of the North Summer Games June 15-27 in the Twin Cities North Metro Area.

Five team sports featured in the 1993 Summer Games include baseball, basketball, soccer, softball, and volleyball. Entries will not be accepted after June 1 in basketball, soccer, softball and volleyball. The registration deadline for baseball is June 8.

June 1 is also the pre-registration deadline for participants in 31 individual sports and recreational activities. Individuals receive an entry fee discount of $4 if their registration materials are postmarked by June 1. Entries received after that date are not eligible for the $4 discount even though the final registration deadline may be later or there is on-site registration.

Entry materials for the 1993 Summer Games are available at local community education offices, park and recreation departments or participating sporting goods retailers. Individuals can also receive a copy of the participant registration handbook by calling 1-800-756-STAR.

Star of the North State Games is recognized and endorsed by the U.S. Olympic Committee, National Congress of State Games, Minnesota Amateur Sports Commission and Minnesota Recreation and Park Association.

More than 300 teams representing five sports have already registered to compete in the 1993 Summer Games.

Pre-registration totals already include a record number of basketball teams (196) in 27 males and female divisions from across Minnesota. The previous high for participating teams in basketball was 183 at the 1989 Summer Games in Burnsville.

Record for team participation is 542, also established at the 1989 Summer Games.

Fish consumption advisory suggests possible hazards

Minnesota Department of Health has issued a new Minnesota Fish Consumption Advisory booklet which lists test results from many of the state's lakes and rivers as well as suggestions to reduce potential hazards to health from eating fish which may be contaminated.

The advisory shows Lake of the Woods and Upper Red Lake to be virtually clear of contaminants for most species. An exception is the Rainy River from International Falls through Four Mile Bay on the inside of Pine Island to the Morris Point Gap.

Northern pike less than 20 inches in length have not been tested on Lake of the Woods and northerns under 15 inches have not been tested on Upper Red Lake. The larger northerns are shown to be acceptable for unlimited use for several weeks of the year, twice a week for several months of the year and once a week for the entire year.

Walleyes up to 15 inches in both Lake of the Woods and Red Lake are free of food use restrictions. Walleyes over 15 inches are classified for suggested use of one meal a week for the year, two meals a week for several months and unlimited use for several weeks.

On the Rainy River, Dioxin has been found in all species. All sauger of any size and walleyes, northern pike and smallmouth bass of 15 inches and larger are suggested for consumption of one meal a week for several weeks, two meals a month for several months and one meal a month for the full year due to mercury found in fish tested.

In the Rainy River, PCBs have been found in lake sturgeon 30 inches and larger with no testing of smaller sturgeon.

The Department of Health said a meal is considered to be eight ounces of fish for a 150 pound person. One ounce of fish may be added or subtracted for each 20 pounds of body weight. For instance, one meal is assumed to be seven ounces for a 130-pound person and nine ounces for a 170-pound person.

Considered to be especially sensitive to the effects of mercury are children under the age of six years, nursing mothers, pregnant women and women who may become pregnant in the next year or two.

Other information and suggestions for which fish to keep to eat, how to clean and prepare them is included in the book. Copies are available at DNR or PCA offices in Bemidji, Grand Rapids, Brainerd, Detroit Lakes, Duluth, Marshall, New Ulm, Rochester and St. Paul as well as some local DNR offices throughout the state.

Central Marshall Project schedules area town meeting

Central Marshall County Project Future Committee has scheduled an area-wide town meeting June 8 at 7:30 p.m. in the Newfolden Community Center with all residents of the Viking, Newfolden and Holt areas encouraged to participate.

Members of the committee will share results from the recent community engagement meetings with the Viking, Holt and Newfolden city councils, senior citizen groups, fire department, ministerial association, merchants association, Lion's club, Women's club and Marshall County Central high school students.

An overview of all the suggestions and ideas that were received during these meetings will be presented in one of the presentations on: Economic Development, Housing, Seniors, Youth/Education, Public Services and Recreation.

"Following the presentations, area residents will be asked to volunteer to serve on one of the six action teams, to accomplish the goals set forth by the community, improving the quality of life for all," states Susan Skadsem, vice chairman of the committee.

To add interest to the evening, the committee is planning a free ice cream social with plenty of ice cream and toppings for all, along with coffee and other refreshments.

"This meeting will be a bold new step toward the future prosperity of our community," Skadsem said. "Together we can make a difference."

Glen Proechel of Red Lake Falls won the senior spelling bee late last week at the Heritage Community Center in Thief River Falls. Runner-up was Genevieve Homstad (left) of Thief River Falls, the 1992 winner, and third place winner was Reyme Melin of rural Red Lake Falls. Proechel is now eligible to advance to the Region 1 contest June 8 in Crookston. He won the contest by correctly spelling the word "embarrassed" which Mrs. Homstad missed, then correctly spelled "interference" to win the spelling bee.

Dear Parent,

Once again, we are nearing the end of the school year. In the coming weeks your son or daughter may be joining others in Graduation Night Celebrations. This is an exciting time for young people on this very special occasion.

It's also an exciting time for you as parents. You have watched your child grow over the years both physically and emotionally. There were times when you wondered if you could survive their growing up, and now that Graduation Night is at hand, and celebration plans are underway, the question is, "Can we all survive it?"

If you are planning to host a party AT YOUR HOME OR OTHER LOCATION SUCH AS A HOTEL OR MOTEL, carefully consider your responsibilities in doing so. Please remember that SELLING, FURNISHING OR SERVING ALCOHOL to minors is a criminal offense in Minnesota. It is a gross misdemeanor which can result in up to one year in jail and up to a $1,000 fine. In addition, any adult who knowingly provides alcoholic beverages to a minor can be exposed to personal liability for injuries that result from that minor's intoxication.

The combination of drinking and driving is one of the leading killers of young people between the ages of 15 and 24. Last year, several young people under the age of 21 in our state alone, died or were seriously injured in alcohol-related traffic crashes.

This is one of the most memorable occasions for your son or daughter. Teach them to celebrate SMART!!! Please accept the enclosed brochure to further answer any questions you may have about minors and alcohol. Make sure your Graduation Celebrations for minors are chemical-free.

Sincerely,

Gerald E. Moe & Ken Froschheiser

Sheriff Gerald E. Moe

Police Chief Ken Froschheiser

1. WHAT IS CONTRIBUTING TO THE DELINQUENCY OF A MINOR? It is a misdemeanor for any person to in any way encourage, cause, or contribute to the delinquency or deprivation of any minor (Minnesota Statute 260.315). Providing alcohol or drugs would be construed as contributing to the delinquency of a minor.
2. WHAT ARE THE LEGAL CONSEQUENCES FOR CONTRIBUTING TO THE DELINQUENCY OF A MINOR? There are both criminal and civil legal consequences that can result from contributing to the delinquency of a minor by providing the minor with alcohol or other drugs.
3. WHAT ARE THE CRIMINAL LEGAL CONSEQUENCES? Contributing is considered a misdemeanor which carries a maximum penalty of 90 days in jail, $700 fine, or both.
4. WHAT ARE THE CIVIL LEGAL CONSEQUENCES? A lawsuit could be filed against the adult who provided the alcohol or drugs if any injury should occur. An example would be a minor who acquires the alcohol in your house and then injures or kills someone else in a car accident. The resulting civil lawsuit could be for damages limited only by the mood of the jury.
5. WHAT IS THE DRAM SHOP LAW? This law was enacted to make liable any person who knowing supplies alcoholic beverages to anyone under 21 or to an intoxicated person. The law applies to individuals and businesses.
6. WHAT IS SOCIAL HOST LIABILITY? Social host liability is an extension of the Dram Shop law which stipulates that a person serving or supplying alcohol to a minor is liable for damages in a civil lawsuit. In one lawsuit, a neighbor who served as bartender for a graduation party was held liable in addition to the parent.
7. CAN PARENTS OR SOCIAL HOSTS FACE CRIMINAL CHARGES? Yes, any adult who supplies a minor with alcohol could face charges of contributing which carries a maximum fine of $700, 90 days in jail, or both.
8. WHAT ARE THE PENALTIES FOR BEVERAGE DEALERS FOR PROVIDING ALCOHOL TO MINORS? Beverage dealers could have their license suspended or revoked. The person making the sale would face criminal charges for contributing to the delinquency of a minor. If damages or injuries result from the sale, the dealer could be named in any lawsuit.
9. ARE THERE LIMITS TO THE AMOUNT OF PERSONAL LIABILITY IN A CIVIL LAWSUIT? The jury could award any amount of damages in a lawsuit. A persuasive lawyer and a case which creates a sympathetic jury could produce awards in the million dollar plus range. Personal assets may not be protected from this judgement.
10. DOES YOUR HOMEOWNERS' INSURANCE COVER LIABILITY WHEN ALCOHOL IS INVOLVED? Homeowners' insurance is intended to cover those incidents for which the results were not foreseen or intended. A violation of the law, such as providing alcohol to minors, could eliminate any responsibility on the part of the insurance company.
11. COULD PARENTS BE HELD LIABLE IF THEIR MINOR CHILD CONSUMES ALCOHOL OBTAINED FROM THEIR HOME? The parents could be liable in a civil lawsuit. If the parents knowingly and willingly provide the alcohol to the minor, the outcome of the lawsuit would be very predictable. If the parents did not have a locked liquor cabinet and the alcohol was accessible to the minor, the parents probably would be held liable even if it was consumed without their knowledge. The parents could also be liable if their minor child provides alcohol to another minor even if they have no knowledge that this was done. Alcohol is a controlled substance and parents need to ensure that this is not readily accessible to minors.
12. COULD PARENTS BE HELD LIABLE IF THEY RENT A HOTEL ROOM FOR THEIR MINOR CHILD AND ALCOHOL IS CONSUMED THERE? The parents could be held liable even though they did not know alcohol was being consumed. There is no limit to the amount of damages that could be recovered in a civil lawsuit if some injury should occur in which the minor was at fault.
13. WHAT RESOURCES ARE AVAILABLE FOR MINORS IN NEED OF HELP WITH ALCOHOL/DRUG PROBLEMS? There are several local agencies that can provide services or direct you to the appropriate agency. Consult any of the following: School personnel/counselors, School addiction counselors, Native American program office, Treatment Centers, Clergy and church personnel, and Law Enforcement.

Strandquist

Thursday Pearl Thompson, Elsie Lafrooth and Agnes Vagle accompanied Betsy to Maria Johnson's for WMS.

The weather in this part of the country is the most disturbing news we have. On Thursday it reached 90 above and on Saturday morning it was about 28. There was frost on the ground and when half the population of the valley was shivering at the doors for the garage sales to open up, the snow flakes were flying, not a lot, but it did reach the ground in some places near here. It is hard to make up your mind to wash and put away the long handled underwear yet!

Tracy, Kim and Kevin Kraft of Minot, ND, drove over on Friday evening to visit Elphie Adle on Mother's Day, and returned home Sunday afternoon. On Saturday they visited George Jr. and Joyce Wickstrom where they were joined by Cory and Lori Wikstrom and boys in Karlstad.

Julius Kleinvachter and Marian Pederson visited Frank and Judy Kleinvachter on Monday evening.

Peter and Pearl Thompson celebrated their grandson, Brian Johnson's birthday at LaVonna Johnson's on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Monroe were Monday evening visitors at LaVoi Thun's. LaVoi Thun visited Anna Hansen and Ella Thun in Thief River Falls on Thursday afternoon.

Agnes Vagle, Pearl Thompson and Elsie Lafrooth attended the Spring Concert at the Heritage School on Thursday.

Roy Vagle and I returned home on Friday evening from a trip to Springfield, MO, where we attended the graduation ceremonies of Jane Vagle, daughter of Royle and Marie Vagle of Springfield. Jane graduated "Cum Laude" from Evangel College for which we were happy. In the evening we enjoyed a get-together with the Dan Vagle family from Colorado, and Kirk Vagle's from Delaware at the Royle and Marie Vagle home.

On Saturday we went to Branson, MO, to see the sights and shop. In the evening we went to hear Wayne Newton at his fancy place, and sat through an hour of agony listening to music so loud it rocked the building. If anyone plans to go hear some of those performers they should first get a tape of that kind, and find out if you can stand that many decibels for an hour. I did enjoy visiting President Truman's museum at Independance, MO, and also Jesse James home, and all the things they had from the Civil War at Kearny. We spent a couple of days in Minneapolis visiting Mark Vagle's, and took in a concert that Justin Vagle played in. We did enjoy one of his baseball games while there. On Wednesday evening we saw the play "The Toymaker's Dream" at the Bloomington church where Ervin Strandquist's son is the pastor.

We came home in time to cover up the glade which had poked through while we were gone. Roy put the bricks away today telling me enough of that! It is the 17th of May today, so that Norwegian thinks he's boss!

The Senior Citizens of Strandquist have had two meetings already, and on Thursday will meet again. The first time Gladys Johnson was the hostess and Ivan Kimbrough won the door prize. The next time Helen Jacobson was the hostess and Marge Wollin won the door prize. They got right down to business and made one quilt and started another. They also began making pillows to have on hand to sell. We will see you on Thursday!

Paul, Kristopher and Kenrick Anderson were part of the Karlstad Gospel Tabernacle Youth group who took part in the Praise God Parade in Grand Forks on Saturday.

Marcy and Jerry Johnson from Thief River Falls visited Ellen Stromberg on Saturday.

Elsie Lafrooth, Betsy Thompson and Pearl Thompson attended the spring concert at the Strandquist gym featuring the K-3 children, under the direction of Kathy Englund, the music teacher at Tri-County schools. There were about 250 friends and relatives there to enjoy a wonderful presentation.

Don and Vangie Carlson were Saturday evening visitors at LaVoi Thun's.

Mertys Lafrooth spent Wednesday until Friday visiting at her daughter's home in Kandiyohi. Melanie works at the Social Service office in Willmar. It was very wet in that part of the country, and about a week ago a tornado hit a farmstead three miles away taking out several buildings.

Saturday afternoon Scott and LaVoi Thun visited Ella Thun at Valley Home at Thief River Falls, and in the evening LaVoi visited the Don Carlsons in Karlstad.

Visitors at Elsie Lafrooth's on Saturday were Elphia Adlis, Kim and Kevin Kraft of Minot, ND, and Pearl Thompson.

BIBLE STUDY

How do we walk in the Spirit?

After you read through this Bible study, go back and look up the Scriptures and highlight them in your Bible.

It is common for people to be confused by the expression, "Walk in the Spirit." Let's analyze what it means to walk in the Spirit.

The Bible says that if we live to the flesh, we will die (Rom. 8:13). Living to the flesh is practicing the evil deeds of the flesh (Gal. 5:19-21; Matt. 15:19; Rev. 21:8). When we are baptized, we agree not to live in the flesh or live for self any longer, but to repent and start living for God by living to the Spirit. God is that Spirit, and He wants to be worshiped in spirit and in truth (John 4:24).

If we perform only God's Will in our daily walk with God, we will not carry out the desires of the flesh (Gal. 5:16). If we carry out the desires of the flesh, that is sin (1 Peter 4:1-2). But if we keep God's Will, we overcome evil by doing good works (Rom. 12:21). If we are zealous for good works, we leave no room for our old selfish will to operate (1 Peter 3:13). Thus, we are putting to death the sinful deeds of the body by living to the Spirit, which is living for God (Rom 8:13).

God wants us to consider ourselves as dead to sin but alive to righteousness, by presenting our bodies as slaves to righteousness daily (Rom. 6:11; 1 John 3:7). We prove whose side we are on when we live as slaves to Jesus Christ (1 John 3:10). We continue doing this until we pass the hypocritical stage of the Pharisees and begin doing the Will of God gladly from the heart (Matt. 5:20, Eph. 6:6).

God is glorified by good works (Matt. 5:16). We are admonished to be sure to engage in good works and to learn righteousness because this is how we walk in the Spirit (Titus 3:8, 14). Salvation is a free gift that cannot be earned, but it only goes to those who are repentant and live to serve others for the glory of God. Remember always, you were saved to serve.

IMAGINE THESE ON A STEAK.

Grilled steak. What meal could be so satisfying? Or simple? Even dressing it up with a side of grilled vegetables won't slow your trip to the table. This is what instant gratification is all about.

4 boneless beef chuck eye steaks, cut 1" thick
¼ c steak sauce
2 Tbsp each packed brown sugar and fresh lime juice
¼ tsp ground red pepper

Combine steak sauce, brown sugar, lime juice and red pepper; reserve 2 Tbsp marinade. Place beef steaks in plastic bag, add remaining marinade, turning to coat. Close bag securely and marinate 10 min. Pour off marinade. Place beef steaks on grid over med coals. Grill 14 to 20 min for rare (140°) to med (160°) turning once. Brush with reserved marinade during last 2 min of cooking. Season with salt, if desired. 4 servings.

So choose a nice chuck, fire up the grill and watch the lines form for dinner.

Memorial Day Messages

Today as the Memorial Day observance rapidly approaches, we offer two viewpoints—the first from the military viewpoint and the second from a more general perspective. We hope you will find in them something to make your observance of the holiday more meaningful.

MEMORIAL DAY GLORIFIES PEACE WON BY AMERICA'S PATRIOTS

by Roger A. Munson, National Commander
The American Legion

The observance of Memorial Day offers an opportunity for all Americans to stop and reflect on the unique history of the United States and our rights and responsibilities as citizens.

As the national commander of The American Legion, I represent more than 3.1 million men and women who have served this nation during a time of war. We know first-hand the sacrifices that all of America's veterans have made to preserve our way of life.

Make no mistake. Memorial Day doesn't glorify war, for no one hates war more than those who've fought the battles. To the contrary, Memorial Day glorifies peace by reminding Americans that we are entrusted with remembering those who paid the ultimate price so that our great country would endure.

Their selfless sacrifice spans the history of America, from the Revolutionary War to Desert Storm. These patriots left their homes and families when their country called and gave their last full measure of devotion in defense of freedom.

Today, in tens of thousands of homes, a carefully folded and lovingly preserved American Flag rests in a place of honor—a token of a loved one's sacrifice for his or her country.

That flag, which once draped the coffin of a service man or woman, holds tears and a lifetime of memories. It offered pride to accompany the pain and sorrow of those whom the fallen had left behind.

It is fitting that we celebrate on Memorial Day the freedom that has been won and sustained by these fallen heroes. They answered their country's call, put themselves in harm's way, placed the welfare of their comrades ahead of their own safety and put duty ahead of personal interests. Their sacrifice must never be forgotten.

As we pay tribute to America's fallen sons and daughters, let us realize that the United States remains the envy of the world.

What is it about America that has drawn citizens of foreign lands for more than two centuries? Why do people to this day leave their homelands and risk death aboard rickety boats on the high seas to reach our shores? The answer, of course, is freedom. It's the freedom which the patriots of this country established with their lives. Freedom of speech, freedom of religion, freedom of the press, and our rights to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness are unique throughout the world.

Our Constitution, our great democratic process, have survived over the centuries while the unsound governments of many other lands are but the dust of history. Our country has endured because it was founded on principles that are right and true and worth dying for.

Let us never forget that Americans have given their lives in defense of these fragile freedoms that we, in America, have the luxury of referring to as "rights." Let us never take for granted what America's patriots have died to preserve. Let us humbly celebrate these freedoms today. That is the best memorial.

MEMORIAL DAY: REMEMBERING WITH LOVE

by Elizabeth Levang, Ph. D.

For most of us, the month of May is marked by jubilance and promise. May also has one of the most important holidays in the life of our country, our community. That day is Memorial Day.

Memorial Day is the national day of mourning. Since the Civil War, we have set aside Memorial Day, or Decoration Day, as an observance that gives tribute to all Americans who died in the service of our country.

Memorial Day is a day of remembering. It is a day to offer thanks. A day to honor all the brave, courageous men and women whose sacrifices have given us life.

Memorial Day validates our right to mourn the death of those we love. On no other day of the year is this right so expressly given. Originally specified as a day to memorialize service personnel, Memorial Day now honors and remembers all who have gone before us in death. It allows all of us as a community, a nation, the opportunity to publicly demonstrate the love—and the pain—we feel for those who have died.

Many families who observe Memorial Day or who have established traditions report feeling better for having done so. They often have a cathartic experience that leads to new strength and a feeling of hopefulness about life.

Visiting the cemetery, flying the American Flag, or participating in formal patriot ceremonies are common observances of Memorial Day. Other ways to honor your loved ones may be to:

(1) Donate time or money to a cause that your local veterans organization endorses and supports;

(2) Visit a nearby hospital or nursing home—bringing a wreath or flowers in memory of your loved one.

(3) If you can't personally visit the cemetery where your loved one is buried, you can order a wreath through your local florist for personal delivery. You might also consider sending a handwritten letter or copying a poem that holds special meaning for you and asking cemetery staff to place it at the gravesite.

(4) If you do visit the cemetery, think about bringing a few extra flowers to be shared with those gravesites marked as "unknown soldiers" or one that looks like it needs a little special consideration.

(5) Plant a tree or memorial garden to honor your loved one's life. You may choose to create this memorial in your own yard or possibly at your church or synagogue, a local school, or even on the grounds of a nonprofit or other helping agency you support.

LETTERS

To The Editor:

Note: This letter was sent to the principal of Franklin Middle School and then released to The Times by Ron Novak.

I want to take this opportunity to send this letter of commendation to all students, teachers, chaperones, bus drivers, and anyone else who accompanied this group of students on their recent trip to the Twin Cities.

Everyone here at the Days Inn West Bloomington was so proud of the way each of them conducted themselves. We heard nothing but compliments from members of our staff as well as many, many guests staying here.

You should be proud of them and the school should be very proud of each of them. They represented Franklin Middle School in a most positive manner.

We enjoyed hosting them and would not hesitate to book representatives from Franklin Middle School with us once again. They truly were a very polite and well mannered group.

I hope their visit to the Twin Cities was all they desired and that the return trip home was safe and enjoyable.

Please convey to all the parents how exceptional these students were and we want to stress they should be very, very proud.

Sincerely,
Sandi Jellum

To The Editor:

The Minnesota Alliance for Progressive Action (of which the Northwest Senior Federation is a member) is angry and frustrated with both the Governor and the Legislature for their failure to pass tax fairness reform this session. The people of Minnesota have every right to be angry. Their calls for tax justice have gone completely unanswered.

Four months ago, representatives from the Northwest Senior Federation joined with people gathered in seven cities around the state to demand "fairness for a change." We called for tax relief for low and moderate income Minnesotans, a move away from property and sales taxes and greater fairness in the income tax. Whether through specific action or indifference, our state officials have shown a disregard for these requests.

The Governor sacrificed the well-being of the vast majority of Minnesotans to protect the affluent. He vetoed the Omnibus Tax Bill containing tax relief for low income families and renters and the income tax increase on the state's wealthiest.

Governor Carlson is not alone in abandoning most Minnesotans. With the exception of a few individuals, the Legislature showed a surprising lack of resolve and vision in challenging the Governor and standing up for the state's citizens.

MAPA, the Northwest Senior Federation and a coalition of over 50 organizations pledge to continue to fight for tax fairness. We are disgusted, but not defeated.

Sincerely,
Marion Gusa, president
Minnesota Senior Federation

To The Editor:

EMS personnel respond to your need for emergency care with speed and professionalism. They devote their lives to saving the lives of others. Who are these emergency medical specialists?

They are emergency medical technicians (EMTs), paramedics, first responders, emergency nurses and physicians. They are firefighters, dispatchers and law enforcement officers. They are the emergency medical services response teams who help more than 85 million Americans each year.

Please take this special time during Emergency Medical Services Week (May 23-29) to salute the men and women dedicated to helping the sick and injured. Northwest Minnesota Emergency Medical Services Corporation joins with others in the community to recognize our emergency medical personnel for their dedication to serving others. Remember, the next family they help could be yours.

Sincerely,
Doug Pederson,

ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR

St. Hilaire, Polk County, Minnesota — May 31, 1893

From Newspaper Files Of One Hundred Years Ago

County Division

"It is stated that Red Lake Falls, East Grand Forks and McIntosh have held a meeting and will join together in trying to divide Polk County into four parts making Crookston and each of the above named places a county seat. Fortunately we have plenty of time to think it over as the election will not occur until the next general election. In the meantime it would be a good plan for St. Hilaire to unite with Fosston, Fertile and Fisher and go into the county division scheme on its own hook."

St. Hilaire Dramatic Club Reviews

"A person signing himself 'a victim' writes from Red Lake Falls a would be sarcastic article to the Crookston Times concerning Prof. Gambell's Dramatic troupe which played at Red Lake Falls last week. A careful perusal of the article clearly indicates that the writer was a debauched satellite of some saloon or notorious resort who, thinking that the production of a play like 'Ten Nights In a Bar Room' would hurt his chosen occupation, seeks in an underhand way to stab the authors in the back. The author of the article was too cowardly to sign his name but he can hardly be blamed as doers of disreputable deeds always work in the dark."

Legal Notices

NOTICE
COMBINED NOTICE OF FINDING OF NO SIGNIFICANT IMPACT AND NOTICE OF INTENT TO REQUEST RELEASE OF FUNDS
May 26, 1993

CITY OF GOODRIDGE
CITY CLERKS OFFICE
GOODRIDGE, MN 56725
(218) 378 4555

TO ALL INTERESTED PARTIES, GROUPS AND PERSONS

The purpose of this notice is to identify two separate but related actions to be taken by City of Goodridge, Pennington County of MN.

On or about June 9, 1993 the City named above will request the Division of Community Development (DCD), Minnesota Department of Trade and Economic Development, to release Federal funds under Title 1 of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974, as amended (PL 98 181) for the following project:

The Goodridge Project
Owner Occupied Housing Rehabilitation
Water Distribution System Replacement
CITY OF GOODRIDGE
PENNINGTON COUNTY
MINNESOTA

Finding of No Significant Impact

It has been determined that such request for release of funds will not constitute an action significantly affecting the quality of the human environment and the above named City has decided not to prepare an Environmental Impact Statement under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (PL 91-190).

The reasons for such decision not to prepare such statement are as follows:

1. None of the project activities to be undertaken will effect any known local, state or national historical archeological resources presently listed or potentially eligible for listing in the National Register of Historical places in any state or local registry.

2. The project will not effect protected or endangered wildlife or vegetation.

3. Some increase in noise, dust or other nuisance levels may occur during construction, however, such disturbances shall be temporary and will cease upon completion of the project.

An Environmental Review Record respecting this project has been made by the City named above that documents the environmental review of the project and more fully sets forth the reasons why such statement is not required. This Environmental Review Record is on file at the above address and is available for public examination and copying, upon request, at the City Office between the hours of 1:00 P.M. to 4:00 P.M.

No further environmental review of such project is proposed to be conducted prior to the request for release of Federal funds.

Public Comments on Finding

All interested agencies, groups and persons disagreeing with this decision are invited to submit written comments for consideration by the City to the Office of the Mayor. Such written comments should be received at the City Hall on or before June 9, 1993. All such comments so received will be considered and the City will not request the release of Federal funds or take any administrative action on the within project prior to the date specified in the preceding sentence.

Release of Funds

The City of Goodridge will undertake the project described above with Block Grant funds from the Division of Community Development (DCD) under Title 1 of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974. The City of Goodridge is certifying to the (DCD) that the City of Goodridge and David Brown Certifying Officer, in his official capacity as Mayor consent to accept the jurisdiction of the Federal Courts if an action is brought to enforce responsibilities in relation to environmental reviews, decision making and action; and that these responsibilities have been satisfied. The legal effect of the certification is that upon its approval the City of Goodridge may use Block Grant Funds and DCD and the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development will have satisfied their responsibilities under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969.

Objections to Release of Funds

DCD will accept an objection to its approval only if it is on one of the following bases: (a) that the certification was not in fact executed by the certifying officer or other officer of the grantee approved by the DCD; or (b) that Goodridge's environmental review record for the project indicates omission of a required decision, finding or step applicable to the project in the environmental review process. Objections must be prepared and submitted in accordance with the required procedure (24 CFR Part 58) and may be addressed to the DCD, Trade & Economic Development at 500 Metro Square, 121 7th Place East, St. Paul, Minnesota 55101-2146.

Objections to the release of funds on bases other than those stated above will not be considered by DCD. No Objections received after June 24, 1993 will be considered by the DCD.

What about the safety of our children?

In our industry, it makes good sense to think safety day-in and day-out. But what about the safety of our children?

Far too often, missing and exploited children are a fact of life in today's world. But, like the demands of the traffic system, there are steps you can take to protect your children from these unthinkable consequences:

How To Help Your Children Protect Themselves

First of all, TALK to your children about some of the dangers they may face in your absence and tell them WHY it's important for them to follow these guidelines.

Guidelines For Your Children

- Never get into a car or go into a house without your parents' permission.
- Don't give any information over the phone to someone you don't know.
- Always play and walk to school and stores with friends.
- Never go anywhere with anyone without your parents' permission.
- Always keep your parents in sight in a public place. If you are separated from them in a store, ask a clerk for help.

First benefit set for girl with leukemia

Dinner at Plummer to raise funds for Julia Baron

by Marvia Lundin
Times Editor

What began as a routine trip to the doctor for a suspected ear infection turned into a time of fear and then a quest for hope for Jim and Sharon (Kauppila) Baron of Thief River Falls and their daughter Julia, age two and one-half.

Julia has been diagnosed with chronic myelogenous leukemia, an adult version of the cancer that is rare in children. Her condition has been stabilized with chemotherapy but her greatest hope for recovery lies in a bone marrow transplant for which one very special donor is needed.

Friends and acquaintances of the family through the Plummer Lions and Lioness clubs have arranged a benefit for Saturday, June 5, from 5 to 9 p.m. when a grilled turkey dinner will be served at the Plummer community center. Tickets are $5 for adults and $3 for children 12 and younger. Matching funds will be supplied by Plummer Branch 2444 of Aid Association for Lutherans. Jim Baron teaches in the Plummer school system.

Local Girl Scouts conducted a service project for the Barons in April by holding a bake sale. Other fund-raisers are also being planned.

Julia Baron

It was Saturday, March 27, when Sharon brought Julia to see a doctor in Thief River Falls. She believed the youngster had an ear infection, but the doctor could find no infection and became suspicious of the symptoms. Results of a blood test showed an extremely high white cell count and the doctor immediately referred Julia to Fargo.

"The count was increasing so rapidly that it had doubled between the time it was checked in Thief River and tested again in Fargo as soon as we could get there the same day," Sharon said. "Normal count is between 5,000 and 10,000. Julia's count was 400,000 and they didn't know if they could save her."

Tiny Julia, weighing only 34 pounds, underwent a full-scale effort to save her life. Chemotherapy and doses of antibiotics were started immediately by injection, oral medication and IVs.

She was put on a blood filtering machine twice which drew the blood from her body, filtered it to remove the white cells, and replaced it. Because of her size, additional fluid had to be added to fill the machine and permit the filtering to be done.

Julia was terrified. How could a person so young know that all the poking by strangers was being done out of caring in an effort to save her life? The ordeal was just as painful for her parents who did their best to

Commissioner of Labor and Industry visits

Commissioner John Lennes of the Minnesota Department of Labor and Industry stopped in Thief River Falls last Wednesday morning to feel the public pulse and found the patient alive and kicking.

At a morning session held at the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce office, the Commissioner reviewed some of the actions of the legislature and gave high marks to Thief River Falls legislators Sen. LeRoy Stumpf—who was in attendance at the morning session—and Rep. Wally Sparby—who recently resigned his House seat to accept appointment as state director of the federal Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office in St. Paul.

Lennes said that Sen. Stumpf works closely with the commissioner's office and was a chief author on a bill in which employers and employees would share in savings on workers compensation insurance. He said the system seems to work for some companies internally, and bears serious consideration on a public level.

It was when he mentioned legislation adopted in the 1992 session which was intended to provide a 17 per cent reduction in workers compensation costs that he struck a nerve while feeling the pulse.

Russ Christianson, general man-

Commissioner John Lennas of the Minnesota Department of Labor and Industry met with local business representatives last Wednesday morning at the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce office to receive input regarding legislation of interest to business around the state.

Commander Crawler loaders are being constructed in "cell-build" fashion at Hydra Mac, Inc., in Thief River Falls. Two employees build each of the machines from the floor up in one location in the plant, rather than moving the machine down an assembly line. Orders for the three models of Commander units have created the largest dollar volume of back-orders for Hydra-Mac products in the company's history.

Business boom hits Hydra-Mac in T.R.F.

Participation in one of the world's largest construction equipment exhibitions in late March gave Hydra-Mac, Inc., of Thief River Falls the exposure it was looking for to introduce its new Model 8000 Commander Crawler. The result was a flood of orders and extensive interest by a number of individuals and companies in becoming dealers or sales representatives.

"Our exhibiting and demonstrating at ConExpo '93 in Las Vegas, NV, resulted in over 300 sales leads from representatives and customers world wide," states Gary Flynn, vice president of sales and marketing.

"Our current back order of machines exceeds $2 million and is the largest back order of Hydra-Mac products in the history of the company. Nearly 70 per cent of the business is in the three models of the Commander crawler which is constantly becoming a larger part of our business."

Hydra-Mac introduced its first crawler model front-end loader—the Model 4200— in 1991 and it was cited by "Construction Equipment Magazine" as one of the 100 most significant products of 1991. In 1992 the company introduced the Model 12000 and it was also selected for the same award.

Flynn said the Model 8000, which is between the other two models in size, attracted a great deal of attention at the Con Expo show. "We just did some minor demonstrating on the parking lot," he said, "but every time we started the engine there would be people two deep around the retaining ropes to watch the crawler in action."

Since Hydra-Mac builds only to order, the machines under back order are guaranteed sold. If no further orders were received, Flynn said, the current orders would keep the plant at peak production into August. But that doesn't seem likely, since sales are exceeding current production.

Inquiries about becoming purchasers of units or serving as exclusive representatives were received at the show in Las Vegas from companies in Australia, Iran, Kuwait, Mexico, Taiwan, Thailand, United Arab Emirates and the United Kingdom.

The company is currently represented in Saudi Arabia, Austria, Belgium, South Korea, Columbia, Canada, China, the Philippines, Spain and Puerto Rico with the company shipping to these foreign destinations monthly. A west coast regional sales manager for the United States was added recently.

In an effort to keep pace with the demand, Hydra-Mac is expanding its fabrication and assembly line and the plant crew has been put on overtime. The company has also been looking for additional qualified workers but has had difficulty in finding them.

Two engineering students from the University of North Dakota have been hired to assist in development of the cell-build concept of construction for the Model 8000 and Model 12000 Commander crawlers. Under this concept, the loaders will be built by two-man crews in one area of the plant rather than moving down an assembly line like the wheel-type skid-steer loaders and the Model 4200 crawler.

Flynn said that 100 per cent of the Hydra-Mac facilities are now in use and that Hydra-Mac is the only

. . . Hi Ho, To the Auction I Go

I went to my first auction recently. I may have made a big mistake.

I found out it was fun. In fact, it was so much fun that I could easily become addicted to it.

There in front of me was all of that good stuff that I could buy for next to nothing, just by holding up my little number card. So easy!

There was such a vast variety of objects—all over the place everything anyone could want. I saw so many things I would like to have.

There were large things, small things in bunches in boxes, antique things and brand new things. Some things looked valuable, others looked like junk. With my eye for antiques, I bet the stuff that looked valuable to me wasn't, and the stuff that looked like junk were the treasures.

I didn't know much about auctions before I went to one. At first I had trouble understanding what the auctioneer was saying, but I sat quietly and listened hard and soon found myself understanding that special auctioneer language.

I wasn't sure about bidding at first, either, but I watched and learned from others. I think the secret to successful bidding is to keep a straight face. There must be a rule that says, "Do Not Smile. This is Serious Stuff."

Really, there isn't much smiling going on during the bidding. Oh, sure, people smile and laugh between the bids. In fact, I thought it was a pretty jovial auction, all told. Of course I have no other experience to base my assumptions upon, but everyone at this auction seemed happy enough.

It was just that they did not smile and laugh during the bidding. Everyone was dead serious and straight-faced, especially those who were bidding on something.

Of course, I just assumed that all of the people around me had been to many auction sales, but I've been thinking and maybe, just maybe, some of them were like me and couldn't understand the auctioneer language very well. Perhaps they were listening hard to make sure they didn't bid on something they didn't want or pay more than they should and that is why they were so serious about it all.

Anyway, I found out myself that it is very easy to get involved in the bidding at an auction. All I had to do was wave my number card around and I had made a bid. Never mind that I forgot to listen to what the auctioneer was saying so I had no idea as to what amount the bidding was, I just waved that number. (Lucky there was someone else bidding too and they waved their number card after me, because by the time I got around to waving my card the bidding had gone far beyond what I wanted to pay.)

Person must keep their wits about them at an auction, because things move along very fast. One minutes you are bidding on something for a dollar and the next minute the bid is up to fifty dollars. If you have let your mind wander, you may end up buying something you really didn't want for an awful lot of money. This is not good.

People who talk with their hands, like me, have to be especially careful at auctions. I made sure I kept my number card in my purse when I didn't plan to bid on something, because every so often I would start carrying on a conversation with someone and start waving my hands around. I knew that if I had my number card in one of my hands, I might be accidently bidding for something I didn't want.

For that matter, I could even be bidding against myself for something, because when I am talking about an important subject, I really wave my hands around a lot.

I found that I really liked that auction. I would like to go to more. In fact, I have been looking at the auctions listed in the Watch and think I would like to go to all of them.

The only thing about going to auctions that is bad is that it takes up so much of my time. Nothing gets done at home! I spent my entire Saturday sitting at an auction and had to do my laundry that night! But once I was there I didn't want to miss a minute of it for fear there would be something wonderful up for bids and I would miss it.

So, as you can tell, I thoroughly enjoyed my first auction. There is nothing like feeling you have gotten something good for very little money, is there? Anyway, "One man's junk is another man's treasure"—or maybe it is, "One man's treasure is another man's junk?"

Commissioner of Labor and Industry visits TRF to feel the public pulse

ager of the Northern Pride turkey processing plant in Thief River Falls, took issue with the purported 17 per cent saving.

"You talk about the legislature providing a 17 per cent saving in workers compensation," he said, "and my insurance representative hits me with a 46 per cent increase in premium. In the last 10 years we have paid out $600,000 in premiums and had $60,000 in claims. How does that 17 per cent help our company?"

Lennes admitted that the statewide decrease in rates did not have the same benefit for all companies, but offered that Northern Pride's situation was "better than it would have been without the bill" and that it did "tighten up some parts of the system." He said state-wide the pay-out by companies selling workers compensation insurance is 70 to 80 per cent of the premiums paid in.

The commissioner noted that studies have shown that health care for people receiving workers compensation is twice as costly as for those receiving regular health care, primarily due to the frequency of check-ups.

He also said that a new fraud unit has been created in his department to deal with some of the abuses under workers compensation, but that it is difficult to prove intend to defraud. And he said there may be some truth to the suggestion that "when you have the Minnesota system, who needs fraud?"

Attorney DelRay Sparby questioned if there was much effort in the 1993 legislature to effect more change in workers comp after passing changes a year ago. Lennes agreed that there was a lack of concerted effort by legislators and by business in that area this session.

He said that what makes it extra difficult for Minnesota is that while the state ranks high in workers compensation costs, every state surrounding Minnesota is in the lower third nationally. In the period from 1979 to 1991, he said, Minnesota lost 20 per cent of its employees in goods-producing businesses. Many manufacturers went out of business, moved or chose to expand elsewhere.

Brief discussion was held on communities or other groups forming to self-insure themselves for workers compensation as many of the larger private companies in the state have done.

"The State of Minnesota is self-insured," Commissioner Lennes said meaningfully, "and we're not about to change!"

Dear Readers,
May 30, 1868, was proclaimed as a time for civil war veterans to pay public tribute to their departed comrades. America's 125 year Memorial Day tradition continues to honor veterans. On this special day, the lonely sound of Taps will echo across America's cemeteries. Take time to remember those men and women who gave their lives so that we may enjoy a free and independent nation.
Sincerely,
Belmont Funeral Home
Larry Belmont

Seventh-day Adventist community service center sets grand opening

Grand Opening for the new addition to the Seventh-day Adventist Community Services Center will be held 2 p.m. Sunday, June 6 at 1004 Tindolph Avenue South. The welcome and dedicatory comments will be given by Pastor Robert Forbes and Dr. Leo Herber. Mayor Bob Reeve will officiate at the ribbon cutting ceremony. An open house will then be held until 5 p.m. The open house will include a tour of the facility, as well as refreshments.

The new 20-foot by 82-foot addition was constructed by RAM Building of Thief River Falls. Harold Kertz was the general contractor. Brodin's Heating put into the heating source. The electrical wiring was done by Erickson Electric. All of the contractors were from Thief River Falls.

Comments by the Center's staff suggest that the additional 1,640 square feet of space is a very welcome expansion. Previously, the Community Services Center operated out of congested two-story quarters.

"The climb up and down the stairs made things very unhandy for some of our clients not to mention volunteers," reflects Center Director Mae Howes. "Our volunteers are almost exclusively women, some of whom are not so young anymore. Hauling boxes of clothing up and down flights of stairs several times a day was becoming very difficult. Now that the building of our services are located on one level, we are able to function more efficiently," said said.

In addition, a receiving area for clothing, where processing, sorting and counseling, was also built for convenience.

Community Services is an organization of the Seventh-day Adventist church which is dedicated to meeting community needs through disaster relief, clothing distribution and community education programs such as Breathe Free Clinics, Weight Reduction classes, cooking schools and stress management classes.

"The community is a very important part of making these services available," said Pastor Robert Forbes. "We would like to thank the community for donations of clothing, and for continuing financial support through our Annual Ingathering Campaign. We would like to invite the pubic to attend the open house and celebrate this progress with us., You helped make it possible!"

Congressman "sacrifices" for the future

"The President has asked America to sacrifice for the future. It is only fair that Congress cut its own pay to begin this effort," said Seventh District Congressman Collin Peterson in joining other members of the House of Representatives in voting unanimously for a congressional pay freeze in 1994.

Rep. Peterson said he didn't think the cut in next year's pay is enough and will be introducing legislation next week to eliminate this year's cost of living increase and reduce the base salary by 1.8 per cent for 1993.

Where's The Owner's Manual For This Planet?

by Jay Grantier

Jay Grantier of Castle Rock, CO, writes a column called "Reflections" and recently wrote a column entitled "Where's the Owner's Manual for This Planet" that we enjoyed reading and thought you might get a kick out of it, too. Here's what he wrote:

After considerable thought, I've had to conclude that: 1) God created this universe while still a very young God, 2) our current universe was His very first shot at creating a universe of any kind, and 3) He incorporated some design flaws that simply slipped through because everything was done by hand in those days.

Now I know it's not at all popular to take God to task for anything, but before you start to get all huffy, give me a chance to explain...

You'll remember that God gave us dominion over the whole shootin' match very early on, probably not long after He rested on the seventh day.

Naturally, you'd have to guess that He had certain expectations as to our keeping things in good condition. Well, a whole lot of things do seem to be getting seriously mucked up these days so maybe it's time to rock back and consider what's happening.

In spite of a lot of tut-tuts, the killing, maiming and raping of one another just seems to go on for one reason or another. One day it's done in the name of God, the next it's "ethnic cleansing."

We produce so much food on one part of the world that we pile it up and let it rot, while on the other side of an ocean, millions of our brethren are starving. Professional athletes, whose function it is to amuse the rest of us are paid as much in one year as an average teacher is in over 100 years, and education is thought to be the salvation of our species.

How can you help scratching your head over our value system and wondering if there isn't a little slack in our management skills as well. We can't avoid taking our own lumps because God, in developing His specifications for the universe, did include among His attributes for mankind an ability to reason and some common sense.

But why should God get off scot-free? He was the Man! He had the Power! The plain truth is, He designed one of the largest, most complex systems ever seen before or since and then turned the lot over to a junior manager without an Owner's Manual! I mean He dumped Adam in the Garden of Eden with only oral instructions, no hard copy!

Now try to put yourself in Adam's shoes. You come out of nowhere and get yourself dumped in this brand new Universe—like maybe you're going to feel a little dazzled or something? And then you wake up short one rib and along comes this fox named Eve, batting her eyes at you and saying, "Come on a take a bite of my apple, honey. A little bit won't hurt you!"

And there you are without an Owner's Manual and you're rackin' your brain, and you just can't think what you're suppose to do so finally you just say, "Oh, what the hell...!"

Then God, exhibiting impatience over your inability to score 100 percent, gets Himself in kind of a snit and walks off as if to say, "Let the buggers sort it out for themselves." And it was years later, how many God only knows, before an Owner's Manual finally hit the street.

When it did hit the street, God had somehow seen fit for it to be called the Bible, which, according to Webster, simply means a collection of writings. Upon reflection, it becomes more obvious that the Bible was to have been the Owner's Manual, for most of the things we need to know about how to get along on the planet are included. If He'd just used the title, "The Bible: A Guide to the Workings of Planet Earth," things might have gone more smoothly.

Finally, for mankind to be assigned dominion over land and sea, plus all the things that walk, crawl, or fly, by a God who then disappears and leaves no forwarding address...why, it's a real cross to bear.

And now we've no reason to believe that God, Allah, the Great Spirit...whoever He is, intends to be back anytime soon. In the meantime, we've got some real problems to solve as I mentioned before. So if you have any solutions you'd like to propose, send them to: Reflections, c/o Douglas County News-Press, P.O. Box 1270, Castle Rock, CO 80104, and I'll try to pass them on.

TIMES FOR TODDLERS

ACTIVITIES

Sand Play

With summer come lakes and wading pools and fun activities for young children. A few safety precautions are necessary to make the experience a happy time.

First, never leave the children alone around water. Children can drown in just a little bit of water. If you are going to the lake, life jackets should be as natural for a child to put on as a swimming suit.

If you are using a wading pool, be sure they have fresh water daily. Also, be careful of the toys that are brought into the water. Toys that are quite safe out of the water can become quite dangerous in the water.

Young children should be taught to swim. We are lucky in Thief River Falls, to have excellent swimming lessons available all summer for all age groups. For more information, be sure to contact the swimming pool.

Kinsey-Warnock, Natalie. Wilderness Cat. Serena was devastated when her father announced that they would not be able to take the family cat on their move to Canada. Life in the Canadian wilderness proved to be very hard, but something short of a miracle brought relief and great joy.

PARENTING TIPS

More on Traffic Safety

We know these facts about preschool pedestrian traffic injuries:

- Most children are injured near home, often on their own street.
- Most accidents happen in late afternoon on sunny days.
- More than twice as many boys as girls are injured.
- Most child victims were not properly supervised.

The best way to teach your child about traffic safety is to practice what you preach. Children learn best through actual practice. Concentrate on the areas in your own neighborhood. Treat driveways, alleys, parking lots and parking spaces as if they were streets. Your example will help your child to learn that all of these are areas of potential danger.

Make your child aware of spaces and boundaries outdoors. Focus on fences, gates and grass borders. Then help your child become aware of and the purpose for the painted lines that stand for boundaries on streets and walkways.

Remember no matter how much you educate your young child, he/she is limited in his/her ability to make good judgement calls in traffic. All preschool children need to be closely supervised when they are near traffic.

Beth Johnson

What a difference a year makes!! Last year at about this time, our household was in a tither. We were busily preparing for the graduation of our oldest child. The house was being made in tip top shape. Food was being ordered and prepared. Family and friends were being expected to arrive at any moment from far away places. Excitement was definitely the word for those days as we anticipated the day of graduation.

This year is different. We do not have any member of our family graduating this year. This year we are living in relative peace. We are anticipating a visit from some friends, but we are not anticipating a visit from friends and relatives at the same time. Neither are we anticipating the friends and acquaintances we invited for a graduation party. Life is calm in our household. Graduation and its excitement will return to our household next year as we graduate our youngest from high school.

How different it is this year from last year. This year I have time to sit in my backyard and listen to the bird's songs. This year I have time to plant the flowers in my garden and not have to worry about the many details that only a mother, and perhaps a grandmother, think about in regards to graduating a child or grandchild. This year I can enjoy our couple of guests. Last year everyone fended for themselves and all helped to make our celebration special. There was little time for conversation last year. This year, we hope to listen to friends and we hope to spend time with each other.

But, in many households in our community, graduation is this year. Graduation with all the details and excitement and planning and cleaning and entertaining is now. Graduation seems to take so much preparation and is so soon completed. After the ceremony and after the party and after the congratulations are over for this year, many households of graduates in our community will find themselves eating left-over graduation cake and left-over sandwiches and leftover salad and wondering where did the time fly that led to this brief period of excitement called high school graduation?

After graduation we find ourselves somewhat in a state of numbness. Both the parents and the graduates must feel some wonder at the fact the graduation has been completed. Where truly has the time gone? Doesn't it seem like simply yesterday that this new graduate was fearfully going off to kindergarten? Doesn't it seem like simply yesterday that the playground rules and fights and games were of supreme importance? Doesn't it seem like yesterday that elementary school was completed and middle school was the new and scary venture? Doesn't it seem like yesterday that 9th grade and high school was so foreign and frightening? Doesn't it seem like yesterday that beginning reading and beginning math was so difficult? Doesn't it seem impossible that all the learning that has been accomplished has actually been accomplished?

For those graduating this state of numbness and wonder will soon be replaced by a feeling of "so now what am I to do"? Careers may be decided upon. College may be chosen as the place to be for the next few years. A job may beckon. Marriage and family life may be the chosen way for some new graduates. But, before life with its many choices and chances tempt the new graduate, I would suggest that he take some time to reflect on the choices and chances and people that have helped him accomplish this truly momentous feat of graduation. As each graduate reflects on his life up to this point, perhaps a bit of thankfulness should accompany the reflection—thankfulness for parents and friends and teachers and yes, even thankfulness for being the individual he is. Before beginning the new era in life, take time to feel gratitude for your life as it has been. Taking time for gratitude will help to nurture in each graduate's life the hope that will carry them through the future's choices and chances.

Even as the graduate wonders about his future, so does each parent of a graduate. Only a parent can feel and hope and pray with a parent's love and concern for their child's future happiness. Parents of graduates must know that the nurturing years are completed. Parents of graduates have now entered the years of encouragement and prayer. For, with a parent's loving concern and encouragement and with a parent's prayers the new graduate has the fuel to attempt to make the best choices out of the many opportunities that will come his way.

If only all graduates had the prayers and encouragement of their family, what a better world we would have. Pray for your graduate. Encourage him. Be thankful for the life that he has to live. Enjoy graduation!

Capitol Commentary

by LeRoy Stumpf
State Senator — District 1

Governor Arne Carlson's vetoes have raised a lot of questions. When you look behind the scenes you find not only questions, but broken promises.

Those promises came just a week before the veto. A member of the Governor's staff told me that the higher education finance bill would not be vetoed if one section was added to it.

That section said the funding for the 1994-95 period would serve as a starting point for figuring out the 1996-1997 biennium. The Governor apparently wanted it because of his concern about long-term spending.

The language was added to the bill, and legislators thought the Governor had made a deal.

We were wrong.

As chair of the Senate Higher Education Division, I received the Governor's veto message just after the Legislature adjourned. Instead of saying anything negative about the bill, it just said the bill was vetoed because of other legislative actions.

The veto message said the bill was okay, but the total spending by the legislature this session was not. The Governor disagrees with the legislature over the implications of the budget for future years.

What does this mean? It means the legislature will soon be going back into session — probably for one day — to pass two budget bills to replace the ones the Governor vetoed. (One for higher education and the other for human services.)

Will those bills be much different than the vetoed versions? Probably not. Governor Carlson has asked for a larger budget reserve, or the power to unallot funding, in return for signing the bills.

In short, the legislature will be going back into session to repeat what we have already done, and perhaps give Governor Carlson authority no other Minnesota Governor has ever had.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS!

MILK CONTAMINATION

As June is considered Dairy Month we will attempt to address issues that should be of interest to the dairy farmer in the next few weeks.

A question that comes up often is: "Is milk contamination covered under the Farm liability policy?"

Most companies approach this coverage in the same manner. The accidental discharge of contaminated milk into the bulk truck is covered—if you are found to be negligent. The company will pay for the loss of milk of others, and the clean-up of the truck, and the disposal or dumping of the milk onto a field. However, they will not pay for the loss of income, or for the damage to your milk.

Bucket extension to about 12 feet allows the Model 12000 Commander Crawler built by Hydra Mac., Inc. of Thief River Falls to reach over the side of a large ore truck. The new Model 8000 Commander was introduced at the second largest construction equipment show in the world at Las Vegas, NV in April and met with rave reviews—as well as orders and dealer interest.

company world wide with a full line of crawler loaders. Key to success of the crawlers is that they offer the versatility of a skid-steer loader with the stability and traction of a tracked vehicle.

"After purchasing your commander, I have no need to look any further for better equipment," wrote Roger Soulliere, president of Soulliere Decorative Stone, Inc., of Utica, MI. "Now I have a dozer, a heavy duty fork lift and a loader for any type of construction needed. The only problem is the other 10 skid-steer loaders are unwanted by my foremen and there's a line-up to use the 12000."

All models of the Commander have the same features. Among these is the hydraulic scissor-tach system which allows the operator to change a variety of attachments without leaving his seat. This means time saved and further reduces potential injuries.

In addition, a single handle controls all of the directional functions, without the use of clumsy foot pedals. A right-hand joystick provides finger-tip loader arm control as well as the bucket roll-back and dump functions. By design, all Commanders have self-leveling buckets.

Attachments vary from pallet tines, augers and back hoe to buckets that range from two inches over width of the machine to a 10-foot snow bucket.

Magnum Resources, Inc., is the parent company and Hydra-Mac is the manufacturing subsidiary. Power Equipment Corporation is the sales and marketing subsidiary.

"Naturally we are very excited about the interest that the Commander attracted at the ConExpo '93 show and the sales that have resulted so far," Flynn said. "We believe it is just the start of a new era of growth for the company in a field which has a huge sales potential."

Area towns have best treatment of wastewater

Thief River Falls, Goodridge, Newfolden and Red Lake Falls have been awarded certificates of commendation for outstanding performance in wastewater treatment operations during the 56th annual operators seminar in Bloomington recently.

All of the more than 1,100 wastewater treatment facilities in the state are considered for the annual awards and a record number of 156 facilities qualified for certificates during 1992 operations.

To be eligible for the awards, the facilities had to perform within their permitted discharge limits every month during the year, submit all monitoring reports correctly and on time, show no problems in compliance monitoring or in operations or maintenance surveys and be run by certified operators.

WAGNER-PEYSER ACT PUBLIC NOTICE PROGRAM YEAR 1993

As provided by Part 652 of the Wagner-Peyser Act, 29 USC, 49 et. seq., the Minnesota Department of Jobs and Training announces the following substate allocations for funds received pursuant to the Act.

|---|---|
| District IA (West Metro) | $2,332,158 |
| District IB (East Metro) | 2,276,510 |
| District II (Northeast) | 818,314 |
| District III (Northwest) | 1,393,432 |
| District IV (Central) | 1,595,885 |
| District V (South) | 1,498,889 |

Such allocations are for the period July 1, 1993, through June 30, 1994, also known as Program Year 1993 (PY1993).

Wagner-Peyser funding is used for public employment service activity. Approximately 72 percent of the above funds were allocated based on each substate district's relative share of the state civilian labor force (weight 2/3) and unemployed (weight 1/3) in Calendar Year 1992. Approximately 18 percent of the funds were allocated to the districts according to each district's relative share of the total number of placement transactions made by the Minnesota Job Service from 7/1/90 through 12/31/92. Approximately 10 percent of the above funds were allocated to the districts based upon the quotients resulting when the district's share of state's unemployed is divided by the district's share of state's civilian labor force.

Component plans were developed for Service Delivery Areas within the state in conjunction with the Private Industry Councils and Chief Elected Officials representing such areas for this purpose.

Written comments regarding the allocations or the planning process will receive full review and consideration and should be addressed to the attention of Dean Sullivan, Job Service and Unemployment Insurance Operations, Minnesota Department of Jobs and Training, 390 North Robert Street, St. Paul, MN 55101.

Theresa Meyer of Thief River Falls will receive her diploma with the Class of 1993 at Lincoln high school Friday during graduation exercises at the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center. She qualified for her diploma through the alternative education program of School District 564 and is the first such graduate to elect to receive her diploma with the current graduating class. Mrs. Meyer, 34, dropped out of Lincoln when a senior in 1976.

Donald Peterson, Redeemer Lutheran Church pastor and Lt. Col. USAF Reserve (Ret), delivers the Memorial Address at the Memorial Day Program. # Meyer to graduate with Class of 1993

by Marvin Lundin
Times Editor

For Theresa Meyer, age 34, the road leading to a walk across the stage to receive a high school diploma has been a little longer and rockier than normal, but her long-sought goal will be realized Friday evening at the Lincoln high school graduation exercises.

The former Theresa Roggenbuck attended her first 11 grades of public school at Marshall County Central schools in Newfolden, then transferred to Lincoln high school in Thief River Falls in 1976 as a senior. She dropped out of school when her daughter (Marie Oliver, now a freshman at Lincoln) was born, then began a series of moves when her husband entered military service in March of 1977.

When she joins the graduating class Friday to receive her diploma, she will be the first student from the alternative education program of School District 564 to receive a diploma in that manner. Earlier graduates have not elected to take part in the commencement exercises.

"It's something I felt I missed out on when I left school," she explained, "and something that I have known for a long time that I wanted to do. Receiving that diploma on stage will make it that much more special for me. It will make me feel as though I have achieved more. And I'll be only the second one in a family of seven children to graduate from high school."

Mrs. Meyer received a GED or high school equivalency certificate through the military in 1980 in Stuttgart, Germany, but wasn't satisfied with that. She returned to the United States in 1981 where her first husband was stationed in Alaska and at Ft. Lewis, WA.

They came back to Thief River Falls in 1986 and were divorced in 1987. He now lives in Swanville with their two sons, ages 15 and 10.

Theresa moved to Staples following the divorce and completed a computer repair course at the Staples Technical College. She moved to Alabama in June of 1989, then to Tacoma, WA, in August of that year. She married Bill Meyer Sept. 2, 1990, at Mesa, WA, where he was public works superintendent for the City of Mesa.

They moved to Thief River Falls in June of 1992 and Bill went to work at KTRF radio. Together they deliver several daily and weekly publications of the station.

In July of 1992 Theresa began taking classes at the alternative education program where students are allowed to work on their own schedule and at their own pace to complete the credits they need toward graduation. She had most of the credits for her senior year to earn to qualify for a diploma.

"I probably averaged five hours a day at school or doing homework," she said. "It's convenient, but it isn't easy. You need a score of 80 per cent on your lessons to pass, and you can't move on until you get at least that score. I have a certificate for each class I completed. In April of 1993 she had earned the credits she needed to qualify for graduation.

Inspiration? Theresa credits a video by country singer Reba McIntire entitled "Is There Life Out There" as her initial inspiration to go back to school and complete her high school education.

But it took more than inspiration to get the work done, and when Theresa Meyer receives her Lincoln high school diploma Friday night it will be well earned as well as appreciated.

My Grandma
by Jennie Gallant

A very special person in my life is my Grandma. Grandma had polio and has to walk with crutches. She had polio when she was very young. She was in the hospital from the age of six until she was twenty-one. She got all of her schooling while she was in the hospital. She did a lot of interesting things while she was in the hospital. She saw Roy Rogers, the circus, and saw many movies. She graduated from College and taught Kindergarten for several years.

My Grandma is very important to me. It is not easy for her to get around, so I run errands for her, such as going to the store, bank and Post Office. She is always there when I need someone to talk to. There are eight other grandchildren besides me, but she loves me just the same.

She has been a great influence in my life. She has encouraged me to do things while it seems as though other people don't care. When I was younger, she loved brushing and combing my hair. I feel very fortunate to have a Grandma who cares so much for me.

She is very easy to talk with. She doesn't mind if I call and chat for a while. I care a lot for my Grandma, and in return she cares a lot for me.

(Jennie is the daughter of Roger and Lynn Gallant)

Department of Agriculture to conduct tests for oak wilt and Dutch elm disease

Minnesota Department of Agriculture (MDA) will again accept samples from homeowners wondering if trees on their property might be infected with Dutch elm disease or oak wilt.

Each year the MDA receives about 300 tree samples from inspectors and concerned citizens who request tests for Dutch elm disease and oak wilt. About half of the samples received by the MDA's Laboratory Services Division test positive for one of these two diseases.

"This free analysis," said MDA Commissioner Elton R. Redalen, "is part of an ongoing detection and removal program aimed at maintaining Minnesota's valuable shade trees."

MDA Plant Pathologist Milton Marinos said there are several signs that a tree may be diseased with either Dutch elm or oak wilt. Marinos said trouble signs to look for include wilting branches and leaves that turn yellow and fall off prior to fall.

MDA Oak Wilt Program Coordinator Dan Gillman said oak wilt has killed thousands of oaks from the northern Twin Cities metro area to the southeastern toe of Minnesota. Gillman added, "Oak wilt has been recognized as a particularly severe problem in Anoka and Sherburne counties, but it has also developed into a major threat to oak trees in Dakota, Washington and Ramsey counties."

Gillman recommended against pruning oak trees in May and June because it may leave the trees vulnerable to infection.

Homeowners who suspect their trees may be suffering from either of these two diseases should collect samples from a wilting branch. Remove four or five sections about one-half inch in diameter and six inches long. Enclose the samples in plastic wrap and send in a sturdy envelope to:

Laboratory Services Divison, Shade Tree Diagnostic Laboratory, Minnesota Department of Agriculture, 90 West Plato Blvd., St. Paul, MN 55107.

If samples are submitted for more than one tree, a separately identified and wrapped sample should be provided for each tree. Testing and analysis take about 10 days for elm and up to three weeks for oak.

Optometrists annual meet

Dr. Harold Freeman and Dr. Craig Mickelson, Thief River Falls optometrists, recently attended the 92nd annual meeting of the Minnesota Optometric Association in Rochester. Dr. Mickelson received a plaque to recognize his 10 years in the profession.

The four-day program included 11 hours of educational sessions in addition to the business meetings.

Benefit scheduled to aid Julia Baron, 2 1/2-year-old with chronic leukemia

be with her and to help.

"The doctors told us we could expect her to be in intensive care for a week," Sharon said. "By the following Wednesday she had improved to the point where they said we could take her home. Her white cell count was back to normal. She was on two oral medications and one oral antibiotic at first in addition to the daily chemotherapy injection which they taught us to give.

"Now she has had only the daily shot—three drops using a very fine needle. There are supposed to be 36 drops in a bottle—a 12-day supply—but the most we can get is nine or 10 days. One bottle costs $350."

With the exception of a bout with pneumonia about three weeks ago, Julia has been a normal youngster since her return from Fargo. Her activity level is fine and she goes to day care when both of her parents are working. Doctors say the chemotherapy could maintain her for a month or a year.

But the greatest hope she has is for a bone marrow transplant, and that within a year of diagnosis of her leukemia. That requires as perfect a match of donors as can be found. Odds of finding a perfect match are between one in 100 and one in 1,000,000.

Matching involves sophisticated human leukocyte antigen (HLA) testing of a blood sample. A perfect match will match in six of six areas tested. This will provide the best chance for success. No transplant attempt will be made with a match of less than five of six. The national registry of 400,000 donors has no perfect match for Julia and only 20 people who can match five of six.

"We have checked with United Blood Services of Fargo and they have said they would come to Thief River Falls for a screening drive," Sharon said. "All of us in the family have been tested and no one has a match of more than three of six. If we are to find a match, we have to look to the community—and perhaps beyond."

The testing costs $45 per person and only those in the 18 to 55 age group are eligible to be screened as donors. Should a likely match be found, the Barons' insurance will pay the costs of further testing. It is possible the screening could be done by United Blood Services in late June if there are sufficient numbers of volunteers to be tested. Ways of reducing the cost to volunteers are also being investigated.

Bone marrow produces many components of the blood, and blood cells help fight infections. Many fatal diseases, such as leukemia, are diseases of the blood. Marrow transplantation replaces the diseased marrow of the patient with healthy marrow which then produces healthy blood.

Marrow is taken from the back pelvic bone using needles and syringes. The donor is under anesthesia and feels no pain at that time. Most people are sore for a few days after donating marrow. The donation is made at a collection center near where the donor lives.

Should Julia become a recipient, she would be hospitalized for two to three weeks and receive massive doses of drugs to destroy her own bone marrow. This procedure would also destroy her immune system and she would be very susceptible to disease or infection. She would then receive the donated marrow by injection and it would find its way in her body to replace the destroyed marrow. She would have to remain in the area where she received the donation— probably the Twin Cities—for 100 days.

Further information will be provided in The Times or Northern Watch when a donor screening drive date is set. Who knows? The person who can provide Julia with the gift of life may be living right in the area. And every additional person tested increases the odds in favor of finding the perfect match.

Keeping an eye on the ball, Thief River Falls batter Odetta Blomker awaited a delivery from Bemidji pitcher Erika Lyseng during the North Sub-Section 8AA high school softball tournament game played at the fairgrounds diamond last week. Lyseng struck out 11 and gave up just one hit in the Lumberjacks' 10-0 six-inning victory that ended the Prowlers' season.

Prowlers lose 5-3 contest to Spuds

Moorhead shut down Thief River Falls' offense Friday as the Spuds beat Thief River Falls 5-3 to start the double elimination portion of the 1993 North Sub-Section 8AA high school baseball tournament.

Both teams came out of the game 15-5, but the Spuds moved into the winner's bracket, while the Prowlers faced a tougher challenge in the loser's bracket of the four-team event being played at Matson Field in Moorhead.

Moorhead out-hit Thief River Falls 10-4, ending a seven-game winning streak for the Prowlers, in which they averaged eight runs per game.

"We just didn't make anything happen," said Thief River Falls coach Tracey Wensloff. "With four hits, you're going to have a tough time doing anything. Even the balls we hit weren't hit hard."

Thief River Falls pitcher Jeremy Olson gave up the ten hits, but walked only one. "Jeremy pitched fine," said Wensloff. "He did a nice job. He threw strikes. They just hit the ball. We just didn't do anything on offense to help him."

A 2-for-3 game by Carter Rogalla represented most of the limited Thief River Falls offense.

Otters take Section 8AA golf title with tie-breaker

Bemidji's seven-year reign as Section 8AA boys high school golf champion ended Friday at the Perham Country Club when Fergus Falls edged St. Cloud Apollo with a tie-breaker to gain a state meet berth.

The Otters and Eagles both turned in a four-man 319, requiring the teams to use their fifth score to break the tie – an 84 for Fergus Falls and a 90 for Apollo.

Bemidji wound up seventh in the 13-team field with a 330. Thief River Falls was 11th at 353.

Chad Lundeen of Little Falls was meet medalist with a 76.

Freshman Chris Bjerken led the Prowlers with an 86, while junior Mark Tangquist and sophomore Brad Daniels both turned in an 88.

"We finished 24 strokes better than we did at last year's tournament," pointed out Thief River Falls coach Dick Tyler. "The kids were pleased with that. They finished on a positive note. I was real happy with the way the kids played, especially those top three. There were some awfully golf golfers out there."

Tri-County/MCC advances

Tri-County/Marshall County Central scored five times in the bottom of the seventh inning Monday to pull out a come-from-behind 9-8 win over Ada-Borup in a first round Section 8A Sub-Section 3 high school baseball tournament game at Karlstad.

Down 8-4 after giving up three runs in the top of the seventh, the winners came up with six of their 10 hits in their final at-bat. Tie-breaking run crossed the plate in a one-out bases-loaded situation when little-used freshman Trevor Magner put the ball in play – a grounder to the shortstop that was mis-handled.

Jason Blomquist, the third Tri-County/Marshall County Central pitcher of the game, got the win with a final-inning relief job.

Offensively, Matt Kasprowicz led the winners with a 3-for-3 day at the plate, while Blomquist was 2-for-4.

Hockey to have new alignment

Recently announced restructuring of the Minnesota high school hockey scene will make Thief River Falls the largest school in Section 8A next winter.

Hockey advisory committee of the Minnesota State High School League gave its approval May 26 to classification positions and sectional alignments for the two-year MSHSL experiment with two-class hockey for the 1993-94 and 1994-95 school years.

Formal approval of the hockey committee's actions by the MSHSL board of directors is expected during a regularly-scheduled June 14 board meeting.

The hockey committee wound up with 64 Class AA school divided equally among eight sections, and 82 Class A programs. The classifications were made based upon enrollment figures for the top three grades, but schools could petition to move up or down – requests that were accepted or denied by a vote of the committee.

The two-class system succeeds the two-tier hockey utilized the past two years when teams were seeded into Tier I or Tier II post-season tournaments based upon regular season results.

Thief River Falls, with a student enrollment of 526 according to figures listed in the 1992-93 MSHSL directory, will be the largest school in the new Section 8A line-up, with Crookston (388), East Grand Forks (379), Roseau (263) and Warroad (236) rounding out the top five – enrollment-wise. Rest of the 10-team field includes Bagley, Indus, Kittson Central, Lake of the Woods, and Red Lake Falls.

Former Section 8 members who will be grouped elsewhere under the new format include Alexandria in 4AA; Moorhead, Brainerd and Bemidji in 7AA; Fergus Falls in 8AA; and Crosby-Ironton, Detroit Lakes, Little Falls, Long Prairie, and Wadena-Deer Creek in 4A.

Waterfowl Camp is open to boys, girls ages 13-15

Each summer since 1989, future waterfowlers gather at the Minnesota Waterfowl Association's Woodie Camp to learn and practice the many skills involved in the time-honored sport of waterfowling.

Woodie Camp, developed by the Minnesota Waterfowl Association—with assistance from the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources and the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service—consists of seven full days of total emersion into the techniques, history and lore of waterfowling.

This year the camp will be held at the Lac qui Parle Hunting Camp near Montevideo August 8-14. Any boy or girl who is 13, 14 or 15 as of August 8 and has successfully completed the firearms safety course is eligible.

Woodie Camp is definitely a "hands on" learning experience. The campers themselves participate in marksmanship, water safety, boat handling, duck and goose calling, wood duck house building and

Minnesota state fish records listed

It happened again. In 1992, two anglers caught state record fish.

It's hard to believe that record fish can still be caught, but the truth is, record-breaking fish are hooked almost every year.

"In Minnesota, we tend to average seven state record fish a year," said Henry Drewes, a Department of Natural Resources specialist who knows such things. "In recent years, state records have been set for such fish as chinook salmon and tiger muskie. In 1992, record-breaking fish were from less-known species.

Last year, Stephen Cook of Prior Lake caught a state record 9-pound, 1-ounce smallmouth buffalo. The fish was pulled from the Mississippi River March 28. Tying a state record was Joe Engelmeyer of Warsaw, who caught a 10-pound, 15-ounces bowfin in French Lake in Rice County Aug. 28. It tied the record by Jack Chesny of California in 1983.

Though anglers routinely catch state record fish, some records are hard to beat. Take for example Art Lyons' amazing 54-pound muskie. That fish was caught 36 years ago this August. The lunker was 56 inches long, or roughly the same size as Lyons, a guide who was only 5-feet tall. He caught the fish while casting for northern pike with a red-and-white daredevil in Lake Winnibigoshish.

Anglers who believe they have caught a state record fish should contact the local DNR fisheries office. The DNR has official instructions and rules for entering potential record fish.

Millions are participating in wildlife-related activity

Hunting, fishing and birdwatching continue to rank among America's favorite pastimes, according to a survey by the Interior Department's U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

The 1991 National Survey of Fishing, Hunting, and Wildlife-Associated Recreation reveals that more than 108 million Americans 16 years of age and older participated in some recreational activity involving fish and wildlife, pumping $59 billion into the national economy through the purchase of equipment, travel, lodging, and other goods and services.

"Enjoying our natural resources is an important part of America's heritage," said Interior Secretary Bruce Babbitt. "It's a great way to be refreshed and renewed, and it's the gateway to the conservation experience. But there are economic benefits as well. The $59 billion Americans spent on wildlife-related recreation in 1991 represents almost one percent of the nation's economic activity and helps create thousands of jobs."

Forty million Americans age 16 and older either hunted or fished during 1991, while 76.1 million enjoyed nonconsumptive activities such as feeding, observing, or photographing wildlife.

Overall, 35.6 million people age 16 and older spent an average of 14 days fishing in 1991, while 14.1 million people spent an average of 17 days hunting.

Anglers spent $24 billion, or an average of $674 each, and hunters spent $12 billion, or $851 each, on their sport. Another $5 billion in spending by hunters and anglers could not be attributed solely to one or the other sport.

Among anglers, 31 million people age 16 and older fished in freshwater and 8.9 million in saltwater. Anglers spent $11.8 billion in trip-related costs, including $5 billion on food and lodging and $2.8 billion on transportation. In addition, they spent $9.4 billion on equipment.

Among hunters, 10.7 million people age 16 and older hunted big game, 7.6 million hunted small game, and 3 million hunted migratory birds. Hunters spent $3.4 billion on trip-related costs, including $1.8 billion on food and lodging and $1.3 billion on transportation. They purchased $5.2 billion in equipment during 1991.

Americans age 16 and older spent $18 billion to pursue nonconsumptive wildlife-related recreation in 1991. This included $7.5 billion for trip-related expenses, including $4.4 billion for food and lodging and $2.6 billion for transportation. More than half of their expenditures, $9.6 billion, were for equipment.

Thirty million people age 16 and older took trips away from home for nonconsumptive wildlife-related recreation while 73.9 million enjoyed wildlife around their homes.

U.S. Bureau of Census interviewed 128,000 households in the United States to determine participants in wildlife-associated activities. From this initial phase, 68,000 individuals were selected to be interviewed by telephone three times at four-month intervals during 1991.

DNR News

Commonly Asked Questions

Minnesota anglers often have similar questions when they contact DNR conservation officers. Ten of those commonly asked questions are answered below.

Q: I forgot my license at home. Do I have 24 hours to show it to a conservation officer?

A: No. Anglers must carry their licenses on their person at all times while fishing.

Q: I am a Minnesota resident and am taking my 10-year-old daughter fishing. Can she have her own limit of fish?

A: Yes. All residents under 16 years of age may take and possess their own limit of fish without a license.

Q: Can I transport my child's limit along with my own?

A: Yes, but only if your child is with you. Each person must accompany his or her own limit.

Q: If my friend goes fishing, can I go along without a license if I just watch?

A: Yes, as long as you don't assist in any manner.

Q: What is the most common fishing violation in Minnesota?

A: Fishing without first buying a license is the number one violation. Using too many lines is a close second.

Q: My 15-year-old grandson lives in Wisconsin and will be visiting me. When we go fishing, will he need a license?

A: No, not as long as he is with a licensed guardian, but the child's fish are included in the adult's limit.

Q: Are there any special fishing licenses or permits available for disabled persons?

A: Yes. Contact a DNR office for a free copy of the brochure, "The Resource Is Yours To Enjoy." The publication explains all permits and licenses available. Contact the DNR toll free at 1-800-766-6000.

Q: I am an avid angler. Sometimes I see people taking large overlimits of fish. What can I do to help stop this?

A: Call TIP (Turn in Poachers) at 1-800-652-9093. This is a 24-hour, toll-free hotline to report fishing and hunting violations. TIP is a non-profit organization founded to stop poaching in Minnesota. People who make violation reports to TIP can remain anonymous.

The camp itself will be limited to 24 campers. The cost of the camp is $450, but with donations from the Minneapolis Firefighters Association, the Minnesota Waterfowl Association State office and its chapters, the cost of participation for each camper will be $150.

Interested campers are required to fill out the "MWA Woodie Camp Questionnaire." Camper selection will be determined by the answers provided to the questionnaire. Applications must be postmarked by June 15, 1993. Questionnaires can be obtained by calling the MWA at 612-922-2832, or write MWA Woodie Camp, 5701 Normandale Road, Minneapolis, MN 55424.

My Grandma
by Tracy Konickson

My Grandma is special because when I was sick, she took care of me when my parents weren't home. She was always there when my parents went out, and I needed a babysitter. Every year my Grandma gets excited when school starts, because soon Grandparents' Day would be coming. She always wants to be the first one there and always enjoys coming. She also loves to watch me do my homework. She likes to come and visit me and play games like Kingo or Old Maid. She even is showing me how to sew, crochet, cook and bake. She enjoys listening to me read and play the piano. When I was little, she read to me and colored with me in my coloring books.

When I have friends over, she likes to have me come over with my friends, so that we can visit with her and play games. She always cooks and bakes my favorite foods for me. During the summers, she likes to sit in her lawn chair and watch me ride my bike or play on the monkey bars.

When my birthdays come around, she always knows what to get for me. When I was taking swimming lessons, she comes to watch me whenever she could. Everytime when I finished, she said that I was doing a good job. If I was nervous about something, she would tell me that it would be all right. She likes to watch TV with me, and usually watches what I want to.

When I have to go someplace and my parents can't take me, Grandma is always ready to do it. When I go to town with her, she lets me buy one thing I really want, such as candy. She often tells me, "Whatever you do in life, I will be proud of you!"

(Tracy is the daughter of John and Leona Konickson)

My Story-Teller Grandpa
by Nick Boucher

When I go to visit my Grandpa, we spent many, many hours out in his workshop, building toys, bird houses and many other things. He taught me how to use his tools. Then he'd tell stories of the olden days when he had to walk miles to a one-room school house and didn't know how to speak English to the teacher. Most of the other students spoke other languages also.

Grandpa also liked to tell stories of his days as Chief of Police, about the different people he would meet and the trouble that people could get themselves into. But he would give some people ten chances to do right. He told stories of street lights, car chases and other memorable occasions. One day he almost had to deliver a baby in the patrol car.

It was always fun to go uptown with my Grandpa, because people would always come up to us and tell me stories about my Grandpa when he was a cop.

My Grandpa died in my arms three years ago when we were in the woods getting wood for him for the winter. I will always remember my Grandpa through his stories and the times we spent together. He will always be my hero.

(Nick is the son of Duane and Carol Boucher, who live at Brooks)

44th Dairy Day Tuesday

Granddaddy of all dairy days in Minnesota, Northwest Dairy Day in Thief River Falls Tuesday, June 8, will be the 44th edition of the annual youth dairy cattle show.

For the first time in the nearly half a century history of the event it is scheduled in advance to be held at the Pennington county fairgrounds instead of a traditional downtown location.

According to Howard Person, president of the sponsoring Northwest Dairy Improvement Association, the move is being made at the request of the Thief River Falls city council which had apparently received complaints from business owners in the area about having their access restricted during the day.

For many years the dairy cattle show was held on Second Street between Main and Knight Avenues next to the city auditorium. On the rare occasions when rain fell it was moved inside the city arena on the same block as the auditorium.

In later years, after the east half of Floyd B. Olson park was surfaced as a city parking lot, the event was moved there. The curling club building on the fairgrounds became the alternate site in case of inclement weather and was used several times.

Several years ago a large livestock building was constructed at the fairgrounds with extensive financial help from the L. B. Hartz Foundation. It is the intent of the Northwest Dairy Improvement Association to use that facility as a first choice this year. Should it be necessary to show indoors due to rain, an area of the adjacent hog, sheep and poultry building is expected to be pressed into use.

The Region I American Dairy Association Princess contest will also be held in Thief River Falls during Dairy Day this year. Since the region was enlarged several years ago to include 15 counties, the princess contest has alternated between Thief River Falls and another site in the region. Last year Region I Dairy Princess Janell Leverington of Pine River was crowned at ceremonies in Bemidji.

Eighteen candidates from 11 participating counties will compete in the contest. Red Lake, Roseau and Norman counties provide half of the total entries as each has its full allowed complement of three candidates. Clay, Hubbard, Lake of the Woods and Kittson have no entries at all Candidates who will be competing for the Region I title and the chance to enter the state Princess Kay of the Milky Way contest at the Minnesota State Fair in August include the following county representatives:

Becker—Jodi Okeson, Detroit Lakes;
Beltrami—Wendy Poxleitner, Kelliher;
Cass—Heidi Teune, Pine River;
Clearwater—Dawn Eric, Gonvick;
Mahnomen—Annette Revier and Patricia Revier, Waubun;
Marshall—Kjerstie Hamness, Strathcona;
Norman—Rachel Dahl, Borup; Wanda Visser and Angela Grieve, Gary;
Polk—Heather Benbo, Winger;
Red Lake—Susan Schindler and Sara Beyer, Red Lake Falls and Wendy Konickson, Plummer; Roseau—Jennifer Dahlgren, Roseau; Holly Dostal and Helene Svir, Badger; and Wadena—JoAnn Malone, Wadena.

Coronation ceremonies will take place at 12:30 p.m. at the fairgrounds to permit as many people as possible in the community who have a noon dinner break to attend the event.

"We are somewhat concerned that the fairgrounds location will decrease the size of our crowd," Person said. "At the downtown site we have generally had a good crowd of visitors, particularly during the noon to 1 p.m. period. From a convenience standpoint of the showmen and the association, however, the fairgrounds is much better suited than the downtown parking lot."

Person said that tie chain and an extra wash-up tank will be added to the washing facilities at the fairgrounds. He also noted that the 4-H food stand will be in operation as well as a separate stand to sell milk and give away ice cream in cooperation with Bridgeman's and Norwest Bank.

Entries in the dairy show were down from a year ago as this article was prepared Thursday, May 27, the day prior to the entry deadline for listing in the Dairy Day program book. There were 96 entries by May 27, but Person said that more are expected. Entries will be accepted up to the morning of the show but will not be included in the program book listing.

As of May 27, there were 76 Holstein, nine Jersey, five Brown Swiss, two Guernsey and two Ayrshire entries. No entries had been received in the Milking Shorthorn breed. Traditionally all six major dairy breeds have been represented at the show.

Roseau county leads the list with 33 entries, followed by Marshall with 15, Pennington with 13 and Becker with 10. East and West Polk (Polk is separated because of having county extension offices at both ends of the large county) each have eight entries. Beltrami has seven and Cass has two.

There are nine first-year exhibitors included in the early entry list.

JUNE DAIRY MONTH

Regional Dairy Princess is a "Real" dairy product

Janell Leverington of Pine River believes in healthy dairy products as the "Real" thing in natural foods

by Marvin Lundin
Times Editor

Regional Dairy Princess Janell Leverington of Pine River explains the American Dairy Association's "Real" seal when she talks to people about buying and using dairy products. She emphasizes that the "Real" emblem on a number of products indicates that they are made with natural dairy foods rather than artificial substitutes.

It wouldn't be inappropriate for Janell to wear a "Real" seal herself because she is so sincere about her support of the dairy industry, whether wearing her princess crown and banner in a public appearance or just talking with a friend or acquaintance.

"To me eating right means to eat wholesome and natural foods," emphatically states the pert and pretty daughter of dairy farmers Gerald and Karen Leverington. The Leverington farm is located about 10 miles southwest of Pine River in Cass county and is a dairy operation all the way.

While Janell has taken an active part in that dairying operation, she has been kept more than busy with her own schedule. She has been going to two schools full-time and working full-time, putting in 40 hours a week at the Herberger's department store in Brainerd where she was recently promoted to manager of the young men's department.

Last week she received a diploma from the Brainerd Technical College where she was enrolled in the management course and an Associate in Applied Science degree from Brainerd Community College in business management entrepreneurship. She plans to continue her employment with Herberger's which has 37 stores and will soon open three more.

Janell was crowned Region I Dairy Princess last June in Bemidji and made her first official appearance at Northwest Dairy Day in Thief River Falls. She will crown her successor Tuesday, June 8, at noon during the 44th annual Northwest Dairy Day to be held this year at the Pennington county fairgrounds rather than its customary location in downtown Thief River Falls. The princess contest is held in Thief River Falls or another location in the region on alternate years.

Much of Cass county is livestock country and dairying is an important part of the livestock industry. There are many streams and rivers in the low-lying areas, including one which runs under this bridge near the farm of Janell Leverington, Region I Dairy Princess. The Leverington farm is shown in the background.

As regional princess Janell has made a number of appearances on behalf of the dairy industry and her state and regional sponsors but says she would have been willing to make many more. "I think some people might have thought it was imposing on me because of my schedule," she said, "but I was ready to go where invited whenever I could."

She made appearances at the national Milking Shorthorn tour at the Peterson Brothers farm near Plummer, handed out awards and spoke at the Red River Valley Winter Shows in Crookston, went to Grygla for two different events, made appearances for a bank dairy promotion, store grand opening and chamber of commerce banquet in Pine River, attended the Cass County ADA meeting, rode in several parades, attended the Clearwater county dairy princess contest in Bagley and made several other appearances as well.

Family of Region I Dairy Princess Janell Leverington of Pine River includes her father and mother, Gerald and Karen Leverington; her brother Dean (left) and his wife Jana of Pine River; and her sister Karla (right) and her husband Rich Guldseth of Fergus Falls.

Her studies and work schedule curtailed her activities in college but she was active in a number of high school areas. She played volleyball and basketball until she injured a knee in ninth grade, then switched her interest to music. She was in the school choir and several ensembles, including a group of girls called "Sweet Sixteen" which won in state competition for pop groups. She earned excellent rating on solos several years.

She was president of her DECA club, vice president of the senior class, Sno-Daze queen candidate, VFW Voice of Democracy contest winner, honor student and member of the National Honor Society and a member of the yearbook staff. In 1990 and 1991 she was an entrant in the Miss Pine River pageant and she was Cass County Dairy Princess in 1991 and 1992.

For five years she was a member of the Milky Way 4-H club where she was reporter and secretary and a junior leader. She carried sewing, baking, photography and dairy projects, winning the county fashion revue and showing a dairy animal. She took part in radio speaking and share the fun competition and worked at the fair food stand.

Janell teaches Sunday School at Maple Hill Lutheran Church a few miles from the farm and her mother is organist there. She has also sung solos and assisted with Vacation Bible School.

Now 20 years old, Janell has an older brother and sister. Dean, 23, and his wife Jana live in a mobile home on the farm. Karla, 25, is married to Rich Guldseth and they live at Fergus Falls.

The Leveringtons milk about 80 cows and have a total herd of about 200 animals including dry cows, bred heifers and young stock. The milking herd is comprised of about one-fourth Holsteins and three-fourths registered Ayrshires as Gerald and Karen are phasing out their Holsteins and developing their total Ayrshire herd.

"Disposition!" they responded in unison when asked what they liked so well about the brown and white breed. "Easy calving," Gerald added. "Longevity," Karen chimed in.

"The Holsteins average a couple of thousand pounds of milk more a lactation," Gerald admitted. "But the Ayrshires don't need as much feed, they utilize what they eat really well and their production gets better each year they're in the herd. When you put all the components together, they hang right in there with the black and white ones in net margin and they're just nicer to be around."

Gerald and Karen grew up just a few miles apart and attended the rural Pine Forest school, now a town hall, located about a quarter mile north of their present farmstead. They were married in 1966 (Gerald claims with tongue in cheek that he married Karen because he felt sorry that she had to wear thick glasses all her life) and started farming at the present location in 1968. They both came from dairy farms where Holstein herds held forth and that was what their herd consisted of for the first 10 years.

"I hadn't seen an Ayrshire until I went to the state fair in about 1960," Gerald said, "but I liked what I saw and what I read about the breed. So we bought five springers in the fall of 1978 and they got us started."

Some feed problems that weren't readily detected have reduced the present Ayrshire rolling herd average, which had been over 16,000 pounds of milk, 610 pounds of butterfat and 530 pounds of protein a year ago. The Leveringtons keep separate DHIA records on their Holstein and Ayrshire herds.

"Ayrshires may not start as fast but their production just keeps building as they get older. I think we have proved that," Karen said.

One of their cows produced only 10,000 pounds of milk in each of her first two lactations, then increased to 18,000, 18,500 and 21,500 in her next three. She also classified as "Excellent" for type.

They are also proud of the cow which Janell used as a 4-H dairy project a few years ago. As an 11-year-old, "Leverington's Lottie Lezlie" produced 25,950 pounds of milk, 823 pounds of butterfat and 788 pounds of protein in her last lactation of 368 days. She has produced a heifer calf in all but one year and one of her grandsons is used as a herd bull. There is also a 15-year-old Ayrshire still in the herd.

Since purchasing the farm in 1968, the Leveringtons have added to the house twice and replaced every other building that was there. The 32x156 dairy barn was built in 1981, has 64 tie stalls, a pipeline milker system with five units, a liquid manure system and attached milk house with an 800-gallon bulk tank.

Manure from the lagoon is spread on the farm's fields annually under contract with a company which uses an irrigation type transfer system.

About 200 acres of the 422-acre farm are open. Hay is grown on about 100 acres and the remainder devoted to corn for silage and other feed crops. Last year a mixture of oats, barley and peas proved to be a salvation as it filled the 20x50 silo while the corn suffered from the drought and only grew a couple of feet tall.

Gerald and Karen buy most of the grain for their herd as well as much of the hay. They also purchase straw which is chopped for bedding.

Like most of Minnesota's dairy farmers they find it a constant struggle to maintain profitability in the face of rising costs and a stable or often declining market. When Janell makes her public appearances she often points out that dairy farmers who sell their milk for about $12 per hundredweight "don't get much pay for all the work they do." And she encourages other dairy farmers she addresses to "band together to produce the best product we can" and be proud of the product that is produced.

Dairy products are always on hand at the farm home of Janell Leverington, Region I Dairy Princess. Here she prepares a mid-afternoon snack for the family featuring slices of several kinds of cheese.

With her knowledge of dairying and her interest in its future, she said she was disappointed in the interviews she had with judges at the Princess Kay of the Milky Way contest at the Minnesota state fair last fall.

"Leverington's Lottie Lezlie" is the registered name of this favorite Ayrshire in the dairy herd of the Gerald Leverington family of Pine River. Region I Dairy Princess Janell Leverington showed this cow during her five years in 4-H club work. Now 11 years old it completed its last lactation with 25,950 pounds of milk, 823 pounds of butterfat and 788 pounds of protein in 368 days. It has produced heifer calves every year but one and has a grandson used for a herd bull. The Leveringtons like the longevity of the Ayrshire breed.

"They really didn't ask us very much about dairying at all," she said. "We only had five or 10 minutes for individual interviews and about 10 minutes when we interviewed in groups of three. Other candidates that I talked with felt the same way.

"I had a great time at the state contest and really enjoyed meeting and getting to know the other regional princesses and visiting with the public," she said. "I look forward to meeting and talking with more people at Dairy Day in Thief River Falls."

Dairy sales increase again in 1992

During 1992, the commercial disappearance of total milk products increased by 1.6 per cent over the previous year. The gain was propelled mainly by butter and cheese sales which rose 1.9 per cent and 4.4 per cent respectively.

Among the cheese types, American-type cheese sales rose by 3.7 per cent, while the commercial disappearance of other cheeses such as Italian varieties increased by 4.9 per cent. Nonfat dry milk increased by 2.6 per cent. Cottage cheese sales fell by 5.3 per cent, the production of fresh yogurt rose by 8.5 per cent, and the production of frozen dairy products increased by 3.2 per cent.

In the frozen dairy product category, the production of hard ice cream increased by 3.5 per cent, the production of ice milk increased by 1.7 per cent, the production of sherbet rose by 2.2 per cent and the production of frozen yogurt increased by 2.8 per cent.

The total sales of fluid milk declined by .5 per cent. Sales of whole fluid milk declined by 2.6 per cent while sales of lowfat fluid milk rose by .9 per cent

While attending two colleges full-time and working 40 hours a week in Brainerd, Janell hasn't had much time to be a family hostess.

Dry cows and heifers on pasture at the Leverington Ayrshires farm at Pine River form a suitable backdrop for Region I Dairy Princess Janell Leverington. The Leveringtons are converting their herd of approximately 80 milk cows to 100 per cent registered Ayrshires. About 20 grade Holsteins remain in the herd at the present time.

Growing alfalfa and corn together as a crop

and George D. Marx, Ph. D.

A new technology that was researched in Bulgaria involved the growing of alfalfa during the first growing season with field corn. The objective was to determine the biomass or yield of silage when both were grown together versus alfalfa alone.

The seedbed was prepared using a disk-harrow to a depth of three to four inches, in early August after harvesting a cereal crop. Three weeks later, the soil was plowed to a depth of about 10 inches with no other tillage until spring when it received two harrow tillage operations going crosswise with the last operation at a fairly shallow depth. This left a firm and week-free seedbed for seeding the alfalfa and corn.

Corn was planted at 30,000 plants per acre (75,000 plants per hectare) in 28-inch (70 cm) rows and alfalfa was immediately seeded with a drill using 4 to 5-inch (10-12 cm) spacings at a depth of less than one inch. Alfalfa was planted in the same direction as the corn but can be planted in a crosswise direction if desired. The soil temperature was 50°F (10°C) at the time of seeding. Rapid, uniform germination and emergence resulted.

Herbicides can be utilized if weeds are a problem but must be adapted for use on both corn and alfalfa. In Bulgaria, Dual was used after seeding and 2,4DB when the alfalfa was in the three to five-leaf stage. In the fall of the second and third year of the alfalfa, other herbicides, based on the weed species, can be utilized to control the pests. Insects should also be watched for potential need of chemical control.

The harvesting is done with silage-making equipment. The first cutting is accomplished usually at the flowering stage of the coro which is high in protein. At this stage of harvesting, the forage mixture contains about 20 to 25 percent alfalfa. Another one or two cuttings of pure alfalfa can then be harvested the same season in Bulgaria. If the corn is harvested at the milky-wax stage of kernel development, usually only one additional crop of alfalfa can be harvested and is not as desirable for the alfalfa as the earlier harvest.

(Note: Dr. Histina Iantcheva, Ph.D., works in Forages at the University of Agriculture in Bulgaria, Eastern Europe. She visited northwest Minnesota last fall to study forage production in Minnesota.)

Manure management concerns described

by George D. Marx, Ph.D.
Professor of Animal Science
U of M - Crookston

We hear lots of talk these days about livestock waste management and the word "pollution" creeps into the discussions. Manure management is not easy as we have learned with our own farming operation at the Northwest Experiment Station. Livestock manures are generated every day of the year, yet the land or soil cannot accept that manure off the farm on a daily basis without problems.

In years past when I was on the home farm in the 50's, manure was spread daily whether it was snow, rain or shine. In the summer, very little manure was generated as most all animals were on pasture so we didn't have to worry much about which crop to spread it on during the summer. Sometimes we went to a temporary piling system.

Now we are in a new era. Our customers are worried about manure run-off and pollution of our water supply, lakes and streams. The Northwest Experiment Station has gone to a complete managed system of manure handling. The barnyard run-off is completely controlled now so none of the material finds it way to the ditches which eventually lead to the Red Lake River in Crookston.

The clean run-off and water still go to the ditch, including water from the barn roof, which collects in eave troughs and is funneled to the ditch. All run-off from inside the yard runs into a slatted floor holding tank (20' W x 60' L x 8' H) which was built at one end of the barnyard along the bunk line. The pollution control tank should never get more than half full in order to hold a three-inch rain, otherwise it could still run over and eventually get to the river.

The holding tank serves two purposes—collecting waste while cattle are eating and collecting the dirty waste water run-off. It serves its purpose very well. The Minnesota Pollution Control Agency (MPCA) was involved at the time of construction and issued a permit and certificate.

The manure from the milking animals housed inside the barn, and milking parlor wash water, are stored as liquid in two manure tanks. One below-ground tank is 30' W x 90' L x 8' H built in 1964 and an above ground tank (1987) which is 40' in diameter and 20' high has a total of five to six-month capacity. This enables us to spread late in the fall after the crops are harvested and again in early spring before the row crops are planted for best use of the manure nutrient value.

In addition, we still have some solid manure from the calf barn, maternity pens and pole barn lots. When this waste cannot be spread on the land, it is stockpiled and composted for later spreading on the fields. This plan works fairly well, but we still need to watch the fields where manure is utilized so as not to overfertilize for nitrogen or in the event the bedding material and manure contain week seeds.

Composting does kill some weed seeds, but manure stored even as liquid in manure tanks still has many viable weed seeds. Several years ago, we conducted a study along with our Agricultural Engineer, E.C. Miller, and found that most of our problem weeds (seeds) survive longtime storage in liquid manure tanks and lagoons.

This system of animal manure handling is a workable choice. Dairymen and livestock producers have other options that are viable alternatives. Many have large pits or lagoons which are satisfactory in some areas, and if correctly built to adequately contain the material to prevent seepage and/or spillage.

In closing, livestock manure should work for you—not against you. Managing animal manures and waste involves a well thought-out plan. The University of Minnesota, Agricultural Engineering Department has a new publication available entitled, "Managing Waste from the Milking Herd" which should be helpful for dairy producers considering changes in their manure management system.

Reigning as Pennington County Dairy Princess for 1993 is Abby Chervestad, 17, daughter of Kory and Carol Chervestad of rural Oklee.

Abby received her crown and banner as county princess at a special dinner in her honor at Miz Ellie's restaurant in Goodridge April 26 and will represent the county's dairy industry at celebrations and events in the area during the coming year.

Coronation of the regional princess will take place at noon at the Pennington county fairgrounds where the dairy cattle show will be held this year. There will be no dairy show in the downtown location at Floyd B. Olson park.

There have been dairy cattle in the Chervestad family for many generations. The present herd is maintained on the farm of Abby's grandmother, Helen Chervestad, about a mile and a half from the Kory and Carol Chervestad farm.

Kory said the herd of grade Holsteins includes about 50 milk cows and a total of about 120 cattle in all. The Chervestads from 1,400 acres of small grain and sunflowers and raise about 150 acres of alfalfa hay and 50 acres of corn for cattle feed.

The 34x100 barn has comfort tie stalls and a pipeline milker with four units and a 600-gallon bulk tank. Grade A milk is sold to Land O'Lakes at Fosston with pick-up every other day.

For 27 years the Chervestad family has been a member of the Red Lake County Dairy Herd Improvement Association. Rolling herd average is about 14,000 pounds of milk per cow. One of the top animals in the herd has had a single lactation production record of 23,000 pounds of milk.

One of Abby's favorite school activities at Oklee high school is volleyball where she has received the most-improved award for 1992 and was named to the Northern Lites Conference all-tournament team. She has played on the junior varsity level since seventh grade and been a varsity player since she was a sophomore.

Last year she also participated in the Junior Olympic volleyball program at Thief River Falls and played in several tournaments in Thief River Falls and around the state.

She plays saxophone and keyboard in the school band, sings in the school chorus and is a member of the annual staff, serving as editor of the school yearbook. An honor roll student, she is also a member of the National Honor Society chapter at Oklee high school and served as junior class secretary.

Organist at Oak Park Lutheran Church near her home, Abby is also treasurer of the Lutheran Youth Society, a Sunday School teacher and Vacation Bible School teacher. She is a member of the women's

Although she is called on to do the milking only infrequently, Pennington County Dairy Princess Abby Chervestad is able to handle that chore if necessary. It's part of the versatility that comes from growing up on a dairy farm.

Rotational intensive grazing considered for dairy animals

by G.D. Marx, Ph.D.
University of Minnesota/ Northwest Experiment Station/ Crookston

The last pasture research studies on dairy cattle at the Northwest Experiment Station, Crookston were conducted 25 years ago during the summers of 1967 and 1968. The study compared birdsfoot trefoil pasture, alfalfa pasture and dry lot feeding for dairy heifers and was published in the Journal of Dairy Science, 53:678, 1970.

The heifers in dry lot outperformed those on pasture and alfalfa pasture was 40 percent more productive than trefoil pasture with 40 percent more animal carrying capacity resulting in similar animal performance.

Now in the late 80's and '90's there seems to be a renewed interest in pasture with some of the sustainable agriculture programs and new management practices promoted in New Zealand, Australia and France. The practices involve new types of fencing materials that are cheaper and easier to move, careful management of growth for top quality feed, more hardy forage cultivars that survive intense grazing pressure, and continuous rotation of pastures to help maximize milk production.

However, intensely managed rotational grazing is not new in Minnesota. During the 40's and 50's, variations of the present system were used in the field, usually with longer grazing periods and more labor was involved than with the new tape fences or polywire now available. Most of today's systems involve moving the animals daily to a new area of pasture.

Some systems utilize the milking cows on the first day of pasturing followed by the dry cows and heifers the second day. Then that area of the pasture is left to recover until growth has reached 6-8 inches in height before pasturing again. This usually takes two weeks or more of recovery time between grazings.

I should add that if the pasture is grass, such as Kentucky bluegrass or the creeping type clover as Ladino, then only wait until it reaches 4 to 6 inches tall to regraze again. Good judgement (management) is needed in many cases. If the growth of forage gets too far ahead, then portions can be utilized for hay. During late summer or drought periods, additional pasture areas will need to be added or more stored forage fed to supplement the slow growing pasture.

The North Central Experiment Station at Grand Rapids is presently conducting a major pasture study utilizing dairy animals. Dr. Joe Rust and associates are comparing two groups of dairy animals. One group is confinement fed in the barn with haylage, corn silage, limited hay and grain; and the other group on pasture, plus limited hay (4 lbs/day) and grain. Their set-up includes seven plots of three acres each and lots are divided with moveable one-half inch white electric tape.

The tape is moved every milking (12 hours) and only takes about five minutes to move. After the milk cows are moved off the pasture, a group of dry cows and heifers follow to consume what remains or the poorer part of the pasture. Results of these trails will be forthcoming in the next year. Milk production of the cows, body weights, milk composition and forage analysis data are being collected on the confinement-fed and pasture-fed groups.

When starting a pasture program, one should consider such factors as watering system, fencing type, animal nutrient requirements, animal health and reproduction, cattle movement, pasture maintenance, climatic and seasonal weather conditions and daily dedication to the management of the system. Pasture can reduce feed costs due to less handling, storage, fuel and machinery cost, and savings in wear and tear on equipment.

Animal health and physical condition may be improved with the additional exercise the pasture affords the animals. On the negative side, extra labor is required for fencing, handling and moving cows. Sometimes it is difficult to maintain pasture consistency which requires continual ration balancing against pasture quality. Supplemental grain is a must regardless of type of pasture and should be continually monitored to meet the animals' nutritional needs along with providing proper protein, mineral and vitamin supplementation.

Intensive grazing systems are another management tool or alternative way of feeding the forage to the dairy animal. A producer needs to consider the advantages and disadvantages to determine if this system is economical for a particular dairy operation. Pasture is more popular with smaller dairy units.

Some of these producers are now or considering seasonal calving (early spring) to maximize production during the flush growth period of the pasturing season, then tapering off until the dry period in late winter with no cows in milk. This system may afford the dairyman some time off to take a vacation, but also complicates the milk marketing system as consumer demand for milk is similar each and every day of the year. Seasonal dairying is another separate issue and will be discussed in another report.

How do immitation foods compare to the real thing?

Whats the difference between an imitation food and its copied counterpart? More than you may expect. Many imitation food products are packaged and sold just like traditional foods, and may look and taste like the real thing. However, imitation foods may be nutritionally inferior to traditional foods.

Processed meats, juices and dairy foods are among the list of foods commonly copied. And, imitation products are often used as ingredients on pizza, in casseroles and in other convenience foods where several ingredients are combined. How can you spot imitations and compare them nutritionally to real foods? One way is by taking a closer look at nutrient labels and ingredient lists.

When comparing the nutrient labels of some traditional foods with their imitation counterparts, the labels may look very similar. However, most nutrient labels list only 8 to 10 of the 50 or so essential nutrients. And the biggest nutritional difference between traditional foods and imitations may often be in the other 40 nutrients listed on the package. By comparison, a variety of traditional foods, including meat or protein foods, milk and dairy foods, fruits and vegetables and breads and grains supply all of the 50 or so nutrients needed for good health.

Ingredient lists can be another tool for telling traditional foods and imitations apart. The first ingredient in each list is the one that occurs in the greatest amount. To identify real foods, examine the ingredient list and remember:

- The first ingredient of real cheese is milk or cheese.
- The first ingredient of real fruit juice is juice.
- The first ingredient in real processed meat is meat, not soybeans or textured vegetable protein.

Look for the words "imitation" on food labels to help you spot imitation products. To get the most for your money and the best for your health, take time to make sure you always get the real thing.

Pennington County Dairy Princess Abby Chervestad of Oklee will represent the county at the Region 1 Princess contest Tuesday, June 8, during the 44th annual Northwest Dairy Day in Thief River Falls.

Walter Bros. have 135-cow dairy herd

Ray and Roger Walter of rural Plummer believe in using their heads instead of their backbones

by Marvin Lundin
Times Editor

When there are 135 cows to be milked morning and night and another 175-180 cattle to care for, it would seem that time for family fun might be a little hard to come by. It may not be easy, but the Ray and Roger Walter families of rural Plummer have developed a system that works for them from both the dairy and the recreation standpoints.

"We believe if we use our heads we don't have to use our backbones so much," is the way Roger explains it. "We feel our dairy is automated enough and simple enough to do things in a fast but also efficient way. And it makes it a lot easier to get help also."

Roger also explained the division of duties as he sees them. He says he does most of the feeding, breeding, herd health and record keeping and Ray does the field work, repairing, book work, golfing and ice fishing. And they share the milking duties which is about a three-hour job twice a day.

Ray agrees that sharing the milking duties has its advantages. "Everyone gets to use the same fish house," he said.

Despite the kidding about time off the farm for sports and other activities, Walter Bros. is first and foremost a full-time, full-scale dairy operation. The proof is in the production—a rolling herd average on 135 cows of 22,100 pounds of milk per cow (up 2,000 pounds from a year ago) and 739 pounds of butterfat.

In addition to the milking string, the Walter Bros. herd includes 77 bred heifers for possible expansion this fall and 100 young heifers for future replacements. Bull calves are sold to another area farmer, Albert Fisher, who feeds them out.

Since last fall Albert has helped with the milking several days a week and done custom feeding of the Walter Bros. dry cows and bred heifers three months before calving. They also exchange farm and field work whenever possible.

Also since last fall the Walter Bros. dairy has been on a little different type of schedule than most dairy farms. Milking starts at 9 a.m. and 9 p.m. and continues until about noon and midnight.

"It seems to work out very well for all of the workers involved," Roger said. "Randy Hesse and Matthew Lallier also help out with labor. We feel lucky to have so much good help to make it much easier to get away from the farm, which we feel is very important in dairy farming to avoid burnout."

Both Ray and Roger are AI technicians. They look for bulls with offspring that have good feet and legs and strong udders—usually bulls with high repeatability ratings so they are pretty sure of what they are getting.

"We use a lot of different semen supply companies if they have bulls we like," Ray said. "We also use a beef bull to clean up problem breeders. Some of the animals in the herd are registered but we aren't all that concerned about registration. Having papers doesn't necessarily make them milk any better."

"We do cull very heavily to try and maintain a strong and healthy herd," Roger added. "But we also have had the luxury of a lot of replacement heifers to keep the barn full."

In addition to the team effort from family and hired workers, the Walters make good use of other professionals. "We get strong and valuable advice from veterinarians, nutritionists and banks," Roger said. "We feel that a dairy must have that type of help to survive.

"Red Lake Falls Veterinary Clinic works with us on the diary herd to help prevent health problems. We also work with Dr. Ken Learmont at Gonvick on some things. The vets keep in touch with new things happening and pass them along to us, and we like that."

Most of the nutrition work is done by Dale Carter and Sheldon "Snooky" Erickson of the Roseau county extension service through a multi-county extension network. They are given much of the credit for the increase in milk production of about a ton per cow over the past year alone. "It's fun to work with them," Ray said.

The milking herd receives a total mixed ration balanced for one group, which means all the cows get the same mix of haylage, corn silage, shell corn, distiller's protein, cottonseed, sunflowers and minerals. The cows are let outside about half an hour a day to nibble on dry hay. Baby calves are housed in calf hutches.

Although there have been dairy cattle on the Walter farms in the Plummer area for three generations, the Walter Bros. operation started in 1977 after Ray and Roger purchased the farm from their father, Herb Walter. Now at age 76 Herb still does most of the tractor work on the farm including hay cutting, cultivating and plowing. Herb had been a dairy farmer since 1946.

Herb's father, Ernest, came to the Plummer area from Egeland, ND, in 1934 after experiencing about all the drought he could stand. He had planted a crop for eight years in a row and never used his binder, so he got on the train and decided to head east until he found something green.

During a stop in Thief River Falls he ate at the Palm Garden restaurant (where the Rusty Nail is now located) and heard about a farm available for rent in the Plummer area. He rented a couple of farms before purchasing one a half-mile north of the present Walter farmstead in 1939. The present farm was acquired in 1944.

Ray and Roger now farm about 600 acres, including 150 acres of wheat, 75 acres of corn for silage and 100 acres of barley, the remainder used for alfalfa hay and pasture. They fill three 20x60 silos with haylage, one of which is fed out over the summer and refilled. One silo is filled with corn silage in the fall and a bunker silo is also filled with corn silage.

The brothers put up about 750 large round bales of hay a year and use about 4,000 straw bales. They also buy about 15,000 bushels of shell corn for use in the total mixed ration.

Liquid manure is pumped into a large lagoon and spread on the fields for fertilizer once a year, preferably before planting time. Manure from young stock is piled and composted before it is spread.

Milking is done in a double-five milking parlor with 10 milkers equipped with automatic take-offs. Milk is pumped to a 1,250-gallon bulk tank and shipped daily through the NFO out of Red Lake Falls. The Walters say they have been very happy with the NFO service. They plan to add another 800-gallon bulk tank this year for better cooling and two-day storage capacity.

Ray married Reinette Novak, daughter of Walter and Monica Novak of Brooks, June 28, 1969. They have four children:

Renae, 23, is married to Dan Lindgren of Climax and they are both recent graduates of Mayville State University. They live in Grand Forks, ND, have a three-year-old daughter Brittney and are expecting their second child in August. Renae has a degree in administrative office services and Dan has a degree in elementary education.

Vicki, 22, is married to Mitch Olson of Gonvick and they also live in Grand Forks, ND. Vicki graduated from the cosmetology program of the Thief River Falls Technical College in 1991 and is currently working as a beautician while attending the East Grand Forks Technical College surgical technician program. Mitch is a computer technician for Associated Seed.

Jennifer, 19, is a freshman at the University of Minnesota—Crookston, pursuing a degree in diet and nutrition.

Brian, 18, graduated from Plummer high school May 28 as valedictorian of the class. He plans to go to UMC this fall to study agricultural economics and business.

With two people working in the 10-stall milking parlor it takes about three hours to milk the 135 cows in the herd. To best fit the schedules of all workers on the farm, milking is done from 9 a.m. to noon and 9 p.m. to midnight every day.

Three 20x60 silos on the Walter Bros. farm northwest of Plummer are filled with haylage to feed to the farm's 135 milk cows. One of the silos is used for summer feeding and then refilled. Cattle on the farm are fed a total mixed ration which is prepared with the help of a scale and mixer installed on the farm.

Five-year-old Kristina Walter, daughter of Roger and Janel Walter of Plummer, can't seem to interest this calf from her family's dairy herd in a bottle of milk despite her coaxing.

Ray and Roger Walter and their families seem to have found the mix that makes a large-scale dairy operation click. And don't let their kidding fool you—long hours, hard work, sharp minds and good sense are all part of the formula.

Study at Crookston changes the way cows are milked

University of Minnesota, Crookston

In the early 1960's the Northwest Esperiment Station at Crookston conducted a three-year study that resulted in changing a critical component on milking machines. The research involved the size of the teat cup liner, sometimes called milking machine inflations, which is the only part of the milking equipment that touches or comes in contact with the cow. Some people refer to it as the business end of the milking machine.

Dr. Edward Fredrick initiated the study, which was completed by Dr. George Marx, in the dairy barn at Crookston using two different manufacturers' milking machines which utilized three different size milking liners referred to as narrow, medium and large bore. These different size molded liners were fitted and assembled in complimentary shells (teat cups) of the two different brands of milking equipment and utilized on both mastitis-free cows and milk cows with a history of clinical mastitis.

Another part of the study compared various size liners on the same cow, for example, half the udder being milked with narrow-bore and half with medium-bore liners at every milking. Milking machines were identified by number so that the same cows were milked by the same machine at every milking during the duration of the experiment. Studies were all conducted in a stall barn with a pipeline milking system.

The study incorporated daily use of the strip cup for clinical mastitis detection for every cow at every milking and biweekly use of the California Mastitis Test (CMT) to detect subclinical mastitis on every quarter of all cows (both morning and evening milkings). Bacteriological analysis of individual quarter milk samples collected aseptically was conducted every three months.

In addition, the physical appearance and characteristics of the teat were determined immediately post-milking at monthly intervals. Milking time, machine stripping time and milking rates were also determined monthly on each cow for both morning and evening milkings.

The end results of this long-term experiment were very revealing, indicating that narrow-bore milking liners were superior and had a significant advantage over the medium and large-bore liners particularly with reduced clinical and subclinical mastitis, less udder irritation and fewer new udder health problems.

Narrow-bore liners were observed to have less teat cup crawl, whereas wider bore types tend to creep toward the teat and udder junction which potentially causes more udder irritation and chance for increased mastitis. The only disadvantage of the narrow-bore liner in the entire study wa slightly increased rate of fall off during the milking process as compared to wider bore teat cup liners.

The results of this study were published in the Journal of Dairy Science over 20 years ago and have stood the test over time. Milking manufacturers began recommending narrow-bore liners soon after the study was completed and is still the choice of the industry and dairymen today.

Kjerstie Hamness is Marshall County Princess

Daughter of Ronnie and Noreen Hamness of Strathcona to compete in Region I Dairy Princess Contest June 8

by Marvin Landis
Times Editor

Kjerstie Hamness of Strathcona is no stranger to Northwest Dairy Day in Thief River Falls, but when she participates this year it will be in a formal dress instead of showman whites.

For the past six years Kjerstie has shown cattle in the dairy show and she has an animal to be entered again this year. But someone else will have to be at the show halter for her as she participates in the Region I Dairy Princess contest as the Marshall County Dairy Princess.

Eighteen-year-old Kjerstie is the daughter of Ronnie and Noreen (Svegdahl) Hamness and was six years old when her parents started their dairy farm southeast of Strathcona a dozen years ago. Their 80-acre farm at that time has grown to a 750-acre farm at present.

The Hamness family, which also includes 15-year-old son Rory, milks 45 grade Holsteins and has a total herd of 120 to 130 head. They keep records under the Owner-Sampler program of the Dairy Herd Improvement Association and have a rolling herd average at present of about 17,000 pounds of milk with a 3.6 to 3.8 butterfat test.

Kjerstie's work with the cattle has included bedding the cows, feeding calves and doing the milking when necessary for her to do so. The dairy barn has tie stalls, a pipeline system with four milker units and a 600-gallon bulk tank. The Grade A milk is marketed through the Roseau Cooperative Creamery Association.

Completing her senior year at Greenbush-Middle River high school, Kjerstie has been a member of the Future Farmers of America chapter and an active participant in its programs.

The horse judging and dairy foods teams where she was a member went to state competition when she was a sophomore and junior and she has served as the chapter parliamentarian.

She played volleyball for five years from seventh through 11th grade, was sophomore class president, had a role in the freshman class play and served as a member of the student council. Kjerstie has also been a candidate for both homecoming and Sno-Fest queen.

President of the Grass Lake 4-H club, she is a past secretary and as a member of the dairy judging team won several first places at the Red River Valley Winter Shows.

She has shown junior and senior yearlings and a two-year-old at Northwest Dairy Day and the Roseau county fair, winning a purebred dairy calf at the Roseau fair. She has also shown poultry and rabbits, participated in the Community Pride project and won half a dozen state fair trips in various project areas.

She is a recipient of the Key Award for junior leadership and participated in share-the-fun and softball as well as the club's Adopt-a-Highway clean-up program.

In 1991 she was named Red River Valley Holstein Girl by the Red River Valley Holstein Association.

Kjerstie works part-time as a dietary aide at the Greenbush Nursing Home where her mother is also employed. She is enrolled at the Wadena Technical College for next fall in the Word Processing Secretary program.

She lists her hobbies as four-wheeling and—what else?—shopping.

Marshall County Dairy Princess Kjerstie Hamness of Strathcona hadn't received her official crown and banner when this Times' photo was taken a couple of weeks ago. The daughter of Ronnie and Noreen Hamness, she will represent Marshall county at the Region 1 Princess contest Tuesday, June 8, in Thief River Falls.

Making a few notes in preparation for her graduation party, Kjerstie Hamness of Strathcona takes advantage of a rare warm day this spring. A 1993 graduate of Greenbush-Middle River high school, 18-year-old Kjerstie is Marshall County Dairy Princess.

Visitors to the Ronnie and Noreen Hamness farm east of Strathcona will be greeted by this sign and a perky wooden cow. Kjerstie Hamness, 18, was recently named Marshall County Dairy Princess and will represent the county in the Region 1 contest June 8 at Northwest Dairy Day in Thief River Falls.

Getting the milkers ready for the evening milking is frequently the job of Kjerstie Hamness of Strathcona, Mershall County Dairy Princess. The Hsmness farm includes a milking herd of 45 grade Holsteins and additional 120 to 130 head of young stock.

New research shows that calcium helps prevent kidney stones

In light of new research, doctors are rethinking their traditional advice for kidney stone sufferers to avoid calcium. In fact, a study published in the March 25 issue of the New England Journal of Medicine suggests just the opposite: calcium-rich foods actually ward off stones rather than cause them.

"This study is welcome news for millions of American s who have restricted or eliminated milk and dairy foods from their diets," said Greg Miller, Ph.D. vice president of Nutrition Research for the National Dairy Council®. "Not only is it all right to eat dairy foods again, it's now recommended as a way to avoid the problem."

In a four-year study conducted by Harvard Medical School and Brigham and Women's Hospital in Boston, 45,600 men with no history of kidney stone formation were tracked. Men who consumed the highest amount of calcium in their diets had a 44 per cent lower risk of forming kidney stones than those who consumed less calcium.

"Our findings provide no support for the belief that a diet low in calcium reduces the risk of kidney stones," concluded Dr. Gary C. Curhan, author of the study. "In contrast, a higher dietary calcium intake may decrease the incidence of symptomatic kidney stones."

Other research findings include:

- High potassium intake and fluid intake were associated with decreased risk of kidney stone formation, as was the use of thiazide diuretics.
- Calcium-rich foods such as lowfat milk, cottage cheese and ricotta cheese had the strongest association with decreased risk, while yogurt and non dairy foods like oranges and broccoli also proved to be protective.
- High consumption of animal protein was directly associated with increased risk of kidney stones.

The authors of the study cite the role of the nutrient oxalate as a likely explanation for the study results. They suggest that calcium restriction increases the absorption of oxalate from the intestinal tract, causing an increase in urinary oxalate excretion. Urinary oxalate may be more important than urinary calcium for kidney stone formation.

"There is no benefit to the time-honored advice to eat a diet low in calcium," according to Dr. Jacob Lemann, Jr. of the Medical College of Wisconsin in an editorial accompanying the report. Instead, people who are concerned about stones should make sure to get the recommended dietary allowance of calcium which is 800 milligrams for most adults.

Dairy Farmers Funds a top research project

Dairy farmer-funded research findings were among a list of the top ten research discoveries of 1992. That announcement appeared in the March 1993 issues of the Harvard Health Letter, a monthly publication of the Harvard Medical School. Researchers, funded by America's dairy farmers via the National Dairy Promotion and Research Board, found the location of a human gene responsible for atherosclerosis—the leading cause of death for both men and women.

The discovery was ranked number one because the physicians on the advisory board of the Harvard Health Letter felt it could have the greatest long-range impact on human health and disease.

The National Dairy Board began funding this research in 1989 by forming the Dairy Research Institute for Genetics and Nutrition as a coalition of several medical organizations. According to Ron Krauss, Ph.D. and head researcher on the project, "Approximately 15 percent of the population appears to have the gene defect (attributed to risk of heart disease), and benefits by reducing the fat content of their diet, while the remainder of the population either does not benefit or is put at an increased risk of cardiovascular disease by consuming a low fat diet."

Researches will try to develop a method for easy identification of individuals who need drug therapy and/or special diets so that the majority of the population that does not benefit or is put at a greater risk with diet restriction, can eat a wide range of foods, especially dairy products.

"America's dairy farmers have plenty to be proud of," said Ray Johnson, dairy farmer and chair of the National Dairy Board's dairy foods and nutrition research committee. "The research we are funding is a well-respected, long-term investment. This research can help build a case against today's generalized diets and dietary recommendations which some media and doctors tend to translate into limiting dairy food intake.

"In the end, this research will help consumers protect their health while protecting and building demand for products that start on our dairy farms," Johnson added.

Dairymen express concern about molds and toxins in feed

University of Minnesota, Crookston

This year there has been a much greater concern by dairymen and livestock feeders concerning moldy feedstuffs. Most of the concern is in regard to corn, corn cobs and corn silage as the fall season was ideal for mold development because of the wet harvest conditions and the slow maturation of the corn. Some of the corn stood through the winter and those fields have more of a problem than those harvested last fall. Much of the mold-producing toxins develop right in the field so the longer the delay before harvest, the greater the potential problem.

Molds affect livestock in different ways. Some are nearly harmless and rapidly metabolized by the animal and even if toxins are present, cause no appreciable accumulation in animal tissues. On the other hand, others can be harmful or even fatal to some animals especially monogastrics (non-ruminants).

Some animals fed feed containing mold toxin may not appear ill but may not gain or produce milk to the potential. Others may experience an immuno-suppression of their internal defense mechanisms and not respond adequately to certain health conditions making the animal more vulnerable to stress and infection.

Some fusarium molds, capable of producing toxins, have infected the late maturing corn in the upper midwest. In general, toxin levels have been found to be generally low and not a health threat to animals. Also, corn harvested early or at normal harvest periods and stored properly has little cause for concern but late harvested wet and immature corn may be suspect.

Fortunately, we have had no serious problems in northwestern Minnesota and very few samples have indicated a potential problem. Also, at current toxin levels being found in a few samples of feed, mostly late harvested corn, it is unlikely to get into the milk supply. Milk, however, is being constantly monitored by the Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection for any mycotoxins.

If a feed looks suspicious, especially corn samples whether they are kernels (grain), cob corn stored in cribs or corn silage, the corn should be tested or evaluated before feeding. Swine and poultry are more sensitive than dairy or beef animals and producers should be especially careful with small or younger animals.

Broken kernels will mold much faster than whole kernels, especially if above the normal storage moisture. This is true not only for corn and peanuts but any type of large seeds including soybeans, sunflower seeds, cotton seeds, edible beans, and peas.

Mold-produced toxins and mycotoxins can also cause increased incidence of breeding problems, diarrhea, foot and leg problems as well as reduced production. Toxins interfere with metabolism and hinder digestibility of feeds. Some affect the animal's hormone system and influence estrogen levels which lead to reproductive problems, particularly poor conception rates. High levels can even cause abortions.

If a feed containing some mold must be fed, the toxin effect can be decreased by diluting the bad feed with higher quality feed when possible. The more productive animals on the farm should not be fed moldy feed. Grains should be dried down properly. Aerate stored grains and screen for molds and mycotoxins to keep the mold problem under control. Silages should be stored properly with rapid filling at proper moisture levels, be well packed and essentially free of air. Removal should be rapid to keep ahead of spoilage (two to three inches daily off the face).

In order for molds to grow, they must have moisture, air and a substrate (such as starch or sugar). If feedstuffs are precontaminated in the field before storage, there is not much one can do except to stop the contaminated mold growth. Mold inhibitors or preservatives such as propionic acid may help preserve the feed if applied at appropriate levels. Ensiling will usually kill the molds but will not destroy the toxins that were produced previously in the field. That is why we recommended that producers harvest their corn as early as feasible last fall before the molds became a problem.

Communicating is the key for Princess Kay

Bridget Hendrickson of Preston is a positive voice for Minnesota's vital dairy industry

by Marvlo Landla
Times Editor

A special guest at the 44th annual Northwest Dairy Day in Thief River Falls Tuesday, June 8, will be Bridget Hendrickson of Preston, the 39th Princess Kay of the Milky Way. She will greet the public on behalf of the American Dairy Association of Minnesota and assist with coronation of the 1993 Region I Dairy Princess.

Communicating is the key for Bridget, the daughter of Percy and Phyllis Hendrickson and a 1992 graduate of Harmony high school. She was crowned Minnesota's Princess Kay at the Minnesota State Fair last August.

"I decided to go into the communications field because I really enjoy communicating with others, whether it is just general conversation or sharing my knowledge through giving speeches. I want to stick with the agriculture industry so I can continue to work with and for the fine people that I have met in the past few years."

Bridget is a student at Rochester Community College but has cut her studies to part-time classes during the spring quarter due to commitments as Princess Kay. She fully believes in the importance of education, but at age 18 says she believes she will continue to have the opportunity to go to school but has only this one opportunity to gain experiences through the role of Princess Kay.

Contestants in the Princess Kay competition at all levels must be from a dairy farm background and Bridget certainly fits that mold. The Hendricksons milk 65 Holstein cattle, about half of which are registered, and have an additional 125 head of heifers and young stock.

Her brother Scott has farmed with their father since Scott graduated from high school in 1985. He has concentrated on building the herd's production through genetics and feed and has had impressive results. The current rolling herd average is 21,462 pounds of milk per cow with 3.7 per cent butterfat test and 3.0 per cent protein test. Their top cow is presently giving 110 pounds of milk per day in her fifth lactation.

"My father says we don't need to buy a total mixed ration (TMR) mixer because we have my brother Scott," Bridget said. "He has helped my father develop a great feeding system that has increased our herd's production dramatically. It also helps that my brother-in-law (her sister Christine's husband Harry) is a dairy herd specialist. He runs a purebred dairy operation with my brother Todd." Her oldest brother is Kevin, age 32. Christine is 31, Todd is 28 and Scott is 26.

With dairying going on all around her, it was only natural for Bridget to get in on the action. She was a member of the Empire Builders 4-H club for nine years—the same club where her father and all her brothers and sisters had been members.

She showed cattle for five years, winning trips to the state fair with diary cattle every year. In 1989 she earned honorable mention at the state fair for Junior Champion heifer. At the county fair she was reserve champion junior showman twice, reserve champion senior showman once and grand champion senior showman once.

In her first year in 4-H as a nine-year-old, Bridget was first attendant to the Little Miss Seamstress. She earned placement on the honor court four years and received three honorable mentions in the clothing project.

Communication leads to leadership and Bridget has been called upon to lead. She was chairman for two of her four years on the 4-H dairy board, chaired the 4-H style revue for two years, served as Fillmore county 4-H federation president in 1992, was county 4-H Ambassador four years and was treasurer three years, vice president one year and president two years of the Empire Builders 4-H club.

A 1992 graduate of Harmony high school, Bridget played trombone in several bands for two to four years and sang in the senior choir four years, earning star rating at district and regional solo competitions as a senior.

She captained the varsity football cheerleading team and was a basketball cheerleader as well. She played forward and guard on the basketball team and shortstop and second base on the softball team which was District 1A champion in 1991 and 1992 and Region 1 co-champions in 1992.

Bridget served on the student council four years, was a member of the SADD chapter, an honor roll student for four years and a member of the "Cardinal" annual staff for four years.

A Sunday school and Bible school teacher at United Methodist Church in Cherry Grove, she was also a church youth fellowship member five years. She played in a summer softball league, worked as a waitress during high school and currently is a part-time employee of Maurice's, Inc., at The Closet in Rochester.

"I plan to go back to Rochester Community College next fall and take the credits I need to complete my freshman year," Bridget said. "Then I plan to transfer to either Iowa State University or the University of Minnesota—St. Paul to pursue a degree in Telecommunicative Arts and Ag Marketing."

Showing dairy cattle is old hat for Bridgat Hendrickson, Princess Kay of the Milky Way. During her 4-H club years she won junior showmanship champion honors twice and senior showmanship reserve and grand championship once each at her county fair. She also earned five state fair trips with dairy animals and won honorable mention at the state fair for Junior Champion female with the animal pictured above.

June is DAIRY Month

Active in many areas while attending high school at Harmony, Bridget Hendrickson of Praston was a cheerleader for football and basketball. She is a freshman at Rochester Community College and took the spring quarter off to attend to her duties as Minnesota's Princess Kay of the Milky Way.

Chocolate Milk is good way to serve calcium

If your child has a strong preference for chocolate milk, don't fret. Like unflavored milk, chocolate milk is an important source of calcium, protein and riboflavin.

Contrary to some widely misheld beliefs, chocolate milk does not cause cavities. How often sugary foods are eaten and how long they are in contact with the teeth is more of a risk factor for tooth decay. Chocolate milk is a liquid that passes through, whereas sticky candy and gum generally adhere to the teeth and promote tooth decay. In fact, research indicates that there are ingredients in chocolate milk that offer some protection against cavities.

Another misconception is that the oxalic acid in chocolate milk affects calcium absorption. While chocolate milk contains an insignificant amount of oxalic acid, there is no scientific evidence that it prevents calcium absorption. Studies reveal that the calcium absorption from chocolate milk is similar to that of other foods containing calcium.

If caffeine is a worry, rest assured that chocolate milk contains only 2 to 7 mg of the substance in an 8 oz. serving—less than in cola beverages and a few decaffeinated coffees.

To be certain that your child is receiving all of the nutritional advantages of chocolate milk, make sure you're not serving a chocolate drink. Chocolate drinks contain no more than 70 per cent milk and don't have as much calcium for growing bones.

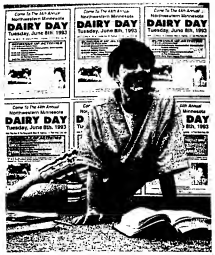
Princess Kay of the Milky Way, Bridget Hendrickson of Preston, will be in Thief River Falls Tuesday, June 8, to participate in the activities of Northwest Dairy Day. Bridget was crowned as the state's dairy princess during the Minnesota State Fair last August.

Black and white are favorite colors on the farm of Bridget Hendrickson, Princess Kay of the Milky Way. Not only is the dairy herd of 65 half purebred and half grade Holsteins black and white, the family's Dalmatian sports the same contrasting colors as well.

Athletics were an important part of Bridget Hendrickson's high school experience. She played guard and forward on the basketball team and was shortstop or second baseman for four years on the softball team which won District 1A titles in 1991 and 1992 and was Region 1 co-champion in 1992.

Ice cream is a special treat any time, but especially during the warm days of summer. It wasn't a warm day when this Times' photo was taken, but there is warmth evident in the relationship between Region I Dairy Princess Janell Leverington and her four-year-old niece Kristy, daughter of Greg and Dana Leverington.

Dairy farmers who are proud of their trade usually collect a number of items relative to their business for decoration. Region I Dairy Princess Janell Leverington of Pine River poses with some of the dairy-related items from her home and a picture board with photo memories from her county and regional dairy princess events.



Homework is never a favorite activity for students, but Janell Leverington found plenty of it to do during the past year. She was a full-time student at both the Brainerd Technical College and Brainerd Community College as well as working 40 hours a week at Herberger's Department Store in Brainerd. And she still found time for public appearances as Region I Dairy Princess.

City prepares for summer construction

Prior to adjourning, the state legislature approved a bonding bill that will allow the city to proceed with a watermain extension to the airport and a ground storage reservoir.

During a recent meeting of the city council, Sen. LeRoy Stumpf said that funding for the watermain extension to the Regional Airport and ground storage reservoir had been approved by the State Legislature. Approximately $200,000 of funding for the watermain extension was approved during the 1992 session and $254,000 of funds were placed in the bonding bill during the 1993 session, according to Sen. Stumpf.

Sen. Stumpf indicated that the legislature had approved a $69 million bonding bill this past session, but only $660,000 went to the Technical Colleges. This apparently means that the city can proceed with the preparation of plans and specifications, according to Ron Lindberg of the Engineering and Technical Services department.

On May 19, the council opened bids for the water and sewer installations and watermain loop extending from Highway 32 in the vicinity of the ODC east to the airport road. There were seven bidders. The low bid came from Wagner Construction, Inc. of South International Falls in the amount of $590,037.90. The engineer's estimate was $645,058.10.

The low bid on that part of the summer construction proposal that involves extending a watermain to the airport also came from Wagner Construction. Wagner Construction came in with a bid of $170,928.15. The engineer's estimate was $206,671.

There were eight bidders on the sidewalk improvements project. The engineer's estimate was $180,708.85. The low bid of $160,250.75 came from Knife Lake Concrete of Mora. The city council did award the contract for the sidewalk improvements project to Knife Lake Concrete at that meeting.

On May 25, the city council approved a resolution calling for the bid on the water and sewer installations and watermain extension to the airport to be awarded to Wagner Construction subject to the successful negotiation regarding the bid on the pond outlet structure at the wastewater treatment ponds. That portion of the contract involves $185,000. The total award granted Tuesday, May 25, came to $575,966.05.

BIBLE STUDY

Principles of success

After you read through this Bible study, go back and look up the Scriptures and highlight them in your Bible.

Success in life is knowing Jesus Christ. Success in life is knowing God's Ways. We are successful in life when we persevere in doing what is right, for the glory of God. Success in life is abiding in Christ. Success in life is entering the kingdom of heaven, which is within us (Luke 17:21). These principles of success are the key to riches and honor and eternal life (Rom. 2:7).

The mind of man cannot conceive what God has planned for those He loves. No good thing will He withhold from the person who lives the right way and glorifies God in heaven each day by doing good works (Psalm 84:11; Matt. 5:16). The righteous are repaid according to the deeds of love they have done in Jesus' name (Col. 3:17). The Bible tells us that when we cast our bread upon the waters, after many days it will return to us (Eccl. 11:1). Yes, for every good thing we do in service to others for the glory of God, expecting nothing in return, we will receive a reward many times more than the good we have done (Eph. 6:8; 2 Cor. 9:10). It is impossible to outgive God.

Those people who serve others are most precious. They are greatly appreciated by men as well as by God. How blessed is the man who considers the helpless, the poor and the needy. The Lord will deliver him in his day of trouble. The Lord will protect him and keep him alive. That person who helps and serves others shall be called blessed on the earth. The Lord will not only protect him from his enemies. He will also keep him alive when he is sick. He will restore such a person to health (Psalm 41:1-3).

The Lord will give His Spirit to anyone who begins to obey what He says and turns at His reproof (Prov. 1:23). The Bible remains a closed book to those who refuse to repent and obey it (2 Cor. 4:3-4). To repent is to begin to obey Jesus Christ by serving others. Jesus Christ is calling us to be servants of others. Jesus Christ, our example, did not come to be served, but to serve (Mark 10:45). He said the greatest among us would be the one who serves the most (Matt. 20:26-28; Phil. 2:2-5; Luke 9:48; Matt. 23:11; Mark 9:35; 10:43-44; 1 Cor. 10:24).

These words are indeed the principles of success in this life and the one to come. Yes, Jesus Christ, our Lord and Master, came to show us how to be servants of others on a one-to-one basis, so we can be truly successful for God's glory. Remember, if the righteous are scarcely saved, what is going to happen to those who will not obey the gospel of Jesus Christ (1 Peter 4:18)? For without holiness, which comes as a result of practicing righteousness, no one will see the Lord (Heb. 12:14, King James Version).

Plans for a trip was tabled until more information was obtained. The hostess was Elsie Kimbraugh and the door prize winner was Adaline Stennes.

The Junior Citizens are waiting for warm weather and school to let out. I can't blame them for wishing for warmer weather because if this keeps up we may have another two day summer.

Pastor Norquist of the Bethesda Lutheran church held Confirmation class on Sunday, May 28th, for the following confirmands, Brian Nelson Jr., Jamie O'Hara, Christ Rud and J.D. Ombter.

Many of us can remember Lydia Nelson, daughter of Martin Nelson, who lived near Isaac Thompson's place. She will be 100 years old on Thursday the 27th, and rather than having a big party for her, her niece asked us to shower her with cards or letters, pictures or anything you can come up with to help her remember Strandquist and Karlstad. She is now living in a Home for retirees. Her address is c/o-Episcopal Church Home, 1879 Eronia Avenue, Room 244, St. Paul, MN 55104 telephone (612) 649-0032. Let's give her something to remember!

LaVol Thun spent the week in Moorhead with Mike Bruggeman and family while Debbi was in Phoenix visiting her sister, Dawn Hegdon and family.

Boyd and Virginia Sihlberg brought Ebba Sihlberg home to Strandquist after a three week stay in South St. Paul. Kelly and Donovan Donarski brought supper for her on Saturday. I am glad to hear that though she will not be doing any gardening herself, she has had that good place of ground tilled and planted this year. Harold and Delories Donaldson and Jeff and Margaret Donaldson got a lot of it planted before the rain came on Saturday. We are going to miss Ebba if she should ever move away from here.

Visitors this week with Ebba Sihlberg were Viola Fredricks, Elphia Adlis, Art Kleinvachter and Dolf Amundson of Shreveport, IL.

Ellen Stromberg visited Elmer and Anna Holmstrom at Newfolden on Wednesday afternoon. She visited June Kasprowicz on Friday.

George Rasmussen, who is back from California where he had been staying for some time with his daughter, Carol and family, is now in St. Paul with his son, Virgil and family. We hope to see you in this area soon George!

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Ostrand of Rainier, WA, visited Frank and Judy Kleinvachter on Wednesday.

Betsy Thompson, her sister, Florence Strom from Florida, Elsie Lefrooth and Pearl Thompson helped Agnes Vagle celebrate her birthday on Thursday afternoon. There's been a lot of activity in the Robert and Cathy Thompson's yard this week, getting ready for their new home. Saturday Scott Christenson, Troy Evenson, Brian Lorenson and Andrew Thompson were busy young men clearing away the branches. The whole gang were to Isaac's for dinner.

NOTICE OF HEARING
SHORELAND MANAGEMENT
PLANNING COMMISSION
CITY OF THIEF RIVER FALLS

Notice is hereby given, pursuant to Chapter 11 of the Thief River Falls City Code, that the Planning Commission of the City of Thief River Falls has initiated an amendment to Chapter 11, Land Use Regulation (Zoning) of the City Code ("Zoning Ordinance").

The primary purpose of the amendment is to incorporate shoreland management into the Zoning Ordinance. The State of Minnesota has mandated that the City adopt shoreland management. Shoreland management will directly affect property within 300 feet of a river, stream, or flood plane and will place greater restrictions on the use of that property.

A summary of certain sections relating to shoreland management include: Statutory authorization; policy; jurisdiction; compliance; permits required; certificate of zoning compliance; notifications to the Department of Natural Resources; shoreland classification system; land use district descriptions; lot area and width standards; placement, design, and height of structures; shoreland alterations; placement and design of roads, driveways, parking areas, and essential services; storm water management; special provisions for agricultural, park and recreation, commercial, and industrial districts; definitions; yard requirements; and conditional use permits. Shoreland management is also regulated in other sections of the Zoning Ordinance.

The Zoning Ordinance is also being readopted in its entirety with amendments to other sections including, but not limited to, definitions, uses allowed in zoning districts, administration, and non-conforming lot, structures, and uses.

The amendments to the Zoning Ordinance will affect all property within the city limits of Thief River Falls. All persons who have questions related to this should review the proposed Zoning Ordinance and should direct preliminary questions to the Community Development Director.

Copies of the Zoning Ordinance are available for inspection at the Thief River Falls Public Library, Thief River Falls City Clerk's office, and Thief River Falls Community Development Director's office. Copies may also be obtained from the Community Development Director for the cost of copying.

Notice is further given, that the Planning Commission will conduct a hearing on the proposed amendment to the Zoning Ordinance at 8:00 P.M. on Tuesday, June 15, 1993, in the City Council Chambers, City Auditorium, Thief River Falls, Minnesota.

All persons wishing to comment on the proposed amendment to the Zoning Ordinance will have the option to be heard at the time of the hearing. # City conducts survey

Confidential survey needed for a federal block grant

The City of Thief River Falls is issuing a survey in the next few weeks to all area households.

The confidential survey asks questions ranging from personal information (age, type of work) to what the resident believes Thief River Falls should be like in 20 years.

The city is applying for a federal block grant for commercial rehabilitation, such as store front renovation.

Portions of the residential area immediately contiguous with the downtown area may also be eligible for rehabilitation with the grant funds.

If the city is eligible, it may receive up to $1.4 million for a comprehensive grant, including $600,000 for commercial development.

Over 3,000 surveys will be sent in two waves. The first wave will be sent to 550 residents immediately contiguous to the downtown area and this survey will inquire about housing information.

"The critical piece of the survey is income information. We need this for grant application purposes," said Don Stewart, community development director. The city needs the survey completed and mailed back no later than June 15. Estimated time for completing the survey is 15 to 20 minutes.

When residents receive the survey they can clip off the mailing address with their name and insert it with the survey. As soon as the surveys are received, the names will be separated from the survey to ensure confidentiality.

Another reason for the survey is the impending comprehensive municipal plan, which is a "master plan" for the city covering the next ten to 20 years. The municipal plan required additional questions on the survey, but was like "killing two major birds with one stone," Stewart said. "It's an opportunity to give community leadership feedback on

Search intensifies for bone marrow match

Urgency of finding a matching bone marrow transplant donor for two and one-half year old Julia Baron of Thief River Falls has increased with further testing tentatively scheduled for July and likely transplant soon thereafter.

The daughter of Jim and Sharon Baron of Thief River Falls has been diagnosed as having chronic myelogenous leukemia and is being maintained on oral chemotherapy. Her best chance for a cure is in finding a donor with a perfect match for a bone marrow transplant.

A recent article in The Times stated that the chemotherapy could maintain the little girl "for a month or a year," in the estimation of doctors. Her condition has not changed, he mother told The Times this morning, but the testing and transplant have been accelerated because doctors say patients who are diagnosed with the disease at such a young age "have a tendency not to last as long" as older persons.

At this time the best match that has been located through a national donor registry is a donor who matches five of six tests in human leukocyte antigen (HLA) typing and shows further compatibility in more advanced testing. While marrow from that donor would be available, the chances of success would be increased if a person matching all six tests could be found.

To see if such a match can be found in this area, a bone marrow typing drive will be held Monday, June 21, from 12 noon to 7 p.m. at the Franklin middle school gymna-

Demolition of depot is a real possibility

by Mark Olson
Staff Writer

The Soo Line passenger depot, a 79-year-old Thief River Falls landmark, is chugging closer and closer to the wrecking ball.

Canadian Pacific, owner of the Soo Line, is gathering bids from demolition crews. The CP rail system is not placing a closing date on the demolition bids until they gather all of the bidding contractors' names.

With no one opting to purchase the building, Bill Hager, CP Rail System bridge and building supervisor, said the depot will be demolished this summer. "If we have a really interested buyer, we won't bother with the demo estimates," Hager said.

The demolition decision came from "out of the blue" to Ken Walberg, bridge and building foreman. The decision also came as a surprise to several city officials who were contacted by this reporter. Bob Bregier, city building inspector, said he has not yet been contacted by the Soo Line for a demolition permit.

The 1905 six-stall roundhouse will also meet the wrecking ball. The eight-stall 1910 roundhouse addition will remain standing.

At its peak the depot handled 10 passenger trains a day. It was district headquarters for the Soo Line, carrying passengers to towns such as St. Paul, Winnipeg, Duluth, Moose Lake, Brooten, Noyes and Kenmare, Fordville and Drake, N.D.

The last passenger train rolled past the depot on March 25, 1967. Soo Line moved its four remaining staff out of the depot in September

Lynnae Broten enters Miss Minn. pageant

Good luck party in her honor is scheduled for the public Friday, June 11, at 7:30 p.m. in the Eagles hall

Personal interview outfit for Lynnae Broten at the Miss Minnesota pageant in Austin next week will be this two-piece suit. A change in the procedure has been made this year so that the candidates will stand at a speaker's stand rather than be seated during the interview. Lynnae's group of eight candidates is scheduled for interviews Tuesday, June 15.

by Marvin Lundin
Times Editor

Months of planning and preparation come to a conclusion for Lynnae Broten, Miss Thief River Falls, when she leaves Saturday for Austin and competes in the annual Miss Minnesota Scholarship Pageant. Pageant week will conclude with the state pageant Saturday, June 19.

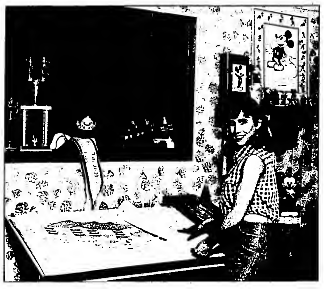
Thief River Falls area residents can get a preview of Lynnae's participation and have an opportunity to give her their best wishes at a good luck party to be hosted by the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce Friday evening. The event in Lynnae's honor will take place at 7:30 p.m. at the Eagles club rooms.

Miss Thief River Falls will model her evening gown, swimsuit and personal interview outfit and perform her in-line skating talent presentation. The general public is invited and encouraged to attend to show support for the community's representative in the Miss America program state pageant.

Lynnae, the daughter of Ron and Mary Broten of rural Thief River Falls, was crowned Miss Thief River Falls last August. This year the local pageant is scheduled for Saturday, July 10.

There will be 24 candidates in the state pageant this year, including Doni Loeslie of Warren, Miss Thief River Falls a year ago and a state entry this year as Miss Cottage Grove. She was the only entrant Lynnae knew when she and the other contestants attended the state pageant's "Girl Talk" session in Austin in March.

The contestants are divided into three groups of eight designated as red, white and blue groups. As number four in the white unit, Lynnae will have her personal interview with the judges Tuesday and compete in evening preliminary pageants in evening gown Wednesday, talent Thursday and swimsuit Friday. Ten finalists will be selected to compete for the Miss Minnesota title Saturday, June 19, at 7:30 p.m. in the Austin Arena.



Memorabilia from her amateur and professional ice skating days and her reign as Miss Thief River Falls surround the drafting table in Lynnae Broten's room. The reigning Miss Thief River Falls, Lynnae recently completed the two-year architectural drafting and design program at the Thief River Falls Technical College. She will enter the Miss Minnesota Scholarship Pageant week of activities beginning next Sunday in Austin.

"I'm very happy with the way the sequence of things lines up for me," Lynnae said about the pageant assignment. "I like being near the middle of my group rather than first or last and I think the schedule of competition is fine. I can get a feel for the stage before presenting my talent number and I have a night to recover if that doesn't go as well as I hope it will."

An ice skater since age three, 21-year-old Lynnae has skated professionally with the Ice Follies' "Walt Disney World on Ice" and been active in the local skating program as a student and most recently an instructor and ice show co-director.

While participating in the Thief River Falls Skating Club program, she entered ice skating competitions in Winnipeg, Thief River Falls, Bemidji, East Grand Forks, Duluth, St. Cloud, Minot, Fargo and Hibbing, placing in the top

Beth Johnson

As one is driving the streets of our fair city these days, it is very evident that it is a certain time of year. The time of year has little to do with rain or snow or sun or flowers, but rain and snow and sun do affect what happens this time of year. For, you see, this is the time of the year when garage sales are beginning to once again make their appearance in our town.

As you drive our streets you notice signs depicting the essential information about these special sales. Some of the signs are basic, they simply say "Garage Sale" and then they have an arrow drawn pointing the reader in the right direction. Some signs are more elaborate, they may tell us more information about the sale. Signs like "5 Family Garage Sale" and "Moving Sale" and "Garage Sale—lots of misc. and children's clothes" are samples of the more elaborate signs. Some signs are not only elaborate, but they are also creative—they may have balloons or streamers attached, or be printed in a variety of colors. Some signs are tacked to the trees of the grassy area on 3rd street. Many signs are tacked to stakes and plunked in the ground at the appropriate corner. Some signs are rained on, some are wind blown, but they all tell us of places where maybe, if we are lucky, we will find some bargain which we just can't resist.

If we miss the signs, we can usually tell that a garage sale is going on by the steady supply of vehicles stopping for just a bit by a neighbor's house. If we want to plan our garage sale shopping spree, all we need to do is find a garage sale gram at one of our area business sponsors and combine that with information gleaned from the "For Sale" section of our paper and off to garage sale shopping we can go.

I might sound like I am an experienced garage sale shopper. Nothing could be farther from the truth. I do not go garage sale shopping, usually. But, if a neighbor or friend has a sale, I'll mosey over to satisfy my curiosity. The reason I am not a garage sale person is probably because of my two experiences in attempting to have a garage sale of my own.

The first garage sale I had was about 10 years ago. We were moving from the town in Kansas where we had lived for a few years, to the Upper Peninsula of Michigan. A garage sale seemed like the logical thing to do to get rid of a few unneeded, outgrown, over or under used items before I would need to pack those items and take them to my new home.

So, I determined what was to go on my sale. A friend wanted to be a part of the sale as well, so we had a "2 Family Garage/Moving Sale." Our ads were in the local paper. Our kids and husbands were roped into helping us set up for the grand sale. Items were marked. The day arrived, and so did the people. Being the minister's family meant we were somewhat of a curiosity—so, everyone from the congregation, or so it seemed, came to satisfy their curiosity as to what did the preacher's family have to sell, and were the items marked cheaply enough!!!

By days end, most everything had sold. My friend and her family took their remaining items home. We counted our earnings for the day. I had truly marked everything cheaply enough as most everything went, and I earned a grand total of $20.00!!!!

My second garage sale was the garage sale that never took place. We were living on 3rd street in this fair city of Thief River. As the quantity of traffic is significant on 3rd street, I had determined that if ever I was to have a successful garage sale, this would be the place to have one. I would not even need to advertise, all I would need would be to open the garage door and place a sign with a simple arrow saying "Garage Sale."

So, around my house I went looking for things to sell. I found an adequate supply of good junk that I thought that maybe someone would like. I marked my items and placed them on tables in my garage. Then one day, a day or two before my garage sale day, I looked at the items in my garage which I had determined to sell, and I decided that the easiest thing by far for me to do would be to simply give away my unwanted, outgrown, never used items. So, I unmarked everything, and placed the items in the back of my car and found an appropriate charity to which I could donate my garage sale items.

I think that that is what I will most likely continue to do. Charities most likely need good, semi-used items more than I have the time and energy to have a garage sale. Besides, it does feel good to give to someone in need. So, enjoy your garage sales, and I'll enjoy giving away my few items.

Former TRF resident has project published in quilting book

The Rodale Press, a well-known publisher of how-to books and magazines, has recently published its first edition in a series of annual quilting books entitled America's Best Quilting Projects. Included among the projects featured, was an appliqued tablerunner, made by Lois (Aubol) Reff, formerly of Thief River Falls. Lois has quilted for nine years and is very active in the Fergus Falls Heart-in-the-Country Quilter's guild. The tablerunner was quilted as a Christmas gift for her mother, Pauline. In the fall of 1990 the Rodale press contacted quilting guilds across the country, requesting submissions of original designs.

Lynnae Broten to enter Miss Minn. pageant

three in her groups and adding medals to her collection each year she competed.

Lynnae auditioned for the Ice Follies and Ice Capades while a senior in high school and was invited to join the Ice Follies/Walt Disney's World on Ice. She skated the role of one of the Disney characters in performances on the East Coast from Maine to Florida. She said she would like to take on that challenge again because she enjoyed the travel and the skating.

She has performed in all 18 ice shows the local skating association has sponsored. Last year she was an instructor in the recreational skating program and also taught private lessons. Her pageant talent number will be an in-line skating routine to the music of "Boot Scootin' Boogie."

"It isn't a very technical program," she said of the talent performance. "You can't be as precise on rollers as you can on edges. But I hope to make it fun and I hope the audience has fun along with me."

A 1990 graduate of Lincoln high school, she also has completed the two-year architectural drafting and design program at the Thief River Falls Technical College this spring. She would also like to take neon sign training and work in landscaping, interior design and neon sign making and design.

During the months since she received the Miss Thief River Falls title Lynnae has made a number of appearances in and on behalf of the community. She has also been preparing herself for the state pageant in a number of other ways.

"I have been doing quite a bit of reading in the daily papers and making a book of clippings of current events," she said. "I attended two photo modeling classes at "The Academy" in Fargo as well as a pageant class there.

"Whenever I can I have been practicing my skating routine and I have done quite a bit of weight lifting to develop muscle tone. I think that is a lot of fun and plan to keep on doing it in the future. I work at Laundryland where they have tanning beds and have done a little tanning but not a lot."

She has also been helped by beauticians at Hairlines Unlimited with hair styling and make-up so that she can tell people helping her at the state pageant what she wants.

"I'm going to make next week as much fun as I possibly can," she said about the pageant week. "I'll be giving it my best, but I'll also be getting as much enjoyment out of the experience as possible. Not every girl has the opportunity to be a part of a state pageant and I want to make mine a memorable one."

Lynnae's hobbies in addition to skating are hunting, fishing, sewing (she was county 4-H fashion revue queen four times), bird watching, relaxing in the hot tub and being with friends. She has an older sister Rona, 28 and a younger brother Aaron, 19.

"I would like to encourage more girls to enter the Miss Thief River Falls pageant this year, although the time is getting short," she said. "You have to try in order to have the experience and I believe it can be a real confidence builder."

There is added incentive to take part in the local scholarship pageant this year with the winner to receive a $1,500 scholarship.

"I found my $1,000 scholarship last year to be a real help with my education," she said. "The increase this year makes the contest all the more valuable. I don't think anyone who enters will regret the experience."

CITY OF THIEF RIVER FALLS

VOLUME BASED PRICING GARBAGE COLLECTION SYSTEM

THIS AD IS THE FIRST IN A SERIES OF ADS EXPLAINING THE IMPLEMENTATION OF THE NEW VOLUME BASED GARBAGE COLLECTION SYSTEM.

On July 1, the Thief River Falls sanitation department will begin implementing a volume-based price system for garbage pick-up. A state-mandated law requires the city to drop its monthly flat rate system and begin a system with charges for the "amount" of solid waste picked up. The new law aims to encourage garbage reduction and recycling.

The city prefers that plain black bags not be used after July 1, but crews will continue to pick them up during a system conversion period of July 1, to January 1, 1994. After January 1, 1994 only bags with the "City of Thief River Falls" on them will be picked up by the sanitation department. More information on volume-based garbage pick-up will follow in next week's Times as part 2 in a series of ads.

Donors needed for Avenue of Flags project

Long discussed plans for an Avenue of Flags at Greenwood cemetery are still on the drawing boards. If plans go as desired, the Avenue of Flags could be completed this summer.

Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce and the Avenue of Flags committee, however, are looking for individuals interested in donating funds for the installation of poles and flags.

Chamber Executive Vice President Bob Bergan explained that so far, $3,000 has been raised for the project. That's enough for about 10 poles and flags. Bergan said more is needed to make the plans a reality at Greenwood cemetery.

Bergan said about 20 to 25 flag poles and flags are needed to successfully complete the project at Greenwood cemetery. If they don't receive funds for the 20 to 25 flags, the committee will consider whether to switch the location of the project from Greenwood cemetery to somewhere else. That somewhere else hasn't been determined.

But, Bergan said, for the next 30 days, the Chamber of Commerce will accept donations of $300 to purchase of a flag and pole. With the donation, a plaque will be installed on the pole. The plaque will dedicate the pole and flag to whoever the donor wishes to dedicate the flag and pole to.

Anyone interested in making a donation to the Avenue of Flags project should contact the Thief River Falls chamber of commerce at 681-3720.

Representation on the Avenue of Flags committee includes representatives of various service clubs, the American Legion, VFW, Eagles, Elks and City of Thief River Falls.

Search for bone marrow match intensifies

sium in Thief River Falls. Potential donors may be from 18 to 55 years of age.

The typing requires only the giving of about two tablespoons of blood. No bone marrow donation is necessary for the HLA testing. Those being tested will be encouraged to be listed on the national registry. Cost of the typing is $45 per person with partial funding to be provided through donations and matching funds (up to $1,000) through Lutheran Brotherhood Branch 8129.

A donor search has been made in Julia's family and no close match has been found. The more people who can be tested, the greater the chance that a matching donor can be found, although the family has been informed that the chances of finding a six of six match can run from one in 100 to one in a million.

In a letter being circulated by Diane Lehrer, president of Lutheran Brotherhood Branch 8129, assistance is being requested in having people tested and in providing financial assistance to lower the per-person cost of testing. She said that it is hoped to have at least 200 people tested June 21. Persons with questions may contact her at 681-6156.

"What we need first and foremost are people willing to be tested and to be a donor if a match is found," Mrs. Lehrer said. "It is critical that as many people be tested as possible.

"To reduce the cost of testing we are encouraging group or individual donations. Those who are unable to be marrow donors can still help by making a financial contribution."

Checks may be made payable to Lutheran Brotherhood and sent to Diane Lehrer at 532 Merriam Avenue South, Thief River Falls, MN 56701.

City to conduct confidential survey soon

a whole host of issues."

One of the survey questions asks if residents would support higher real estate taxes or piggyback taxes for items including economic development, an outdoor swimming pool and a multi-purpose community recreational-events center.

The survey also includes side issues on which public institutions such as the city council, Chamber of Commerce and Jobs, Inc., were interested in getting feedback.

The federal grant requires that money be allocated to the commercial areas and contiguous neighborhoods. The size of the grant will determine the area covered. The business and surrounding neighborhoods are broken into four sections. In some places, the blocks stretch to areas west to Kinney Avenue, north to Eighth Street, east to Atlantic Avenue and south to Marshall Avenue.

If the city receives the grant property owners may receive grants and/or low interest loans to improve their property. A windshield survey (a visual survey taken from a vehicle) determined that of 3,000 houses in Thief River Falls, 600 needed external repair, Stewart said.

The last comprehensive community survey Stewart said he recalled was in 1983. In 1988 the city also did a statistically-valid telephone survey.

The city will also send a different survey to business owners and hold a meeting with them discussing the grant and commercial rehabilitation.

Park and Rec chooses co-directors

The Thief River Falls park and recreation department committee decided to advise the city council to appoint co-directors while current director Mike Mongoven seeks disability retirement.

The co-directors are park and recreation employees: buildings and grounds supervisor Curt Howe and park and recreation secretary Madelyn Vigen.

Vigen will handle the office work and summer programs. Howe will supervise the work crews.

The committee made the decision at its Tuesday meeting. The city council will vote on the committee's decision at its next meeting.

Speaking Of . . .

Sharon LaCouraiere

. . . A Well-Deserved Salute!

Over the years, I have done at least two columns on my bad experiences with sales people. I think it is time to do a column about those nice sales people, don't you?

All too often I find myself griping and groaning about the occasional rude, inconsiderate clerk I run into, and rarely speaking of the many pleasant, polite, nice people who serve me each day.

Well, let me tell you, I've been running into a whole bunch of nice sales clerks lately. I don't know why, but I have noticed that salespeople are getting more and more pleasant lately. Maybe it is the weather, or maybe all the snippy clerks have gone somewhere else, but, nevertheless, the nice ones are out there working, and that's for sure.

Now let me tell you, I am not the most pleasant person to deal with, especially by the end of the work day, which is when I seem to do most of my shopping. I am usually tired, and harried and a little crabby by the time I get to whatever store I am going to.

Sometimes I am like Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde. I seem to leave my "nice personality" at work (if I ever even had one there that day) and become a grouch when I walk out the door of the office and into the door of a store.

I can't be very pleasant to deal with by the time I get finished with my shopping and get to the paying place. There are several reasons for my bad mood: sometimes I have been unable to find what I am looking for; sometimes I have found it, but not without much searching; sometimes I have been forced to substitute something else; sometimes I think whatever I am buying is too expensive. All of these things contribute to my already unpleasant state of mind and I become one of those crabby customers that the sales clerks hate.

I just can't understand how a person can stand on their feet for eight hours, dealing with those crabby customers who are often like me, tired and too doggone demanding, and still keep on being smiley and pleasant. But I have come across many salespeople who do it, and do it well, by golly.

As a sales clerk, I bet I would last about three hours, just about the length of time it would take for my legs and feet to start to hurt, my back to ache, and my head to get dizzy from all of the numbers and figures I had to remember. I can't imagine putting in an eight hour day at such an occupation, let alone keeping a smile on my face for the entire time.

I can't imagine dealing with people who are less than pleasant, sometimes downright crabby and rude, day after day. How does anyone keep his or her sense of humor and stay happy and smiling when dealing with these types of people every day? How do they keep from occasionally losing their temper and saying what they feel?

And the thing is, salespeople have to be nice to everyone, whether those customers are crabby or not. I'm sure the boss does not allow any sassing back in that type of situation. Even though the customer is a grouch and just plain nasty, the customer is always right, according to the boss, who wants to stay in business and has to say that, right?

Yes, it is definitely time to acknowledge and salute all of those people who wait on us and keep smiling, smiling, smiling, and treat us with consideration and courtesy, no matter what kind of a crabby customer we are. You nice sales people know who you are—we know who you are—and thank you.

Demolition of depot is possible

1987. The Chamber of Commerce leased the building from 1987 to 1989. It has remained vacant since the chamber left.

"We have to look at liability with the depot being there," said John Bergene, CP director of communications and public affairs. He said the depot remains a target for arson and vandals.

Walberg said he has begun contacting area contractors to find demolition price ranges for the depot and the roundhouse. An additional contractor would be needed to remove asbestos before demolishing the building, Walberg said.

Canadian Pacific informally offered the depot to the City of Thief River Falls for the land value only and has discussed the exchange for about three years, Bergene said. "We would talk with interested parties if they are serious, but I don't think the city is interested," Hager said.

The city council formed a Depot Preservation Committee in August 1990 to study the possibility of purchasing the property.

A report issued by the committee said the Soo Line would consider selling the depot for a net consideration of $75,000, but that Soo Line might sell it for less to a public entity.

Later, Soo Line offered to sell the property for $130,000. This price included the Gamble Robinson building parking lot property, which has since been purchased by a private business. Community development director Don Stewart said it was the city's belief that Soo Line would sell the building to the city for less.

Preliminary estimates of costs for restoration in 1990 ranged from $165,000 to $209,000.

Repair estimates include asbestos removal which, at the time, ranged from $30,000 to $50,000.

Other repairs include roof repair, insulation, heating and air conditioning, replacing lighting fixtures and site and parking improvements. The committee reported that the building was structurally sound.

The Chamber of Commerce left when faced with "unreal costs" to purchase a heating unit," said Julie Olson, executive director of convention and visitors bureau.

"We looked at purchasing it for the city. It didn't make sense (because of the cost involved)," said Larry Rohlf, Depot Preservation Committee Chairman. "When we brought it back to the city council we were not told to pursue it any further," Rohlf said.

Soo Line offered to pursue someone to buy it, Rohlf said, and the committee has been dormant since.

The size and brick construction of the depot make it unique from other depots. Stuart Nelson, a 35-year Soo Line veteran and historian, said Minot, N.D., has the only similar Soo Line depot he knows about. The Minot American Legion uses the 81-year-old two story brick depot for its clubrooms.

The uniqueness of the depot has led to problems. "The bad part of this is it's big enough so that you cannot move it, so it's use it or destroy it," Nelson said.

Wood-framed depots could be easily moved and many found their way to county historical societies. In one case a person paid CP for the right to tear down a depot for lumber, but "There has never been a profit motive in those things," Bergene said.

Most of the wood structures were preserved or destroyed in the 1970s and 1980s. "We find a home for them to the best of our ability," Bergene said. Now CP is concentrating on the remaining more permanent brick structures, which Bergene called a rarity.

A 1988 letter to Rep. Wally Sparby from the Minnesota Historical Society stated that Historical Society staff had determined the depot as "likely to be eligible" for listing on the National Register of Historic Places.

The depot was finished April 29, 1914 at a cost of $60,000. Minneapolis architects designed the concrete and brick building. The Minnesota Historical Society reports that the steep gambrel roof is batten copper. Limestone trim is used in window sills, a water course and along the gambrel roof line and the depot floors are terrazzo.

After its construction in April 1914, the Thief River Falls News-Press reported, "The depot is one of the best on the Soo system between this city and the coast and adds much to the appearance of the city."

Originally the division superintendent, the telegraph office and car distributor, dispatcher's office, chief train dispatcher, chief clerk and his clerks, train master and road master were located on the second floor.

The first floor was a large waiting room for passengers, a ticket office, the district's freight agent office, a local freight agent office, a baggage room and an express office (forerunner to UPS).

On April 12, 1993, Karen Wojahn and Deb Lee were at the VFW in Thief River Falls. Bruce Erickson and his wife also came to the VFW to play bingo. With no advance signals, Bruce collapsed onto the floor. Noting that he was unresponsive and not breathing, Karen and Deb began CPR while Law enforcement and ambulance personnel were being called. When Officers Meslowski and Schneider arrived, they took over the CPR duties. When the ambulance arrived, Karen assisted the ambulance personnel in their protocol. Bruce Erickson was later transfered to a Fargo hospital where he underwent by-pass surgery. He has returned home and is doing well. Because of their efforts, Karen and Deb were presented a Certificate of Award during a City Council meeting Monday night. Erickson who was at the meeting Monday night said a lot of people were involved in the events that took place that night and who helped keep him alive. He was thankful that Deb and Karen were there when he needed their assistance. Pictured from left are Mayor Robert Reeve, Karen Wojahn, Bruce Erickson, Deb Lee and Police Chief Ken Froschheiser.

In recognition of his long-time service to Ecklund-Holmstrom Post 117 of the American Legion, John Weltonen (right) was presented with an honorary life membership in the organization at last week's meeting of the post. He was presented with the life membership by Post Commander Stan Bement.

Improvements to water treatment plant complete

Improvements and construction at the Water Treatment Plant in Thief River Falls is substantially complete. Last week, the Thief River Falls city council approved a recommendation to sign off on the Project Engineer's Certificate of Approval.

Utilities Department Supervisor Arlo Rude, said the certificate of approval means the construction at the water treatment plant is substantially complete. There is a list of minor corrections to be completed, but the project is complete for the most part.

The punch list or list of minor corrections is expected to be completed by July 15. Rude said a grand opening or open house could be held at the water treatment plant at the end of July or in August.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS!
HAVE YOU FORGOTTEN ANYTHING?
One item that is often overlooked when insuring a dairy farm is the value of the milk on hand. Have you included it on your policy, either as a scheduled item with a specific dollar value, or in the unscheduled farm personal property inventory? The milk would be covered for the same perils as your other farm personal property.
Also, the dairy equipment should either be listed along with your building value, or listed separately on the inventory sheet along with the other unscheduled items.
Peak season coverage is available for cattle, grain and hay. These items can vary greatly in value at different times of the year. It can save a few premium dollars to include the peak season endorsement rather than including maximum limits for the entire year.
Also, the next time you are inquiring about your insurance, ask about Suffocation and Blizzard coverages for you livestock.

Shane Skeim is state track meet qualifier

■ Thief River Falls boys, girls compete in Section 8AA meet

Runner-up finishes in both the shot put and discus at the Section 8AA boys high school track meet in Alexandria Saturday qualified Thief River Falls senior Shane Skeim for Class AA state meet competition in both events.

Skeim went 50-7 in the shot put and reached 155-10 in the discus.

Combination boys and girls Class A and Class AA state meet will be held Friday and Saturday at the National Sports Center in Blaine.

Top two finishers in each Section 8AA individual event and first place relay teams were state meet qualifiers.

"It (state meet berth) is a sweet reward for a lot of hard work that Shane has put in over the last few years," said Thief River Falls boys track coach Tim Olson. "The amount of work he has put in to reach this goal is unbelievable. He certainly deserves to be there."

Olson said much of the success Skeim has enjoyed in the two throwing events can be attributed to the individual attention the weightmen receive from volunteer coach Mitch Skeim – Shane's dad, an accomplished thrower in his day.

"Mitch has been a super addition to the program," pointed out Olson. "Our shot put people were throwing 40-feet for the longest time. Now they're throwing 50. There's a reason why, and it's not me. Working with all of the kids in all of the different events, we (Olson and assistant coach Jeff Mumm) just don't have the time to work with each person individually the way we would like. That's where Mitch has really been a big help, and why our throwers have really taken off."

Only other Section 8AA place finish for the Thief River Falls boys came in the sprint medley relay, where Steve Burslie, Rob Bakken, Lee Lund and Jon Hendrickson finished second.

"We were really happy with our efforts," said Olson. "We had some good, solid performances."

Best finish for the Thief River Falls girls who were on hand for the event was a sixth in the 4x8 relay by Leah Helgenset, Angie Klinker, Sanna Torgerson and Lisa Swanson with a season-best 10:18.

TRF, Little Falls meet in Section 8AA finals

Little Falls got by St. Cloud Apollo 4-3 Friday in the South Sub-Section 8AA high school baseball tournament championship game to move into the Section 8AA finals against North Sub-Section 8AA winner Thief River Falls.

Apollo beat Little Falls 5-4 earlier in the day to keep the double-elimination South Sub-Section 8AA tournament going before the Flyers won the second half of the doubleheader to advance.

Two-out-of-three-game Section 8AA championship series was scheduled to begin with a 2 p.m. doubleheader in Little Falls Tuesday. A split would call for a title-deciding match-up in Thief River Falls today (Wednesday) at 4 p.m.

Thief River Falls came back through the loser's bracket to knock off Alexandria 9-3 and 7-6 in the finals of the double-elimination North Sub-Section 8AA tournament completed Thursday in Moorhead.

Both teams took 19-5 records into the Section 8AA championship series. The winner will advance to the Class AA state tournament June 15-17 at Midway Stadium in St. Paul, where the Section 8AA champion will meet the Section 5AA qualifier in a 4 p.m. quarterfinal game.

Eight-team baseball tournament...

Legion Invitational will start on Friday

Extension of the Lincoln High School baseball season has affected the scheduled start of the 1993 American Legion baseball tournament for defending Ninth District champion Thief River Falls.

Post 117 was scheduled to open its summer season Tuesday against Karlstad-Newfolden-Argyle-Lancaster, but the VFW 16-year-olds were put into that schedule slot instead.

And depending upon the outcome of the Prowlers' Section 8AA high school tournament championship series against Little Falls, Post 117 might not even be in the field for the eight-team Thief River Falls American Legion Invitational, planned Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

The third annual event, sponsored by Eagles Club Aerie No. 2368, will be a two-division, round-robin format bringing International Falls, Fergus Falls, Red Lake Falls, East Grand Forks, Karlstad-Newfolden-Argyle-Lancaster, Roseau and Park Rapids to Irv Wilson Field. If the Prowlers are still playing high school baseball, Bemidji will take Thief River Falls' spot in the tournament here.

Howard Dalager, Bill Moreau and Ron Ostby will serve as Thief River Falls American Legion coaches this summer. Rick Looker will coach the VFW 16-year-olds, who had a 5 p.m. doubleheader planned tonight (Wednesday) against East Grand Forks.

DNR Seeks Campground Hosts

Volunteers to work as campground hosts at selected Minnesota state forest campgrounds this summer are being sought by the Department of Natural Resources Forestry Division.

Campground hosts are unpaid volunteers who are given a primitive campground campsite, free of charge, in exchange for assisting other campers and visitors.

Officials said they would like to employ hosts who can stay all summer, but will consider those who will stay a minimum of four weeks. Hosts will stay at their own camping unit at one of the larger primitive campgrounds managed by the DNR Division of Forestry. Campground facilities include fire grates, pit toilets and drinking water.

Hosts will work part of each day, four to seven days a week, answering questions, giving out information, and performing minor campground maintenance such as litter pick-up.

Persons interested in further information and an application form should contact John Hellquist, Forestry Recreation Program coordinator, Department of Natural Resources, 500 Lafayette Road, St. Paul, MN 55155-4044, or call 612-297-3508.

TIMES FOR TODDLERS

ACTIVITIES

Wind Socks

When summer comes, children like to spend more time outside running. Windsocks have become very popular. This is a simple windsock to make. You will need a wide strip of construction paper, narrow strips of tissue paper and some string.

Simply attach the ends of the construction paper together to make a ring. Staple or tape the tissue paper to the ring so that the ends hang free. Then it will float in the breeze. Attach the string to the other side of the ring. If the children are going to hold the wind sock and run to make the tissue paper float, you may want to attach only one string, so it does not get tangled. If you are going to hang the sock, you may want to attach two strings so it will hang more evenly.

SCAVENGER HUNT

For next week's Activities feature, you will need paper and markers.

BOOK OF THE WEEK

The Thief River Falls public library invites you to browse through its new selection of children's books including the following:

Katz, Michael Jay. Ten Potatoes in the Pot. Here is a delightful collection of old counting rhymes, some familiar, some not. Together, words and pictures combine to make this a perfect read-aloud counting book for the very youngest.

Brown, Marc. Arthur Meets the President. What a surprise when Arthur won an essay contest that sent him on a trip to meet the President in Washington, D.C. Arthur is worried about reciting his speech, but gets some help in a most unusual way.

VIDEO VARIETY

The Great Mouse Detective. This is a great Disney mystery about a loveable London toymaker who gets kidnapped. Legendary supersleuth Basil of Baker Street, and his jolly assistant, Dr. Dawson, outwit a ruthless rat to save all of mousedom.

PARENTING TIPS

Sun Safety Tips

Children have tender, sensitive skin that needs protection from the sun's rays. Consider the following suggestions when your child plays outside.

- The sun's rays are most powerful and risk of sunburn is greatest between 11 a.m. and 3 p.m. central daylight savings time.
- Limit sun exposure time to 20 minutes at a time in the early weeks of spring and summer. Once the skin has developed some tan, you can increase exposure time gradually.
- Use a hat or bonnet for baby's head, or an umbrella for shade.
- Remember, water reflects and scatters the sun's rays, so there is more chance of sunburn when in or near the water.
- Offer liquids often, every 30 to 60 minutes in hot weather:
  - remember water is the best.
  - try juice and ice cubes made from juice for a treat.
  - crushed ice and several tablespoons of juice concentrate whipped in a blender becomes a cool, fruity slush to sip.

SOMETHING TO TALK ABOUT

Talk with your child about the hot sun and the cool shade. Show your child what and where the shade is. Encourage your child to get out the sun periodically. However your young child is still not capable of doing this on his/her own. It is your responsibility as a parent to protect your child from the sun.

City encouraged to reapply for Riverwalk funds

The city's application for funding of the proposed Riverwalk bridge was not approved, but the city was encouraged to reapply.

During an informational meeting on the pedestrian-bicycle Riverwalk bridge, it was announced that the city had received notice from the Minnesota department of transportation that the city's application had not been funded. However, the appliation had scored fairly high and, if the city wishes to reapply, the next round of applications for enhancement funds could be as early as November, 1993.

The city held a public meeting Monday, May 24, after posting notice and mailing notification to individuals within 350 feet of the proposed bridge. The proposed pedestrian-bicycle bridge across the Red Lake river would be located in the northeast part of L.B. Hartz park and would connect the park with Columbia avenue on the east side of the river.

The proposed Riverwalk bridge, which for safety reasons will be designed for use by pedestrians and bicyclists only, is one of the major, uncompleted components of the Riverwalk system. Construction of the bridge would tie L.B. Hartz park which includes the city's tourist recreational vehicle campground, and Pennington County's Oakland Park on the west side of the Red Lake river into other segments of the Riverwalk system. System users can now reach these parks only by either crossing the river on the dam walkway or from the north end of the First street bridge, west to Minnesota Highway 32 and, then southerly along the highway and Riverside avenue to the northeast entrance of the L.B. Hartz park. The city would prefer to eliminate public use of the dam walkway for Riverwalk system users and these routes would be deleted from the Riverwalk system map of the bridge became a reality.

The preliminary estimated project cost of the bridge, including construction of the bridge, landscaping and rip-rapping, engineering and contingencies, is $248,000. The Transportation Enhancement Fund Application made to the Minnesota Department of Transportation, requested federal funding in the amount of $192,200. Local matching funds in the amount of $55,800 would be used to finance the remaining estimated project costs. The local share of the funding, obtained through private donations, is in place and has been set aside for the project.

At the meeting, two residents who live on Jerome street, which is located between 500 and 600-feet of the proposed bridge, expressed their opposition to the project. The major reason cited by these two property owners was their concern that the bridge would result in increased traffic in the vicinity of their neighborhood which would be detrimental to the privacy of their neighborhood.

As a result of the discussion, Third Ward Alderman Dale Wennberg offered to arrange a meeting involving interested neighbors, representatives of the Zehlians and the Community Development director to provide for additional dialogue on the proposed bridge. The Planning Commission concurred and accepted Alderman Wennberg's offer and requested that, following the meeting or meetings, a report to the Planning Commission be made.

Peterson calls wheat decision "serious blow"

Congressman Collin Peterson calls the recent trade panel decision on Canadian wheat a "serious blow" to northern tier wheat growers.

The bilateral dispute panel, established under the terms of the Canadian Free Trade Agreement, was assembled to rule on whether or not the Canadians were unfairly dumping subsidized grain into United States markets. The panel determined that neither transportation subsidies nor additional payments to farmers should be included in determining whether Canadians sell below cost.

The panel did require an audit of Canadian sales dating back to 1989.

"Losing the battle on what constitutes the price makes anything that comes out of an audit pretty worthless," Congressman Peterson said. "We must have meaningful negotiations with Canada to attempt to bring equity to the trading system."

LHS band performs at Flag Day

Performance by the Lincoln high school marching band under the direction of Bruce Felt will be a highlight of the 1993 Flag Day ceremonies Monday, June 14, at 5 p.m. at Elks Park in Thief River Falls. In the event of rain the ceremonies will be held at the Elks club rooms.

Steve Hagen, Flag Day chairman for the sponsoring local Elks Lodge, said the band's performance will be a major attraction for the ceremonies. Color guards from Post 2793 of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and Ecklund-Holmstrom Post 117 of the American Legion and their auxiliaries will also participate.

Members of the Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts in Thief River Falls will assist in presentation of the history of the American flag. These participating scouts will receive special award patches from the Elks Lodge.

Also participating in the ceremonies will be officers and other members of Elks Lodge 1308.

"Members of the Flag Day committee and other members of Lodge 1308 urge the public to attend and honor our flag and all those who have served in wars to protect our freedom," Hagen said.

Bible Study

Living to the Spirit

After you read through this Bible study, go back and look up the Scriptures and highlight them in your Bible.

A disciple of Jesus Christ, after being baptized, is to live to the Spirit in order to please God. How is this done?

Before you became a disciple of Jesus Christ, you were by nature living to the flesh. That means that you were thinking your own thoughts and saying your own words. You were directing your own steps and living the way you thought was best.

Now you have agreed to live your life to please God, like our example Jesus Christ did. Living to the Spirit is living to please the Father, who gives His Spirit to those who obey Him (Acts 5:32). What does the Father want us to do in order to live to the Spirit? He wants us to glorify Him by doing good works (Eph. 2:10; Matt. 5:16).

Why is doing good works so important? Doing good works is how we produce good fruits on our spiritual trees, and how we build godly character (Matt. 3:10). The Father does good works, and we are to imitate Him (Eph. 5:1; 1 Cor. 11:1; 1 John 2:6; 3 John 11; 1 Peter 2:21). Doing good works allows a disciple of Christ to be blessed (Mal. 3:10). Good works was the main ingredient in the process by which Jesus overcame, and Jesus said many of those who followed Him would do greater good works than He did (John 14:12). Doing good works is how we overcome evil and how we learn to be servants of others for the glory of God. Doing good works is how we discipline ourselves for the purpose of godliness (1 Tim. 4:7). Doing the works that Jesus Christ did is how we overcome and how we receive a new heart (Rev. 2:26).

When we overcome our old nature, we enter the kingdom of God or God's rest (Heb. 4:10; Rev. 3:21). Then our joy is made full and we have an abundant life (John 10:10). When all we sow is righteousness, like Christ our example, then all we reap is blessings. Then we are truly living to the Spirit.

Many people believe we live this way naturally after accepting Jesus Christ as our personal Savior. Scripture shows clearly that this is a false conception. Look at the world. It's a mess! Most people who claim to be Christians are practicing a faith without good works. As a result, they remain spiritually dead in their faith (James 2:14-26). They are becoming religious, but not holy; and without holiness, no one will see the Lord (Heb. 12:14, King James Version). We cannot possibly be holy without obeying and practicing the words of Jesus Christ each day (John 8:51; Luke 6:46). This takes godly discipline, but just remember, it's easy and pleasant (Matt. 11:30). It's wonderful. Try it! You will love it and the Lord will love you too.

State Needs Brainpower To Remain Competitive

Following commentary was written by Jacques Koppel, president of Minnesota Technology, Inc., and calls attention to the necessity for Minnesota to be innovative in meeting the challenges of industrial change:

"For most of this century, Minnesota has been home to companies that have developed into international technology leaders. The 3M Company (1902), Honeywell (1927) and Hutchinson Technology (1965) are prime examples.

"The zenith of the state's technological leadership occurred in he early 1970s when—with Control Data, Honeywell and Sperry all flourishing—we were considered the computer capital of the United States.

"But our leadership role has been diminishing. As the computer industry has declined in Minnesota, others have begun to take its place, notably the medical devices, software and electronics industries. But in terms of a national leadership role in technology, we have been surpassed by other states and communities.

"Today, there are only 32 companies with over $50 million in sales—only 32 companies that are not considered small businesses by the federal government. Compare that to the Silicon Valley, which has that number of $50 million-sized companies in many four-square block areas!

"Since many technology companies are spun off from larger companies, we need to ask: Where will our next generation of technology industries come from and how can we, as a state, nurture their growth?

"This is a critical question for Minnesota's business and political leaders because it is generally accepted that the high-paying jobs our society will create in the future will be, to a large degree, technology based. This does not mean that we all need to become scientists and engineers. It does mean that to remain a wealthy society, we must begin again to produce high value-added products. This will require a workforce not just equipped with high skills but with a high degree of 'brainpower.'

"Consider Cray Research. About 10 per cent of its supercomputers is material and the remainder is the value-added expertise—primarily knowledge base—of the company's employees.

"The speed of technological change and the changing dynamics of a global economy means that the old assumptions about growth and prosperity are no longer true. We can no longer assume that the industrial leaders of today will be the leaders of tomorrow."

Omnibus Crime Bill Hailed By Governor

"This is another big step forward for violence prevention, for young people and for victims of violent crimes in Minnesota," states Gov. Arne Carlson regarding the omnibus crime bill passed by the 1993 Minnesota Legislature. "Many, many people from across the state came forward to participate in shaping this bill, and for that reason it is one of the very best pieces of legislation to emerge out of the 1993 session."

He cited particularly the "anti-stalking" part of the bill under which those who engage in harassing conduct or terroristic threats against another individual can be charged with stalking, which will be punishable as a misdemeanor, gross misdemeanor or felony depending upon the characteristics and repetitive nature of the offense.

For example, stalking with the intent to influence a judicial proceeding or juror or with the intent to retaliate against a judicial officer or prosecutor is considered a felony and offenders could face imprisonment of up to 10 years. Gov. Carlson said the legislation expands and revises a series of existing laws relating to harassment and domestic abuse, making the act of stalking a serious crime of violence for which victims previously had no recourse.

Time will tell whether it will be possible to get any convictions under such a law, for it seems to us such a charge would be most difficult to prove.

Other features of the bill as listed by Gov. Carlson include the following:

- A required seven-day waiting period and background check will be imposed for those purchasing semi-automatic assault weapons—the same restrictions that have been applied to the purchase of handguns for 15 years.
- Drive-by shootings will be considered a felony, even if no one is killed or injured.
- Possession of a gun on school property will be considered a felony. Students found with guns in their possession on school property will lose their driver's licenses.
- Murder of a police officer or prison guard will carry a life-without-parole penalty.
- Supervision rules and penalties for certain sex offenders will be increased.
- The bill provides $500,000 for a new juvenile work program whereby juvenile offenders work on community and public works projects to earn monetary retribution paid directly to their victims.

The bill provides $250,000 to the Minnesota DARE Advisory Council, which provides drug awareness and education to school-age children.

There are likely people who will hail along with the governor each of the specific aspects of the crime bill. We question the value or reasoning for some of the laws passed.

We would expect the waiting period for "assault weapon" purchase would be equally as effective in preventing crime as the handgun restrictions have been. We fail to see why drive-by shootings—cowardly and wanton as they may be—are more heinous than other shootings. We don't understand the connection between driver's licenses and gun possession on school property. We wonder about valuing the lives of police officers or prison guards higher than other citizens.

But we suppose the governor needed something to be pleased about out of the legislative session, and the crime bill is probably as good as anything.

—Dorothy Lamour's latest picture is called "They Got Me Covered." Sarong kind of title.

—It's strange how few cases of sunstroke and sunburn have been reported so far this summer.

—We were a bit ashamed of the untidy appearance of our desk until the other day when we saw a picture of the one used by President Roosevelt.

—OPA, opines the Grand Rapids Independent, stands for Our Pet Argument.

—The war has proved, among other things, that there is a limit to the stretching power of rubber.

—The time is at hand to honor the man who pays the bills. It's Fathers' Day Sunday, June 20.

—Our Marshall, Minnesota, colleague reminds us of the one about the meat market worker who backed into the sausage grinder, so they got a little behind in their orders.

—That new income tax plan starting July 1, they tell us, will soon be known as the "Pay as you go broke" plan.

—Age, it seems, is relative. Henry Ford, at eighty, is resuming the management of the Ford Motor company.

—These are times when you can go to a store with a pocket full of money and only hope to get the things you need.

—The War Production Board is achieving miracles. We hear that it has found a way to reducing further the amount of material in women's dresses.

CITY OF GOODRIDGE
Residential Antidisplacement and Relocation Assistance Plan under Section 104(d) of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974, as Amended

A. The City will replace all occupied and vacant occupiable low/moderate-income dwelling units demolished or converted to a use other than as low/moderate-income housing in connection with an activity assisted with funds provided under the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974, as amended, as described in 24 CFR 570.496a(c) (1).

All replacement housing will be provided within three years after the commencement of the demolition or conversion. Before entering into a contract committing the City to provide funds for an activity that will directly result in such demolition or conversion, the City will make public and submit to the Minnesota Department of Trade and Economic Development the following information in writing:

1. A description of the proposed assisted activity;
2. The location on a map and number of dwelling units by size (number of bedrooms) that will be demolished or converted to a use other than as low/moderate-income dwelling units as a direct result of the assisted activities;
3. A time schedule for the commencement and completion of the demolition or conversions;
4. The location on a map and the number of dwelling units by size (number of bedrooms) that will be provided as replacement dwelling units. If such data are not available at the time of the general submission, the City of Goodridge will identify the general location on an area map and the approximate number of dwelling units by size and provide information identifying the specific location and number of dwelling units by size as soon as it is available;
5. The source of funding and a time schedule for the provision of replacement dwelling units;
6. The basis for concluding that each replacement dwelling unit will remain a low/moderate-income dwelling unit for at least 10 years from the date of initial occupancy.
7. Information demonstrating that any proposed replacement of dwelling units with smaller dwelling units (e.g., a 2-bedroom unit with two 1-bedroom units) is consistent with the housing needs of low and moderate-income households in the jurisdiction.

The City may request the Minnesota Department of Trade and Economic Development to recommend that the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development approve an exception to required replacement housing if there is an adequate local supply of vacant low/moderate-income dwelling units in standard condition. Exceptions will be reviewed on a case-by-case basis as described in 24 CFR 570.496a(c) (1) (iv) (C).

B. The City will provide relocation assistance, as described in 570.496a (c) (2), to any lower-income person displaced by the demolition of any dwelling unit or the conversion of a low/moderate-income dwelling unit to another use in connection with an assisted activity.

C. Consistent with the goals and objectives of activities assisted under the Act, the [jurisdiction] will take the following steps to minimize the displacement of persons from their homes:

1. The City will not demolish any properties with State or Federal Funds.
2. The City will not convert any low to moderate income housing to any other use with State or Federal Funds.

D. Definitions for the purpose of this plan are as follows.

A "low/moderate-income dwelling unit" is a unit with a market rental, including utility costs, that does not exceed the applicable fair market rent for existing housing and moderate rehabilitation, as established under the Section 8 existing housing program.

A "vacant occupiable dwelling unit" is a vacant unit that is in standard condition; or in substandard condition, suitable for rehabilitation, or in dilapidated condition and occupied less than a year from the date of the grantee agreement.

A "occupiable dwelling unit" is a unit that is in standard condition or has been raised to a standard condition from a substandard condition, suitable for rehabilitation.

A "standard condition dwelling unit" is a well-built unit with adequate space for persons living there. There are no major defects in the structure and only minor maintenance is required. Such dwelling will have the following characteristics: reliable roofs; sound walls and foundations; adequate and stable floors, walls and ceilings; surfaces and woodwork that are not seriously damaged nor have paint deterioration; sound windows and doors; adequate heating, plumbing, and electrical systems which don't present safety hazards; adequate insulation for local climatic conditions; and is in compliance with local building and housing codes.

A "substandard condition dwelling unit, suitable for rehabilitation" will show a lot of deferred maintenance with permanent damage to structural items. Conditions contributing to substandard dwelling include but are not limited to sagging, cracked, rotting, or leaking roofs, walls, foundations, ceilings, floors, doors and windows; deteriorated surfaces and woodwork; unsafe heating, plumbing, or electrical systems which present safety hazards or inadequate insulation. The cost of rehabilitating the unit to a standard condition should not exceed the market value of the dwelling.

NOTICE OF HEARING
PLANNING COMMISSION
CITY OF THIEF RIVER FALLS

Notice is hereby given, pursuant to Chapter 11 of the Thief River Falls City Code, that the Planning Commission of the City of Thief River Falls has initiated an amendment to Chapter 11, Land Use Regulation (Zoning) of the City Code ("Zoning Ordinance").

The primary purpose of the amendment is to incorporate shoreland management into the Zoning Ordinance. The State of Minnesota has mandated that the City adopt shoreland management. Shoreland management will directly affect property within 300 feet of a river, stream, or flood plain and will place greater restrictions on the use of that property.

A summary of certain sections relating to shoreland management include: Statutory authorization; policy; jurisdiction; compliance; permits required; certificate of zoning compliance; notifications to the Department of Natural Resources; shoreland classification system; land use district descriptions; lot area and width standards; placement, design, and height of structures; shoreland alterations; placement and design of roads, driveways, parking areas, and essential services; storm water management; special provisions for agricultural, park and recreation, commercial, and industrial districts; definitions; yard requirements; and conditional use permits. Shoreland management is also regulated in other sections of the Zoning Ordinance.

The Zoning Ordinance is also being readopted in its entirety with amendments to other sections including, but not limited to, definitions, uses allowed in zoning districts, administration, and non-conforming lot, structures, and uses.

The amendments to the Zoning Ordinance will affect all property within the city limits of Thief River Falls. All persons who have questions related to this should review the proposed Zoning Ordinance and should direct preliminary questions to the Community Development Director.

Copies of the Zoning Ordinance are available for inspection at the Thief River Falls Public Library, Thief River Falls City Clerk's office, and Thief River Falls Community Development Director's office. Copies may also be obtained from the Community Development Director for the cost of copying.

Notice is further given, that the Planning Commission will conduct a hearing on the proposed amendment to the Zoning Ordinance at 8:00 P.M. on Tuesday, June 15, 1993, in the City Council Chambers, City Auditorium, Thief River Falls, Minnesota.

All persons wishing to comment on the proposed amendment to the Zoning Ordinance will have the option to be heard at the time of the hearing. Persons who wish to submit written comments prior to the hearing or who have questions should address them to the office of the Community Development Director, City Auditorium, P.O. Pursuant to adjournment the Pennington County Board of Commissioners met in the Commissioners room in the courthouse in Thief River Falls on Tuesday, May 11th, 1993 at 10:00 a.m. Members present: Jensen, Comstock, Swanson, Murphy and Naplin. Members absent: none.

Johnnie Miller, representative from Meadowbrook Insurance Group, met with the County Board to discuss the Annual Report for the Minnesota Counties Insurance Trust. Mr. Miller also discussed the MCIT's schedule for 1993 and the areas where Pennington County can work on bringing down their insurance claims.

Susan Olson, Inter-County Nursing Service Director, met with the County Board to thank them for their support through 1992 with the deficiency in the Inter-County Nursing Fund. Ms. Olson also provided the 1992 Inter-County Nursing Service Annual Report to the County Board for their review.

LaRue Johnson from the Inter-County Nursing Service then discussed the Communities Caring for Children Program and how the program works.

Members from the Court Administrator's staff then met with the County Board to discuss their Job Points. They are asking that the County Board review their Job descriptions and points that go along with this position. The Court Administrator staff felt that their Job Points had not changed enough to account for the changes in their Job Descriptions. The County Board will review these positions and their points.

The County Board then discussed increasing the County Mileage Rate to 28¢ to compare with the IRS guidelines. The County Mileage Rate is currently at 25¢ per mile. Moved by Commissioner Murphy, seconded by Commissioner Comstock to increase the County Mileage rate from 25¢/mile to 28¢/mile affective May 11, 1993. Motion unanimously carried.

Sheriff Moe met with the County Board to discuss the Jail Canteen at the Law Enforcement Center. There is currently around $1,000 in this canteen and they are in need of a policy on where this money can be used. Moved by Commissioner Murphy, seconded by Commissioner Jensen to direct Sheriff Moe to draw up a policy for the use of the Canteen Funds for the Jail and return to the Board with this policy for approval when completed. Motion unanimously carried.

Sheriff Moe then informed the County Board that May 9th through May 15th is National Police Week. The County Board then authorized hanging the flags at the Courthouse and the Law Enforcement Center at 1/2 staff for the remainder of the week in memory of local officer's who lost their lives in the line of duty.

The Sheriff then requested that he be authorized to reissue warrants along with affidavits to Local Businesses and people. Warrants were previously issued to them for the collection of NSF checks that have been lost or destroyed. Moved by Commissioner Naplin, seconded by Commissioner Jensen to authorize the Sheriff's Office to attempt to reissue warrants for the collections made on NSF checks along with affidavits. Motion unanimously carried.

Sheriff Moe then discussed the need to fill the position of permanent part-time records secretary that is now vacant. Moved by Commissioner Murphy, seconded by Commissioner Naplin to authorize Sheriff Moe to advertise for the position of permanent part-time records secretary. Motion unanimously carried.

The Law Enforcement Center is in need of updating their Computer System. They would like to purchase an AS/400 Computer System for $26,943.94 plus approximately $200.00 in cabling. The cost of the Computer would be shared with the City of Thief River Falls. There is $15,000 in the budget for this year and the remaining amount would be budgeted and paid in 1994. Moved by Commissioner Jensen, seconded by Commissioner Comstock to authorize the purchase of an IBM AS/400 Computer System for the Law Enforcement Center with $15,000 being paid from this year's budget and the remaining amount budgeted and paid in 1994. Motion unanimously carried.

Moved by Commissioner Jensen, seconded by Commissioner Naplin that Ray Kuznia be placed in the position of Chief Deputy Sheriff effective immediately with no pay increase. Motion unanimously carried.

Moved by Commissioner Murphy, seconded by Commissioner Comstock to contact Rick Nordhagen to assign a clean up schedule for Hwy 32 near the Solid Waste Facility. Motion unanimously carried.

Moved by Commissioner Jensen, seconded by Commissioner Murphy to approve of sending a letter concerning the purchase of the Air Conditioner for the Solid Waste Facility without the County Boards prior approval to Rick Nordhagen. Motion unanimously carried.

The County Engineer had to temporarily shut the bridge down. Moved by Commissioner Jensen, seconded by Commissioner Comstock to authorize the County Engineer to try to get emergency funding to replace Bridge L0241. If Funding is unavailable the County Engineer is authorized to use CSAH Funds to replace this bridge. Motion unanimously carried.

Moved by Commissioner Jensen, seconded by Commissioner Murphy to set the bid opening for work to be done in the City of St. Hilaire for June 8, 1993 at 2:00 p.m. Motion unanimously carried.

Moved by Commissioner Naplin, seconded by Commissioner Comstock to authorize the County Engineer to enter into a 1 year Computer software service contract with BRC. Motion unanimously carried.

The County Engineer then discussed bridge L0299 in Polk Center Township. They are in need of a meets and bounds survey to determine the right-of-way for this Bridge. Moved by Commissioner Naplin, seconded by Commissioner Murphy to approve of a meets and bounds survey to be completed to determine the right-of-way for Bridge L0299 in Polk Center Township. Motion unanimously carried.

Mr. Schulz then discussed the removal of gravel from the Peterson Gravel Pit in the SE1/4, Section 28, in Sanders Township. The original crushing contract had been completed but a small amount of gravel remained in the pit. This amount would not be worth moving a crusher back in for. For an estimated $7,000.00 the remaining gravel could be crushed. Moved by Commissioner Murphy, seconded by Commissioner Naplin to authorize the County Highway Department to overrun the gravel crushing contract an estimated $7,000.00 in order to remove the remaining 60 feet of gravel in the Peterson Gravel Pit in the SE1/4, Section 28, in Sanders Township. The North Dakota State Department of Health is requesting that ash from the test burn be tested to see if it is a hazardous waste. The Walhalla Ethanol Plant has requested that Future Fuels, Inc. handle the ash from the test burn until the test results come back from the laboratory. Moved by Commissioner Naplin, seconded by Commissioner Comstock to authorize Future Fuels, Inc. to have tests performed on the Coal Ash and the Pellet Ash from the test burn at the Walhalla Ethanol Plant. Motion unanimously carried.

Mr. Nordhagen then discussed a letter he had received from Lundell Mfg. explaining the bill for the Compost Shredder which was never ordered by the Solid Waste Facility. Lundell Mfg. feels that the Solid Waste Facility used the Shredder for six years and should pay $1,000.00 for each year of use. The balance of the purchase price would be due at the rate of $1,000.00 per year for the next 4 and 1/2 years. Moved by Commissioner Murphy, seconded by Commissioner Naplin to pay Lundell Manufacturing $6,000.00 as payment in full for the Compost Shredder along with a letter from the County Board stating that the equipment has recently been removed from the facility and no longer will be used. Motion unanimously carried.

Moved by Commissioner Jensen, seconded by Commissioner Naplin to approve the Warrants. Motion unanimously carried.

Sparby visits former office

New director of state ASCS office pays first official Pennington visit

Now state director of the federal Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) in St. Paul, Wally Sparby visited the Pennington county ASCS office in Thief River Falls Monday along with district director Rodney Soderstrom of Warren.

Sparby said the visit was one of several in the area and that he intends to visit all of the county offices in Minnesota early in his service as director.

"It is my intention to visit all the county offices, listen to staff members, county committees and district directors and receive their suggestions on how to improve our service to the people we serve," he said. "I want them to have a role in the partnership with a goal of providing excellent service to the farmers who are involved in ASCS programs."

Sparby said he is impressed with the staff members he has met at the state office and at the county level, stating that they work well and efficiently. He said the Minnesota ASCS program is in a tough budget situation for staff, primarily due to its efforts and ability to operate with fiscal restraint in prior years.

"The ASCS in Minnesota has been a responsible agency in the past and it is paying for those efforts now when budget reductions are being made across the board," Sparby said.

The visit to the Pennington county office was a homecoming of sorts for Sparby who served as county ASCS director here for a number of years until 1977. He was State Representative from District 1B when he resigned that position May 17 to accept appointment to the state directorship by President Bill Clinton.

Acting director of the Pennington county office is Karen Fredrickson, filling in for director Phil Bergland who is on medical leave. Bergland succeeded Sparby as county director in 1977.

First visit to the Pennington county office of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service as state ASCS director was made Monday by Wally Sparby, former State Representative from Thief River Falls. Sparby served as county ASCS director for Pennington county until 1977 and said it felt a little strange to return to his former office as state director.

On a tour of several northwestern Minnesota offices, Sparby was accompanied by Rodney Soderstrom (left) of Warren who oversees 12 county offices as one of seven district directors in the state. At right is Karen Fredrickson, acting director of the Pennington county office while director Phil Bergland, who succeeded Sparby in 1977, is on medical leave.

Girl Scout day camp June 21-25

Girl Scout day camp at Camp MOE southeast of Thief River Falls will be held June 21-25 with daily sessions from 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Junior Scouts who choose to participate will have an overnight session Wednesday.

Approximately 50 girls are expected to participate in the camp with 18 Junior Scouts and 26 Brownies registered in early registration, according to camp co-directors Ginny Armstrong and her daughter Nicky, Sara Olson and Robyn Pream.

Brownies and Juniors will both be working on activities to earn their Outdoor Fun badge during the camp and will complete the requirement if they attend all five days, the co-directors said.

Bus transportation to and from the camp will be available on a daily basis. It will leave Washington elementary school at 9 a.m., Knox elementary school at 9:10 a.m. and Hickory Road in Southtown at 9:20 a.m. to arrive at Camp MOE by 9:30 a.m.

Return trip will begin from Camp MOE at 2:30 and drop off students in reverse order—Hickory Road at 2:40 p.m., Knox elementary at 2:50 p.m. and Washington elementary at 3 p.m.

Camp directors ask parents of girls participating to be sure their daughters know if they are to ride the bus or if they will be picked up at the end of the camping day. Persons with questions may call 681-5874.

Participating this week at the Miss Minnesota Scholarship Pageant in Austin is Lynnae Broten, Miss Thief River Falls. Lynnae was honored at a good luck party sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce Friday evening at the Eagles club and modeled her competition wardrobe, including this evening gown.

Special 1B election scheduled July 13

Candidates for a vacancy in state political office are scrambling today following an announcement Monday that will give them only 30 days to convince the voting public that they should be elected.

To fill the position of State Representative from District 1B, Gov. Arne Carlson has called for a special election to be held Tuesday, July 13. A special primary election, if necessary, would be held on June 29.

The Democrat Farmer-Labor party for House District 1B will meet in an endorsing convention Thursday evening at the Heritage Community Center in Thief River Falls. Delegates and alternates will register beginning at 6 p.m. with the convention scheduled to start at 7 p.m.

Announced candidates for the DFL endorsement are Joel Swanson of Thief River Falls, Don Shirrick of rural Red Lake Falls and Merle Lundeen of Trail. Nominations will also be received from the floor at the endorsing convention.

Independent-Republicans met last week and gave their endorsement to Tim Finseth of Warren, who lost in a relatively close race to incumbent Rep. Wally Sparby in last November's general election.

Rep. Sparby of Thief River Falls resigned his position at the end of the 1993 legislative session after accepting appointment by President Bill Clinton to serve as state director of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service in Minnesota.

In Thief River Falls Monday to visit the Pennington county ASCS office where he served as county director until 1977, state director Sparby said he was not particularly surprised by the announcement of the special election, but had not anticipated it being called by the governor at this time. He said he had expected the election to be called soon after he announced his resignation which was effective May 17, but when that did not happen, he thought the election may have been deferred to next fall.

Sparby said he will not participate in the endorsing process to select a DFL candidate for his former position nor will he endorse any candidate for the office.

"I would like to stress the importance of participation by the voters

Nazareth church notes "Century of Grace"

Congregation at Holt to dedicate new church building as well as observe centennial this week

Altar, chancel furniture and pews from the Nazareth Lutheran Church at Holt will be used in the present church for the final time Saturday, June 19, at a 7:30 p.m. communion service. Following the service, the furnishings will be moved across the street to the new church building recently completed at a cost of about $190,000 and will be used in the new location at dedication ceremonies and a morning worship service Sunday, June 20.

"Celebrating a Century of Grace" is the theme for the 100th anniversary of Nazareth Lutheran Church of Holt which will observe its centennial and dedicate a new church building Saturday and Sunday, June 19 and 20.

Final service in the old church will be a worship service with holy communion Saturday at 7:30 p.m. with Rev. Russell Sanoden, a son of the congregation, as guest speaker.

Following the service, the altar, related church furniture and pews will be moved across the street to the new church where they will be used for the first time Sunday, June 20, for the 10:30 a.m. worship service with Bishop Arthur Rimmereid as speaker.

A dinner will follow in the old church and at 2 p.m. a presentation will be made by Arlyn Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Johnson of Newfolden, who was baptized and confirmed at Nazareth church and now is involved in missions and education in Japan.

A history book on the Nazareth congregation has been prepared by DelRay Sannes and church secretary Marjorie Steinhauer. It shows that the church has had 21 pastors in its history—from Rev. Peter T. Hillman who served the area from Crookston and Rev. Ludvig C. Evenson of Thief River Falls who organized the congregation to Rev. Eugene Floistad who has been the pastor since 1986.

Most of the pastors served from two to four years, with notable exceptions being Rev. M. B. Ordahl, who served 19 years from 1908 to 1927, Rev. L. M. Redal from 1928 to 1936 and Rev. Tollef C. Hanson from 1936 to 1944.

In January of 1896 Rev. I. T. Aastad assisted with formally reorganizing the church at a meeting at the home of Reier Reierson. It was decided to build a parsonage on land donated by Theodore Dovre next to the Sunnyside school which could be used for services. The parsonage was built in the summer of 1896 and a call extended to Rev. Mathias Flekke of Mondovi, WI.

Rev. Flekke accepted the call "Hook a Book" is the name of the library summer program and a variety of activities for children are planned including summer library progams for school-age children, preschool storytimes, a summer incentive reading project, weekly movies and a special Western Days program.

Library preschool storytime begins June 17 and will be held every Thursday July 17 to July 22 from 1 to 1:30 p.m. Stories, crafts and creative play will be the focus as Alice Wain, better known to area children as the "storytime lady," captures the imaginations of preschoolers and encourages reading. ## Speaking Of . . .

by
Sharon LaCoursiere

. . . People Are Reading This?

Sometimes I think writing a column for publication in a newspaper is a bit like writing a column for myself. Most of the time I write the column, hand it in, and forget it. Most of the time I hear nothing further about it.

I usually avoid reading my columns when they come out in the newspaper. I don't know why. Maybe I am tired of them because I have to read them over so many times while I write them (my mind wanders while I write and I have trouble keeping on the subject, in case you hadn't noticed).

Anyway, once in a while it is a pleasant surprise to hear from someone who has read one of my columns and enjoyed it. Every so often someone will write me a note or give me a call and tell me they have enjoyed some particular column. This is such a pleasant surprise, indeed, such a shock, that I am immediately stricken with forgetfulness about my own columns and often have to ask them just what it was that I wrote.

I am not only pleased when someone lets me know they like what I write, but I am amazed that there is someone out there actually reading these weekly columns, let alone enjoying them.

It seems that people call me or write more often about my recipe columns than they do about Speaking Of.

Now, you must know I don't try every single recipe that is printed in the newspaper. If I did, I would have even more trouble with my weight than I do. What I do is write all those yummy recipes and just let myself imagine how they taste.

So, sometimes the recipes are printed wrong or are wrong in the books I take them from, and it is nice when someone lets me know when something is not right.

To the lady who wrote me around Christmas time about her falling carrot cake, I'm sorry I didn't get to respond to you. I put your letter in the back of my recipe column file and forgot it. By the time I found it again, I decided you had solved the problem of the falling cake yourself, or else you had called the Betty Crocker Hot Line (for falling cakes). However, I often wonder what was wrong with that carrot cake. Maybe you could drop me a line and let me know?

To the lady who called about the oatmeal cookie recipe she tried and liked and her grandchildren lost, I finally found the one you wanted and published it again. I hope you have it in a safe place now.

Speaking of cookies, to whomever called my attention to the quarter cup of butter or margarine in the Chewy Chocolate Chip Cookie recipe that ran in the June 18 Watch—yes, the recipe says 1/4 cup of butter or margarine. I would mix it up as it says, but if it doesn't look right, add more. I would think there should be more than 1/4 cup of shortening in a recipe with 2 cups of flour. Those cookies might be very chewy—so chewy your teeth break.

To the lady who called about the Chocolate Chip Pie, I am still working on it. The cookbook prints the recipe exactly as it was in the paper, not telling us what to do with all that butter. I may have to try the recipe, using the whole cup of butter, just to see how it turns out. I'll let you know as soon as I figure it out.

As far as responses to Speaking Of, I have had several favorable comments lately, especially about the three I did on housecleaning. Oid I hit on something that everyone can relate to? It seems as though I did.

A while ago I wrote about having a bad day which was made even worse by the fact that my daughter, who was just learning to drive, was acting as my chauffeur. Shortly afterward, I received a telephone call from a teacher who, more than likely, knew my daughter, as well as most of my other children, and knew just how bad a day I could have. She told me how much she enjoyed the column—between fits of laughter.

I've had some great conversations with people who have called about one column or another. I talked to my mother's cousin, my first cousin once removed, about families and how wonderful they are and how great our big, extended clan was and still is.

Another lady called about a column and we ended up talking about my mother's death and her own relative, who was in a nursing home at that time. That lady made me feel less lonely in my sorrow, even though the tears ran down my cheeks as I spoke with her.

I was told that one shop owner in town had a column about inconsiderate sales clerks tacked up in her store's coffee break room. I hope she has the one I did on nice sales clerks up there now, too.

I had a rather strange response to a column I wrote about women's apparel, in particular, those strange things called girdles. In the column, I wondered if they still made such torturous things. Well, I found out they did.

I received a letter at the Times and when I opened it, lo and behold, what should there be but a page from a catalog, a page filled with women's undergarments. My first thought was that someone was sending me one of those obscene-type mailings.

Then I read the little note attached and realized that someone was informing me that, yes, they still did make those types of undergarments for women, and here was a page from the catalog to prove it. Looking at the pictures certainly brought back memories—memories I would rather forget.

Last, but not least, a few weeks ago I received a little thank you note in the mail. Since my gift-giving consisted of graduation gifts, and those had taken place just a day or two before I received the note, I figured one of those graduates was really on the ball.

Imagine my surprise when it wasn't one of those graduates, but a reader who likes what I write and sent a little thank you note to say so. That little thank you made my day, my week, and may very well make my entire month and year. It's nice to know there is someone out there reading—and enjoying.

and served six churches in an area encompassing about 400 square miles. The northernmost was Vor Frelser (Our Savior's) of Thief Lake. To the northeast was St. Petri with parishioners in East Valley, Cedar and Holt townships. To the north was Scandia (First Lutheran of Middle River. To the northwest was West Valley and to the southwest was Immanuel (Oak Ridge). To the east lay the Indian lands which were ceded to the United States in 1889 and opened for homesteading in 1896.

During the annual meeting on Jan. 13, 1897, the congregation voted to build a 16x18-foot stable for the pastor's horse at the cost of $11.85, and to apply for membership in the Norwegian Synod.

First baptisms were of Elmer Walter Sorum, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mikkel Sorum and Willie Sorum, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Sorum. First recorded marriage was of Christine Christofferson to Carl Erickson Dec. 24, 1897, and the first confirmands were Andreas Boyesan, Anna Erickson and Hans Stensrud in 1898.

"As the century came to a close," the Nazareth history book states, "life for the pioneers had improved only slightly. Fields were still being cleared and expanded with grub hoes. The soil was turned with a breaking plow and worked with horse drawn machinery, much of which the farmer had to walk behind.

"The bartering of goods was a common exchange in pioneer days. Area pastors were often paid in commodities, meat, home ground flour or oats and hay for the pastor's horse. Nazareth had appealed to the Home Mission board for assistance in paying its pastor and in 1899 the congregation's share was resolved to be $50 per year."

When Rev. T. L. Rosholt was installed as pastor Sept. 20, 1903, services were still being held in home and area school houses. The Great Northern railroad had completed the survey of a railbed which passed within a quarter mile of Sandridge. A townsite company was offering free lots to the first church to build in their newly platted town named Holt. At a meeting Dec. 13, 1904, Nazareth voted to build a church during the summer of 1905 if the congregation could raise $800.

On May 5, 1905, Rev. S. T. Palm was called to succeed Rev. Rosholt who had resigned and the pastor's salary was increased to $75 a year. This assured members of the congregation all pastoral services, including preparation of bodies for burial when there were no surviving relatives of a deceased members.

At a special meeting June 10 of that year it was voted to build a 28x40 church in an east-west direction on the corner of Marshall Avenue and Second Street in Holt. Construction of the foundation was begun in December but it wasn't until March of 1906 that the contract to build the structure was awarded to John Kringlen of Thief River Falls. Building size was reduced to 24x40 and the cost was set at $1,100. When the building was accepted June 2, 1906, there was outstanding debt of $186.

When the first worship services were held on Pentecost Sunday, the congregation had 133 baptized members in 23 families.

During the early 1900's Nazareth congregation allowed the free use of its church building to other groups, including the German Lutheran Congregation and the Norsk Evangelisk Lurtherske Menighet, a congregation of the United church.

A basement was placed under the church in 1919 and the building was extended with a 10-foot addition. The altar ring and a baptismal font were carved by Chris Birkland of Mud Lake. In preparation for the church's 30th anniversary—delayed from 1923 to 1925 because of the nation's economy—an oil painting of Christ's Ascension done by William Windahl who had grown up in Marsh Grove township was installed on the altar.

(This altar with its painting and altar ring, baptismal font and other furnishing will be moved to the new church Saturday evening.)

Through the years the church was affiliated with several synods which changed through merger. It is presently a member of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America (ELCA).

The congregation voted May 5, 1991, to permit the raising of funds for potential construction of a new church and in December of that year to set up a planning and building committee to study the project.

The congregation voted Jan. 19, 1992, to proceed with building the new church if $140,000 could be raised in cash and pledges. Total cost of the new church is about $190,000. Through the financial participation of members, former members, non-members and friends of the congregation, it will be dedicated on Sunday with the total cost nearly paid, according to Rev. Floistad.

of District 1B in the election process," he said, "and encourage them to study the candidates as best they can in the time allowed in order to make a good judgment as to who will serve them best. I will work with whoever is elected to do what I can to assist that person in providing the service to which District 1B is accustomed."

Gov. Carlson's writ of special election was issued Monday and a copy sent by fax to the county auditors in Pennington, Polk, Red Lake and Marshall counties which are partially or entirely included in District 1B.

In addition to establishing the special election and primary election dates, the writ specifies that affidavits and petitions of candidacy be filed with the Secretary of State's office in St. Paul from Tuesday, June 15 to 5 p.m. on Tuesday, June 22.

While provision is made for a primary election, it is unlikely that one will be necessary. Candidates who do not receive party endorsement would have just over two weeks to campaign, a virtually insignificant amount of time to establish candidacy in the minds of voters.

Deadline for return of survey

Deadline for returning an important confidential survey has been extended until June 21. The survey, which is being conducted by the city, asks questions ranging from personal information, such as age, type of work and other questions, to what the resident believes Thief River Falls should be like in 20 years.

Without a return of about 40 per cent or better, the loan application for a federal commercial rehabilitation block grant could be in jeopardy. If the city is eligible, it may receive up to $1.4 million for a comprehensive grant, including $600,000 for commercial development. The survey will also help in the development of a comprehensive municipal plan; but, the main reason for the survey is the grant project. The project area is the downtown section of the community bounded by Atlantic avenue to Kinney Avenue and from First street to Sixth or Eighth street depending upon what side of Main avenue a resident lives on.

Community Development Director Don Stewart is encouraging everyone to complete the survey, even renters living in the downtown area. Everyone's input is needed.

The deadline for completing the survey which was mailed to the project area on June 4 was Tuesday, June 15. The deadline has now been extended to June 21.

For more information about the block grant or for a copy of the survey please contact the Community Development Director's office at 681-2500.

IMPRESSIONS!

Beth Johnson

A few days ago the residents of Thief River Falls received in the mail a letter from our Mayor. The letter introduced to us a survey which our Mayor asked us to fill out and mail back to the Northwest Regional Development Commission. How many of you have taken the time to fill out this survey? Have you mailed it? The letter tells us to mail this no later than June 15th. I have heard announcements on the radio telling us that this deadline has been extended to June 21.

If you haven't taken the few moments of your time to fill out this survey, I urge you to do so. Mail it today. It's not often that all of us are asked our opinions about the town in which we live. I dare say that if we were living in a large city, we would not be privileged to have such a survey mailed to us to fill out. Mailing costs in themselves would prevent such a mass survey in a large city. In a large city, we would only be able to express our opinions in the voting booth or in public meetings. Here, though, is a means for the citizens of this city of Thief River Falls, Minnesota, to express their opinions and dreams and wishes and dislikes about this city from the privacy of their homes. What an opportunity we citizens have!!!

But, the responsibility for this survey does not end with the citizens of this town, it merely begins with our suggestions. The duty of our City Council and Community leaders is to take the various suggestions and realize that these suggestions come from actual people living in this town. In the reading of our suggestions, our leaders must realize that the people do have opinions about what they dream for our town. These dreams may seem foolish, but they are the dreams of citizens of our town and because of that should not be disregarded.

As you fill out your survey, take our Mayor's letter to heart and realize that the information you give will be kept confidential. None of us really want the whole town to know our age, or income, or who really suggested that crazy idea!

As you fill out your survey, take time to thoughtfully fill it out. Follow your heart as you comment or make suggestions about the future of our city. Be thoughtful as you criticize what you think needs changing.

Too many times we citizens leave the decisions about our town to the leaders of our town. Decisions are made. Perhaps we get to vote on whether or not we approve of the decision, but often our leaders simply follow approved guidelines and do the best they can to see that our town is best served. We elect our leaders to make these important decisions for us. But, how many of us have actually spent time with our leaders expressing our opinion about any important governing topic? I would think that most of us have not. We simply hope that our town's leaders will always do exactly what we wish, but we expect them to read our minds to discern our wishes.

This survey is our chance to let our leaders know our opinions. This survey is a means for our leaders to help read our minds.

This survey is also to have far reaching impacts on the future of our Community. I assume that by that, our mayor means that this survey will be taken seriously by the Community leaders. This survey will be studied. Opinions will be read and digested. If you want your opinions to impact our community, don't be flippant about the answers you provide. Take time to understand the questions asked. Take time to carefully answer.

When you finish your survey, mail it back to the address provided. Notice that no stamp is needed. Just put the survey in the mail.

Now, its time for all of us to do our part in helping our city's future—Residents, fill out your survey and Leaders, please take our suggestions seriously.

Father's Day is just around the corner and it is time to put artistic talents to work again. To help your child create a Father's Day card you will need crayons or markers and paper. Simply fold the paper in fourths. Now let your child create a special card for Dad. The child may need a little bit of help with writing some words, but the more original it is, the more the sentiment is complete.

Meddaugh, Susan. Martha Speaks. After Martha the Dog ate a bowl of alphabet soup, the letters went straight to her brain instead of down to her stomach. Now that Martha can talk, will she ever be quiet again?

VIDEO VARIETY

Willy Wonka and the Chocolate Factory. Imagine yourself in a world of chocolate and prepare to have the time of your life. Valuable lessons are taught when candy mogul, Willy Wonka, offers a guided tour of his factory (and a lifetime supply of sweets) to five lucky prize winners.

Picnics

Going on a picnic is a wonderful way to enjoy the outdoors and summer. Whether you picnic in your backyard or miles from home, the change of pace can be fun for children and adults alike. It's important for parents to remember that any new environment will be exciting for children but can also present some unsafe conditions. Children must be watched carefully.

Eating outside can create interest and a real appetite for the picky eater or there may be so much to do and look at that children don't want to eat at all. Be flexible! Prepare nutritious snacks so that children who want to snack or eat "on the go" will be getting a well-balanced meal, too!

Take along lots of boxes, jars and pails to hold collections. As children explore this environment allow them to bring some of their precious collections home. You might even give them some "assignments": find three leaves or five rocks or two pine cones.

SOMETHING TO TALK ABOUT

Talk about and describe what you see around you. Don't forget the little things: the ants crawling across your picnic blanket can be just as fascinating as the playground equipment.

HATS OFF TO 4-H

Highlanding 4-H Club

The Highlanding 4-H Club meeting was held on May 20 at the Dale Hanson home. The meeting was called to order by President, Chancey Halvorson. Flag and club pledges were said. Roll call was taken by naming your favorite junk food. The secretary's report was given by Vice President, Arlen Stenvik. The Treasurer's report was given by Ben Hanson. He reported that we made $142.62 on our rummage and bake sale. He also reported that the club has received $35 donation for the Highlanding Cemetery. Thank you notes were sent to the three families. Share the fun ribbons were given to those who weren't at the April meeting. The club banner was discussed and ideas presented. It was decided that the 4-H members give out dairy samples at the Goodridge Hartz Store one day in early June. Farm safety camp information was given to members ages 13-15. Restarting the county 4-H carnival was discussed. We decided to mow the Highlanding Cemetery on May 28 after school. Meeting was adjourned and junk food was served.

A project talk was given by Adam Kasse on Shooting Sports. Games were led by Beattie Mickelson.

Good grooming is important for exhibitors at Northwest Dairy Day in Thief River Falls, but so is education. Having hurried to groom her Jersey calf for the show ring, 10-year-old JoLynn Gilbertson, daughter of John and Cheryl Gilbertson of Bemidji, didn't want to miss the showmanship demonstration which opened the Dairy Day cattle show this year. While she watched the demonstration, her mother finished up a little grooming of her own. Also watching Nick Schons' demonstration are third-year exhibitor Lisa Sorteberg, 11, of Thief River Falls and her brother Sean, age 4.

Brown Swiss breed champion was shown by Jacob Efta, 18, of Argyle at the 44th annual Northwest Dairy Day in Thief River Falls June 8. The son of Lou and Mary Efta, he showed this four-year-old registered cow in his sixth year of Dairy Day showing.

Council expresses concern about Mn/DOT response

When councilmen at the Thief River Falls city council meeting Monday night inquired as to the Engineering and Technical Service District's opinion regarding the intersections of city streets with Highway 32, they might have been surprised at the answer.

Thief River Falls city council met Monday night instead of at its regularly scheduled Tuesday night meeting time because of conflicts with other meetings outside of Thief River Falls. During the meeting, a number of items were discussed including street approaches to Highway 32, dissatisfaction with the response time of the Minnesota Department of Transportation to repair signal lights, received a golf course update, discussed concerns about the proposed draw down of the Red Lake reservoir in Thief River Falls, the appointment of park board co-directors, and the status of the Engelstad museum contract labor project.

Ever since the completion of the Highway 32 project in downtown Thief River Falls, there has been only harmonious accord. Everyone was praising everyone involved. But Monday night, the first signs of disharmony were heard.

Near the end of the meeting Monday night, the City Engineering and Technical Services director, Ron Lindberg, was asked to update the council on a number of project and then asked what Mn/DOT intended to do about the dips in the road just before the intersection with Highway 32 on downtown streets.

Responding to a pointed question about his opinion of the intersection, Lindberg said, it wasn't done the way he would have done it, but it's Mn/DOT's project. Lindberg noted that letters had been sent relative to his concerns about the intersections, but he didn't think anything else would be done to the intersections.

As if taking a cue from Lindberg, Police Chief Ken Froschheiser said he had some concerns about safety at the intersections. Chief Froschheiser said he was not satisfied with Mn/DOT's response time to requests to repair intersection signals.

About one or two years ago, Mn/DOT said city utility repairmen could not repair signal lights at the intersections unless they wanted to take full responsibility and liability for the lights. Thus, the city has relied upon what has been described as an understaffed repair crew out of Bemidji.

Chief Froschheiser said his most recent dissatisfaction with Mn/DOT occurred during the past week when a signal light in downtown Thief River Falls remained unrepaired for four days. When repairmen showed up to fix it, they replaced it with an old light. The day after they fixed it, the light was flashing green to both directions. "We could have a serious accident," he said.

Councilmen Milt Burstad suggested that a patrol be put at the intersection. But Chief Froschheiser said he doesn't have enough staff or money in the budget to put someone at the intersection 24-hours a day.

Chief Froschheiser also noted that Mn/DOT will not allow him to put up a free-standing four-way stop sign in the intersection.

Alderman Frenk Hamerlinck suggested that the city document the problem. He suggested that when these problems occur that city staff document when it happens, how often it happens, how long it took to repair, et cetra.

Mayor Robert Rreve concluded the discussion stating that it was a difficult issue and one the city had wrestled with in the past.

■ Representatives of the Golf Club updated the council on the progress of construction on a new 9-hole addition at the club, and expressed their concerns about a proposed draw down of the Red Lake reservoir.

Many elements of the new 9-hole addition at the Thief River Falls Golf Club are being finalized, as a representative of the club said Monday night.

Dwight Tangquist said they are moving forward, crews are on site, and everything is progressing rapidly. The construction crews have just started putting in the irrigation, which involves 14 miles of pipe, and an inlet for irrigation was completed last week.

Seeding at the golf course will begin in two to three weeks. The seeding will involve 80 acres of grass and irrigation will be necessary if the project is to proceed. That's one of the reasons the group, which included Dwight Tangquist, Tom Kays and Chuck Tuthill, appeared before the council Monday night.

The city is proposing to draw down the Red Lake reservoir in August or September. The purpose of the draw down is to compact the sediment and eliminate some of the weed problems.

Tom Kays said they want to know whether there will be enough water for the golf course to irrigate the new 9 hole addition during a critical time. What they were asking of the council was to be included in discussions about the draw down with the Red Lake Watershed district which has taken on some of the responsibility for the project.

■ The council approved the appointment of co-directors to serve as the park and recreation director while the current director is on sick leave.

Monday night, the council approved the park board's recommendation to appoint Curt Howe, the current buildings and grounds supervisor, and Madelyn Vigen, park and recreation secretary, as co-directors of the park and recreation department while Park and Recreation Director Mike Mongoven is on sick leave. This was described as a temporary arrangement.

■ Danny Johnson has been selected as the supervisor of the Engelstad museum contract labor project.

Johnson will supervise four youth who have been hired to help restore machinery that will be stored in the Engelstad museum, which is located near Pioneer Village. Funds for the project were provided through a $15,000 offer from Ralph Engelstad.

In other business, the council: awarded a certificate of award to Deb Lee and Karen Wojahn, approved the purchase of property at 215 Parkview, which is located near the water treatment plant settlement ponds, for $8,000; called for bids on three phase transformers; approved a progression raise for the liquor store manager; approved a damage fee for dance permits if the promoter cancels less than 48 hours prior to the scheduled dance; referred a matter regarding a handicapped parking space at the corner of Second street and Horace to the public safety committee; approved a request by Arlette Defreece to have beer in Oakland Park on June 26; approved a dance permit request by Matt Perkins on June 18 at the armory; noted that the public hearing on the Shoreland Management ordinance had been rescheduled from June 14 to Tuesday, June 15 at 8 p.m.

Arctco helps waterfowl group in Illinois

Delta Waterfowl announced recently that Arctco Inc. of Thief River Falls donated the use of two Arctic Cat snowmobiles to Delta Waterfowl of Illinois to help erect Hen Houses on the prairies this winter. The snowmobiles were provided so that several hundred Hen Houses could be efficiently installed prior to ice out this year.

Crawford Jenkins, director, Delta Waterfowl's Adopt a Pothole program in commenting on the donation of the snowmobiles said, "With the assistance of Arctco, Inc., we will be able to erect and maintain thousands of Hen Houses on an annual basis. The winter is a very difficult time to work on the prairies as many of the potholes are inaccessible to four-wheel drive vehicles. But with Arctic Cat snowmobiles we can keep working right through the worst of the weather so that come spring the Hen houses are ready for the ducks when they arrive.

Boards receive funds for immunization

Northwest Minnesota county health boards received federal grant money for local preschool immunization projects.

The grants will provide funding from July 1 through December 31, 1994.

The Pennington county community health board received $3,900; the Marshall county community health board received $5,815; and the Roseau county community health board received $10,024.

To prepare the grant proposals, local health agencies used data from a survey of all children who entered kindergarten in Minnesota last fall. The survey used immunization records to track the immunization status of those children throughout their preschool years.

Using this data, investigators identified areas of the state with low immunization levels.

Change okayed in wetland law

Landowners who wish to drain or fill a wetland may have until January 1, 1994, before more stringent replacement requirements go into effect, under changes to the Wetland Conservation Act recently approved by the Legislature and the governor.

Since the act went into effect January 1, 1992, landowners have been regulated under the act's "interim program" prohibiting draining or filling of regulated wetlands unless those lost wetland acres were replaced at a 1:1 ratio. However, the act's "permanent program," requiring a 2:1 replacement on non-agricultural lands, was scheduled to begin July 1, 1993. The changes in the law give administering local governments the option of adopting the permanent program — and the 2:1 minimum replacement ratio — any time between July 1, 1993, and December 31, 1993. After December 31, local governments will be required to implement the permanent program.

The 2:1 replacement ratio is intended to encourage landowners and developers to avoid working in wetlands, according to Ron Harnack, executive director of the Board of Water and Soil Resources (BWSR). "The stated purpose of the act is to move the state in a direction of no net loss of wetlands," Harnack said. "The stricter replacement requirement is meant as a way of encouraging people to look at options other than disturbing a wetland," he said.

One key reason for the change, Harnack said, is to allow the local governments that administer the law more time to become familiar with it and to incorporate the regulations into their local ordinances. The BWSR provides statewide oversight of the act.

Once a local government adopts the permanent program, it may begin a wetland banking program, allowing landowners to restore or create wetlands and "bank" the credits for ruse when draining or filling is unavoidable, Harnack said.

In other changes made to the act, a landowner is permitted once a year to drain or fill less than 400 square feet of a wetland, providing that it doesn't effect more than five per cent of the total wetland area; and counties and watersheds that retain more than 80 per cent of their pre-settlement wetlands will be allowed a 1:1 minimum replacement ratio under the permanent program. Rules governing the act's permanent program were granted final approval by the BWSR at its May 26 meeting.

Harnack stressed that the Wetland Conservation Act is not the only law regulating wetlands, and landowners should make sure they are in compliance with all wetland regulations before draining or filling. For more information, landowners should contact their county soil and water conservation district (SWCD), the local clearinghouse for wetland permit information.

Aphids, grain diseases are meeting topic

Aphids and small grain diseases will be topics for a meeting to be sponsored by the Pennington and Red Lake county extension services Thursday, June 17, at 9:30 a.m. in the new meeting room of the St. Hilaire Co-operative Elevator Association in St. Hilaire.

"Given current temperature and moisture conditions, the potential for small grain leaf disease has been increasing rapidly," states Howard Person, Pennington county extension educator. "Aphids have also been a problem for three out of the last four years, and while there has not been a problem yet this year, the potential for an aphid infestation exists."

Curt Nyegaard, Kittson county extension agent, and Dave Noetzel, extension entomologist, will review current control measures and research for small grain aphids at the St. Hilaire meeting. Roger Jones, extension plant pathologist, will present an overview of small grain disease identification and recent research findings.

"Once we have looked at current work in these areas, we will take those interested into surrounding fields to look for developing disease and insects," Person said.

"This is a critical control period for aphids right now and monitoring for small grain diseases also needs to begin soon—especially for those fields with minimum tillage and wheat straw and stubble from last year on the surface."

The meeting is open to the public and all persons interested are welcome to attend.

When Steve Soiney of Thief River Falls suffered a severe fall in early January, the wrenching of his neck broke a wire in an implanted battery-operated neurostimulating system. Surgical replacement several months later when the break was discovered on an x-ray has been a major contributor in his ability to live more comfortably with multiple sclerosis. Implant technicians said they had never seen a wire in the system break before.

Broken wire in stimulator was Soiney dilemma

by Marvin Lundin
Times Editor

For most people experience with a broken wire means a temporary inconvenience with an electrical appliance or automotive vehicle. For Steve Soiney it almost meant unnecessary surgery with unpredictable results.

Soiney has multiple sclerosis (MS) which affects a number of his biological functions. He learned about a neurostimulating system while attending an MS teleconference at Northwest Medical Center. In May of 1991 he had the device surgically implanted and found that it contributed greatly to bladder control as well as physical comfort.

"It worked so well I never really thought about it," Soiney said of the stimulator which includes a battery pack near his rib cage and wires leading to four contact points on his spine near the base of his neck. All of the device is implanted under his skin.

So little did Soiney think about the stimulator that when he suffered a fall on Jan. 5, 1993, it never occurred to him that the device may have been damaged. As a result, when he experienced bladder dysfunction following the fall, he attributed it to complications of the MS. After several months of self-catheterization, he was scheduled for bladder surgery.

Before the surgery took place, however, he was in the Twin Cities for a medical check-up and x-rays were taken of the stimulator. They clearly showed that the wire connecting the battery pack to the electrodes had been broken—apparently by the severity of the January 5 fall in which Soiney struck his head.

Workers at the Institute for Low Back Care told Steve that in the more than a dozen years that they have worked with the stimulator that they had never before encountered a broken wire, indicating the severity of the way his body twisted when he fell.

On April 2 he underwent surgery to remove the damaged wire and implant a new one. The voltage was increased from .60 volt to 1.30 volts, which is expected to decrease the battery life from over 10 years to about six and a half years.

Restoration of the stimulation system has eliminated the bladder problem that would have necessitated surgery and increased his comfort level to a large degree by eliminating his back pain.

"Actually the fall turned out to be a blessing in disguise," Soiney said. "Increasing the voltage when implanting the new stimulator has improved the bladder function far beyond what it was before I fell."

It has worked so well for him that he would like others who could benefit from such a device to know about it.

Dr. Alexander Lifson, assistant medical director at the Institute for Low Back Care in Minneapolis, says that the system which Soiney had implanted has been used in neurosurgery around the world with a variety of technical modifications for at least 15 years. It was initially introduced to relieve chronic, intractable pain in the lower or upper extremities in patients who had conditions which could not be cured by other means.

"This electronic device provides very well-controlled and regulated electrical stimulation to the spinal cord which is the natural conduit for pain impulses before they reach the cortex of the brain," Dr. Lifson said.

"The physiological basis behind pain relief with the use of this device is the fact that there are various types of fibers in the spinal cord which compete with each other. Stimulation of some of these fibers may provide inhibition of the function of others and will 'close the gate' for the pain impulses to reach the brain.

"Of course," he adds, "this device does not cure the condition which causes the pain. However, in many patients this device is very successful and effective in relieving chronic pain conditions. While testing this device on many patients with a variety of painful conditions, it was accidentally discovered that the use of the device in patients with multiple sclerosis relieved their pain and also relieved some of the other symptoms such as general fatigue, generalized pain and aching and bladder dysfunction.

"Unfortunately," Dr. Lifson wrote to Soiney, "not every patient with multiple sclerosis is as fortunate as you to have some of their symptoms relieved. Approximately 50 per cent of patients whose multiple sclerosis has not reached the final stage are very happy with this device and are able to lead a much more comfortable life."

Soiney said when he turns his head to the left he can feel a sensation in his arm that indicates the system is working. Had he known of that sort of personal test initially, he would have had an indication that his fall had damaged the unit and could have foregone the discomfort and inconvenience he experienced for several months.

"It is something that may not work for everyone, but I know it works for me," he said. "I would encourage anyone who has MS or symptoms similar to mine to check out the possibilities. It could provide a lot of relief."

Soiney said that if anyone who believes they could be helped by the stimulation device would like to ask him about it, he would be willing to discuss his experience. His home telephone number is 681-1169.

Forty-one complete Annual TRF Pepsi-Cola Triathlon

The 9th annual Thief River Falls Pepsi-Cola Triathlon was held Saturday with 41 teams and individuals completing the 500 yard swim, 12 mile bike and three mile run. The event was won by Mike Sweeney of Grand Forks in 58 minutes and 34 seconds. The woman's division was won for the second time in the last three years by Mikey Guzej of Winnipeg finishing in one hour, seven minutes and 14 seconds.

This year, the finish times were slower than in the past due to a strong south wind which worked to slow times on the bike leg. In winning the men's race Sweeney turned in the fastest split time in the run. Jim Sandor of Winnipeg had the fastest swim time and Randy Sauer of Grand Forks was fastest on the bike. Guzej had the women's fastest split times in both the bike and run. Prowler swimmer Theresa Giauge had the fastest women's swim time.

The fastest relay team was the winning men's team of Dave Hill, Fred Kollman and Glen Kajewski all of Thief River Falls with a time of 1:04.25. The mixed relay was also won by a Thief River Falls team. Team members included Mandy Sjaaheim, Nick Dee and Erica Jensen who completed the course in 1:26.35. The women's relay was won by the team of Giauque, Ann Joppru and Janelle Schaefer all of Thief River Falls in 1:31.04.

The race was sponsored by the Pepsi-Cola bottling company of Thief River Falls, Hugo's of Thief River Falls and the Falls Clinic, division of Dakota Clinic Ltd. Support services were supplied by the Thief River Falls Civil Air Patrol which permitted the race to be sanctioned by Triathlon Federation/USA the national governing body for the sport of triathlon. This sanctioning permitted a significant reducation in the liability insurance so that all entry fees went to benefit the Thief River Falls Swim Club.

Twins tryout camp slated June 21-22 at the Metrodome

Minnesota Twins' 33rd annual tryout camp will be held June 21-22 at the Metrodome in Minneapolis.

Registration begins at 8:30 a.m. June 21 outside of Gate H, with drills starting at 9 a.m. and continuing all day. At the end of the first day, select players are invited to return for a second day of intrasquad games.

Anyone eligible to sign a professional contract may register. However, players must be high school graduates who have not been previously drafted, and they must not fall under the restriction of the baseball college agreement.

Last year 255 players tried out and one was signed. Since tryouts started in 1961, three players signed at tryouts have made it to the major leagues – pitchers Charley Walters and Gary Serum and shortstop Jerry Terrell.
